The Confession Of Augustine Meridian Stanford Calif:

The Confession of Augustine Jean-François Lyotard, 2000 Lyotard approaches his subject by returning to his earliest phenomenological training rearticulating Augustine's sensory universe from a vantage point imaginarily inside the confessor's world a vantage point that reveals the intense point of conjuncture between the sensual and the spiritual the erotic world and the mystical being and appearance sin and salvation Lyotard reveals the very origins of phenomenology in Augustine's narrative and in so doing also shows the origins of semiotics to lie there in the explication of the Augustinian heavens as skin as veil as vellum With the World at Heart Thomas A. Carlson, 2019-05-01 What is the role of love in opening and sustaining the temporal worlds we inhabit One of the leading scholars in philosophy and the history of religious thought

Thomas A Carlson here traces this question through Christian theology twentieth century phenomenological and deconstructive philosophy and nineteenth century individualism Revising Augustine's insight that when we love a place we dwell there in the heart Carlson also pointedly resists lines of thought that seek to transcend loss and its grief by loving all things within the realm of the eternal Through masterful readings of Heidegger Derrida Marion Nancy Emerson and Nietzsche Carlson shows that the fragility and sorrow of mortal existence in its transience do not in fact contradict love but instead empower love to create a world Magical Thinking Stuart McWilliams, 2011-12-08 How do we write about magic

Responding to a renewed interest in the history of the occult this volume examines the role of magic in a series of methodological controversies in the humanities In case studies ranging from the necromancy of historiography to the strident rationalism of the New Atheism Magical Thinking sets out the surprising ways in which scholars and critics have imagined the occult The volume argues that thinking and writing about magic has engendered multiple epistemological crises profoundly unsettling the understanding of history and knowledge in Western culture By examining how scholarly writing has contended and conspired with discourses of enchantment the book reveals the implications of magic and its scholarship for intellectual history The Routledge Handbook of Shakespeare and Memory Andrew Hiscock, Lina Perkins

Wilder, 2017-08-09 The Routledge Handbook of Shakespeare and Memory introduces this vibrant field of study to students and scholars whilst defining and extending critical debates in the area The book begins with a series of Critical Introductions offering an overview of memory in particular areas of Shakespeare such as theatre print culture visual arts post colonial adaptation and new media These essays both introduce the topic but also explore specific areas such as the way in which Shakespeare's representation in the visual arts created a national and then a global poet The entries then develop into more specific studies of the genre of Shakespeare with sections on Tragedy History Comedy and Poetry which include insightful readings of specific key plays The book ends with a state of the art review of the area charting major contributions to the debate and illuminating areas for further study The international range of contributors explore the nature of memory in religious political emotional and economic terms which are not only relevant to Shakespearean times but to the way we think and read now Demonic Desires Ishay Rosen-Zvi, 2011-11-29 In Demonic Desires Ishay Rosen Zvi examines the concept of yetzer hara or evil inclination and its evolution in biblical and rabbinic literature. Contrary to existing scholarship which reads the term under the rubric of destructive sexual desire, Rosen Zvi contends that in late antiquity the yetzer represents a general tendency toward evil. Rather than the lower bodily part of a human, the rabbinic yetzer is a wicked, sophisticated inciter attempting to snare humans to sin. The rabbinic yetzer should therefore not be read in the tradition of the Hellenistic quest for control over the lower parts of the psyche, writes Rosen Zvi, but rather in the tradition of ancient Jewish and Christian demonology. Rosen Zvi conducts a systematic and comprehensive analysis of the some one hundred and fifty appearances of the evil yetzer in classical rabbinic literature to explore the biblical and postbiblical search for the sources of human sinfulness. By examining the yetzer within a specific demonological tradition, Demonic Desires places the yetzer discourse in the larger context of a move toward psychologization in late antiquity in which evil and even demons became internalized within the human psyche. The book discusses various manifestations of this move in patristic and monastic material from Clement and Origen to Antony, Athanasius, and Evagrius. It concludes with a consideration of the broader implications of the yetzer discourse in rabbinic anthropology.

The Fragment Camelia Elias, 2004 This monograph is an interdisciplinary study of the concept of fragment in literature and in critical and literary theory. It discusses the fragment's performativity and function within a historical perspective stretching from Heraclitus via the German Romantics and European writers of the Modernist period to American postmodern manifestations of the fragment. This is the first history of the fragment to appear in English and it is also the first attempt at producing a consistent taxonomy of literary and critical fragments. The fragments are categorised according to function, not author intention, and the study addresses a number of questions: What constitutes the fragment when the fragment can only be defined a posteriori? Does the fragment begin on its own or is it begun by others, writers and critics? Does it acquire a name of its own or is it labelled by others? All these questions revolve around issues of agency and they are best discussed in terms of performativity, which means seeing fragments as acts, acts of literature, acts of reading, acts of writing. The book demonstrates how a poetics of the fragment as a performative genre can be created, situating the fragment both as literature and as a phenomenon within postmodern criticism against the background of philosophy, art history, and theology.

Homo Temporalis Nitzan Itzhak Lebovic, 2025-01-15 Homo Temporalis focuses on the importance of temporal concepts for four German Jewish thinkers who profoundly shaped twentieth-century intellectual history: Martin Buber, Walter Benjamin, Hannah Arendt, and Paul Celan. By analyzing the concept of time, Nitzan Lebovic explores Buber's stress on the temporality of the dialogue between I and Thou, Benjamin's now-time and dialectics in standstill, Arendt's understanding of democracy as natality or a permanent revolution, and the breathturn that informs Celan's poetry. Framing the reception of German Jewish thinking in the second half of the twentieth century as a parallel story to the rise of the modern humanities, Homo Temporalis also highlights how these foundational temporal concepts illuminate the causes of the present crisis in the humanities and its disciplinary limitations in the age of biopolitics and the Anthropocene

Rethinking Philosophy and Theology with Deleuze Brent Adkins, Paul R. Hinlicky, 2013-04-11 The debate between faith and reason has been a dominant feature of Western thought for more than two millennia This book takes up the problem of the relation between philosophy and theology and proposes that this relation can be reconceived if both philosophy and theology are seen as different ways of organising affects Brent Adkins and Paul R Hinlicky break new ground in this timely debate in two ways Firstly they lay bare the contemporary dependence on Kant and propose that our Kantian inheritance leaves us with an insuperable dualism Secondly the authors argue that the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze provides a way of resolving the debate between faith and reason that does justice to philosophy and theology by reconceiving of both as assemblages Deleuze's philosophy differentiates domains of thought in terms of what they create This seems like a particularly fruitful way to pursue the problem of the relations among philosophy and theology because it allows their distinction without at the same time placing them in opposition to one another

Dostoevsky's Incarnational Realism Paul J. Contino, 2020-08-17 In this book Paul Contino offers a theological study of Dostoevsky's final novel The Brothers Karamazov He argues that incarnational realism animates the vision of the novel and the decisions and actions of its hero Alyosha Fyodorovich Karamazov The book takes a close look at Alyosha's mentor the Elder Zosima and the way his role as a confessor and his vision of responsibility to all for all develops and influences Alyosha The remainder of the study which serves as a kind of reader's guide to the novel follows Alyosha as he takes up the mantle of his elder develops as a monk in the world and at the end of three days ascends in his vision of Cana The study attends also to Alyosha's brothers and his ministry to them Mitya's struggle to become a new man and Ivan's anguished groping toward responsibility Finally Contino traces Alyosha's generative role with the young people he encounters and his final message of hope

The Seeds of Things Jonathan Goldberg, 2009-08-25 The title of this book translates one of the many ways in which Lucretius names the basic matter from which the world is made in De rerum natura In Lucretius and in the strain of thought followed in this study matter is always in motion always differing from itself and yet always also made of the same stuff From the pious Lucy Hutchinson's all but complete translation of the Roman epic poem to Margaret Cavendish's repudiation of atomism but not of its fundamental problematic of sameness and difference a central concern of this book is how a thoroughgoing materialism can be read alongside other strains in the thought of the early modern period particularly Christianity A chapter moves from Milton's monism to his angels and their insistent corporeality Milton's angels have sex and throughout this study emphasizes the consequences for thinking about sexuality offered by Lucretian materialism Sameness of matter is not simply a question of same sex sex and the relations of atoms in Cavendish and Hutchinson are replicated in the terms in which they imagine marriages of partners who are also their doubles Likewise Spenser's knights in the 1590 Faerie Queene pursue the virtues of Holiness Temperance and Chastity in quests that take the reader on a path of ascesis of the kind that Lucretius recommends and that Foucault studied in the final volumes of his history of sexuality Although English literature is the book's main concern it first contemplates relations between Lucretian matter and Pauline flesh by way of Tintoretto's painting The Conversion of St Paul Theoretical issues raised in the work of Agamben and Badiou among others lead to a chapter that takes up the role that Lucretius has played in theory from Bergson and Marx to Foucault and Deleuze This study should be of concern to students of religion philosophy gender and sexuality especially as they impinge on questions of representation

American Book Publishing Record ,2000-07 Lyotard, Beckett, Duras, and the Postmodern Sublime Andrew Slade,2007 Original Scholarly Monograph Gluttony : The Seven Deadly Sins Francine Prose,2003-09-11 In America notes acclaimed novelist Francine Prose we are obsessed with food and diet And what is this obsession with food except a struggle between sin and virtue overeating and self control a struggle with the fierce temptations of gluttony In Gluttony Francine Prose serves up a marvelous banquet of witty and engaging observations on this most delicious of deadly sins She traces how our notions of gluttony have evolved along with our ideas about salvation and damnation health and illness life and death Offering a lively smorgasbord that ranges from Augustine's Confessions and Chaucer's Pardoner's Tale to Petronius's Satyricon and Dante's Inferno she shows that gluttony was in medieval times a deeply spiritual matter but today we have transformed gluttony from a sin into an illness it is the horrors of cholesterol and the perils of red meat that we demonize Indeed the modern take on gluttony is that we overeat out of compulsion self destructiveness or to avoid intimacy and social contact But gluttony Prose reminds us is also an affirmation of pleasure and of passion She ends the book with a discussion of M F K Fisher's idiosyncratic defense of one of the great heroes of gluttony Diamond Jim Brady whose stomach was six times normal size The broad shiny face of the glutton Prose writes has been and continues to be the mirror in which we see ourselves our hopes and fears our darkest dreams and deepest desires Never have we delved more deeply into this mirror than in this insightful and stimulating book Finite Media Sean Cubitt,2016-12-08 While digital media give us the ability to communicate with and know the world their use comes at the expense of an immense ecological footprint and environmental degradation In Finite Media Sean Cubitt offers a large scale rethinking of theories of mediation by examining the environmental and human toll exacted by mining and the manufacture use and disposal of millions of phones computers and other devices The way out is through an eco political media aesthetics in which people use media to shift their relationship to the environment and where public goods and spaces are available to all Cubitt demonstrates this through case studies ranging from the 1906 film The Story of the Kelly Gang to an image of Saturn taken during NASA's Cassini Huygens mission suggesting that affective responses to images may generate a populist environmental politics that demands better ways of living and being Only by reorienting our use of media Cubitt contends can we overcome the failures of political elites and the ravages of capital Heidegger and His Jewish Reception Daniel M. Herskowitz,2020-10-08 Examines the rich and persistent Jewish engagement with one of the most important and controversial modern philosophers Martin Heidegger

Modern Religion, Modern Race Theodore Vial, 2016-06-16 Religion is a racialized category even when race is not explicitly mentioned In Modern Religion Modern Race Theodore Vial argues that because the categories of religion and race are rooted in the post Enlightenment project of reimagining what it means to be human we cannot simply will ourselves to stop using them Only by acknowledging that religion is already racialized can we begin to understand how the two concepts are intertwined and how they operate in our modern world It has become common to argue that the category religion is not universal or even very old but is a product of Europe s Enlightenment modernization Equally common is the argument that religion is not an innocent category of analysis but is implicated in colonial regimes of control and as such plays a role in Europe s process of identity construction of itself and of non European others Current debates about race follow an eerily similar trajectory race is not an ancient but a modern construction It is part of the project of colonialism and race discourse forms one of the cornerstones of modern European identity making Why can t we stop using them or re construct them in less toxic ways By examining the theories of Kant Herder and Schleiermacher among others Vial uncovers co constitutive nature of race and religion describes how they became building blocks of the modern world and shows how the two concepts continue to be used today to form identity and to make sense of the world He shows that while we disdain the racist language of some of the founders of religious studies the continued influence of the modern worldview they helped create leads us often unwittingly to reiterate many of the same distinctions and hierarchies Although it may not be time to abandon the very category of religion with all its attendant baggage Modern Religion Modern Race calls for us to examine that baggage critically and to be fully conscious of the ways in which religion always carries with it dangerous ideas of race Books in Print ,1962

Beloved Community Paul R. Hinlicky, 2015-05-01 In this scholarly work Paul Hinlicky transcends the impasse between dogmatic and systematic theology as he presents an original comprehensive system of theology especially apropos to the post Christendom North American context Deploying an unusual Spirit Son Father trinitarian scheme Hinlicky carefully develops his system of theology through expansive wide ranging argumentation He engages with other theologians throughout the book and concludes each major section by discussing an alternate perspective on the subject The Incarnate Text James Kearney, 2009-07-15 James Kearney engages with recent work in the history of the book and the history of religion to investigate the crisis of the book occasioned by the Reformation s simultaneous faith in text and distrust of material forms The Dismembered Community Milo Sweedler, 2009 This book examines the intersecting communitarian endeavors of Georges Bataille Maurice Blanchot Michel Leiris and Colette Peignot known post humously as Laure Through detailed analysis of a series of interlocking texts that the four authors wrote on for and to one another on such topics as love friendship and fraternity it explores these authors theoretical elaborations of community their actual communities and the relation between the two
