African Kings and Black Slaves Herman L. Bennett, 2018-09-10 A thought provoking reappraisal of the first European encounters with Africa As early as 1441 and well before other European countries encountered Africa small Portuguese and Spanish trading vessels were plying the coast of West Africa where they conducted business with African kingdoms that possessed significant territory and power In the process Iberians developed an understanding of Africa's political landscape in which they recognized specific sovereigns plotted the extent and nature of their polities and grouped subjects according to their ruler In African Kings and Black Slaves Herman L Bennett mines the historical archives of Europe and Africa to reinterpret the first century of sustained African European interaction These encounters were not simple economic transactions Rather according to Bennett they involved clashing understandings of diplomacy sovereignty and politics Bennett unearths the ways in which Africa's kings required Iberian traders to participate in elaborate diplomatic rituals establish treaties and negotiate trade practices with autonomous territories And he shows how Iberians based their interpretations of African sovereignty on medieval European political precepts grounded in Roman civil and canon law In the eyes of Iberians the extent to which Africa's polities conformed to these norms played a significant role in determining who was and who was not a sovereign people a judgment that shaped who could legitimately be enslaved Through an examination of early modern African European encounters African Kings and Black Slaves offers a reappraisal of the dominant depiction of these exchanges as being solely mediated through the slave trade and racial difference By asking in what manner did Europeans and Africans configure sovereignty polities and subject status Bennett offers a new depiction of the diasporic identities that had implications for slaves' experiences in the Americas Encyclopedia of African Literature Simon Gikandi, 2003-09-02 The most comprehensive reference work on African literature to date this book contains over 600 entries that cover criticism and theory its development as a field of scholarship and studies of established and lesser known writers

Men in African Film & Fiction Lahoucine Ouzgane,2011 Fills a gap in the international literature by offering new insights into the heterogeneous ways in which African men are performing negotiating and experiencing masculinity Through their analysis of the depictions in film and literature of masculinities in colonial independent and post independent Africa the contributors open some key African texts to a more obviously politicized set of meanings Collectively the essays provide space for rethinking current theory on gender and masculinity how only some of the most popular theories in masculinity studies in the West hold true in African contexts howWestern masculinities react with indigenous masculinities on the continent how masculinity and femininity in Africa seem to reside more on a continuum of cultural practices than on absolutely opposite planes andhow generation often functions as a more potent metaphor than gender Lahoucine Ouzgane is Associate Professor of English Film Studies University of Alberta Canada

Lawrance,2018-09-10 This rich volume will interest scholars and students of Africa the African diaspora world history legal history and international affairs Lorelle Semley author of To Be Free and French Citizenship in France s Atlantic Empire The enforced removal of individuals has long been a political tool used by African states to create generations of asylum seekers refugees and fugitives Historians often present such political exile as a potentially transformative experience for resilient individuals but this reading singles the exile out as having an exceptional experience This collection seeks to broaden that understanding within the global political landscape by considering the complexity of the experience of exile and the lasting effects it has had on African peoples The works collected in this volume seek to recover the diversity of exile experiences across the continent This corpus of testimonials and documents is presented as an archive that provides evidence of a larger shared experience of persecution and violence This consideration reads exiles from African colonies and nations as active participants within rather than simply as victims of the larger global diaspora In this way exile is understood as a way of asserting political dissidence and anti imperial strategies Broken into three distinct parts the volume considers legal issues geography as a strategy of anticolonial resistance and memory and performative understandings of exile The experiences of political exile are presented as fundamental to an understanding of colonial and postcolonial oppression and the history of state power in Africa Postcolonial Thought in the French Speaking World

Charles Forsdick, David Murphy, 2022-04-01 In the late 1990 s Postcolonial Studies risked imploding as a credible area of academic enquiry Repeated anthologization and an overemphasis on the English language literatures led to sustained critiques of the field and to an active search for alternative approaches to the globalized and transnational formations of the post colonial world In the early twenty first century however postcolonial began to reveal a new openness to its comparative dimensions French language contributors to postcolonial debate such as Edouard Glissant and Abdelkebir Khatibi have recently risen to greater prominence in the English speaking world and there have also appeared an increasing number of important critical and theoretical texts on postcolonial issues written by scholars working principally on French language material It is to such a context that this book responds Acknowledging these shifts this volume provides an essential tool for students and scholars outside French departments seeking a way into the study of Francophone colonial postcolonial debates At the same time it supplies scholars in French with a comprehensive overview of essential ideas and key intellectuals in this area African Novels in the Classroom Margaret Jean Hay, 2000 Many teachers of African studies have found novels to be effective assignments in courses In this guide teachers describe their favourite African novels drawn from all over the continent and share their experiences of using them in the classroom
