focuses on four major themes of underdevelopment which have particular relevance for gender roles and relations the household production reproduction and policy These issues are illustrated with material from rural and urban areas in all parts of the Third World The book summarizes significant ideas and findings Lynne Brydon and Sylvia Chang have avoided a narrow focus on particular regions and countries to provide a synoptic overview In addition to being a valuable source of reference for scholars interested in gender and development in the Third World the book also attempts to pinpoint fundamental aspects of gender inequality which apply to women everywhere The overriding conclusion of the book is that women s experiences of development are generally negative and that intervention is urgently required to prevent their positions relative to men s deteriorating still further

Movement Media Rachel Kuo, Assistant Professor of Gender and Women's Studies and Asian American Studies Rachel Kuo, 2025-10-09 In Movement Media Rachel Kuo assesses the possibilities and limitations of crafting solidarities through media making processes and communication practices Drawing on interviews archival research and ethnographic fieldwork Kuo revisits key social movements to assess the mundane and less visible forms of movement building that help various groups navigate the politics of difference in theory and in practice Kuo situates these movements alongside shifts in technological developments and the communication landscape making the case that building and sustaining solidarity requires time and work to develop shared political analysis and practices

Space, Place, and Violence James A. Tyner, 2012-05-02 Direct interpersonal violence is a pervasive yet often mundane feature of our day to day lives paradoxically violence is both ordinary and extraordinary Violence in other words is often hidden in plain sight Space Place and Violence seeks to uncover that which is too apparent to critically question both violent geographies and the geographies of violence With a focus on direct violence this book situates violent acts within the context of broader political and structural conditions Violence it is argued is both a social and spatial practice Adopting a geographic perspective Space Place and Violence provides a critical reading of how violence takes place and also produces place Specifically four spatial vignettes home school streets and community are introduced designed so that students may think critically how race sex gender and class inform violent geographies and geographies of violence
