On the surface, Samantha Cooper is an accomplished Financial Analyst with over 18 years of experience in financial markets. Samantha always ensures the viability of multi-million dollar financial portfolios long-term.

She's so efficient at her job that she considers herself a "financial portfolio whisperer." Samantha has the ability to take unhealthy portfolios and transform them into healthy and thriving ones. Because of her skills, Samantha can produce productive and long-lasting results for high-level clients.

She caters to major companies, non-profit organizations, and hospitals. She works well with senior corporate executives and can provide consultations for international corporations.

More than her role as a Financial Analyst, she is also effective at persuading and influencing high-ranking individuals. Her opinions are highly valued, people trust and respect her judgments. Samantha earned a degree in BS Political Science back in 1996. Through her course, she developed a passionate interest in the geopolitics of Southeast Asia.

In particular, she focused on topics like sustainable development, self-government, and political economy. After she graduated, Samantha worked hard to attain her role as a Financial Analyst for 12 years. Then she spent a year working at the Governor's Office of Management and Budget in Illinois.

Here, she managed bond deals worth billions of dollars while handling the quantitative analysis needs of the office too. Samantha also contributed to the development of policies and writing the legislative language in debt service structure and bond issuance areas.

For her most recent eight-year tenure as a Financial Analyst, Samantha had successfully nourished her insatiable passion. She did this by conducting research about the investments of emerging markets and international natural resources.

Samantha's fascination with the third-world comes from humanitarian issues as demonstrated by her two missions—to Central America and Honduras. Samantha plans to continue her education by applying to Public Policy Graduate School for 2019.

She wants to engage more with influential decision-makers and thought leaders in international public policy. She's open to challenges, conversations, and an exchange of ideas from the top players in the financial industry.

Her long-term goal is to become a national-level policy adviser. She wants to use her untiring commitment and drive to bring more dignity and autonomy to the citizens of developing countries. After getting a Graduate degree in Public Policy, she will start working towards this cause.

Samantha had a lot of significant professional experiences as a Financial Analyst. She created several tools to help her company evaluate operational requirements more accurately and improve the forecasting of finances. She also monitors and assesses the performance of sales groups, evaluates market conditions weekly, and examines revenue

The History Of Ideas A Biographical Introduction

Eugene Heath, Vincenzo Merolle

The History Of Ideas A Biographical Introduction:

Aldous Huxley Between East and West C. C. Barfoot, 2001 Although the title of this volume is Aldous Huxley between East and West the order of the articles found within goes from West to East which naturally imitates Huxley's own progress especially since he went to the trouble of stepping out as far West as possible before starting for the East Indeed one could argue that he was already on his way there before he left for California a continuous journey perhaps since from the Californian shores of the Pacific the East is the further West After the Introduction which places Huxley between East and West the book starts with a consideration of Huxley's family connections then goes onto his earliest fictions his interest in science and the issue of modernity and his experiments with drama and their inherent philosophical concerns The poetry with which he began his writing career is then viewed as a link between his earlier Western self and his later Oriental interests suggesting that the latter was always inherent in the former A number of considerations of the Utopian themes in Huxley's middle and later fiction leads the volume to a climax with four articles surveying the foibles and the wisdom of Huxley's encounter with Eastern religious thought and philosophy his misunderstandings as well as ours of what actually he had learned and wished to pass on to the Western world

Adam Ferguson: History, Progress and Human Nature Eugene Heath, Vincenzo Merolle, 2015-09-30 Unique among the leading figures of the Scottish Enlightenment Ferguson saw two eighteenth century revolutions the American and the French This monograph contains essays that range across all of Ferguson's works to investigate his engagement with contemporary events and his contributions to our understanding of history and human action

Writing Biography Lloyd E. Ambrosius, 2004-01-01 The historian as biographer must resolve questions that reflect the dual challenge of telling history and telling lives How does the biographer sort out the individual's role within the larger historical context How do biographical studies relate to other forms of history Should historians use different approaches to biography depending on the cultures of their subjects What are the appropriate primary sources and techniques that scholars should use in writing biographies in their respective fields In Writing Biography six prominent historians address these issues and reflect on their varied experiences and divergent perspectives as biographers Shirley A Leckie examines the psychological and personal connections between biographer and subject R Keith Schoppa considers the pervasive effect of culture on the recognition of individuality and the presentation of a life Retha M Warnicke explores past context and modern cultural biases in writing the biographies of Tudor women John Milton Cooper Jr discusses the challenges of writing modern biographies and the interplay of the biographer's own experiences Nell Irvin Painter looks at the process of reconstructing a life when written documents are scant and Robert J Richards investigates the intimate relationship between life experiences and new ideas Despite their broad range of perspectives all six scholars agree on two central points biography and historical analysis are inextricably linked and biographical studies offer an important tool for analyzing historical questions
