The Description And Classification Of Vegetation:

The Description and Classification of Vegetation David W. Shimwell, 1971 The Description and Classification of Vegetation David W. Shimwell, 1971 Vegetation of inland waters Jean-Jacques Symoens, Reinhold Tüxen,

Origins of Biogeography Malte Christian Ebach, 2015-07-03 This book presents a revised history of early biogeography and investigates the split in taxonomic practice between the classification of taxa and the classification of vegetation. It moves beyond the traditional belief that biogeography is born from a synthesis of Darwin and Wallace and focuses on the important pioneering work of earlier practitioners such as Zimmermann, Stromeier, de Candolle and Humboldt. Tracing the academic history of biogeography over the decades and centuries, this book recounts the early schisms in phyto and zoogeography, the shedding of its bonds to taxonomy, its adoption of an ecological framework and its beginnings at the dawn of the 20th century. This book assesses the contributions of key figures such as Zimmermann, Humboldt and Wallace and reminds us of the forgotten influence of plant and animal geographers including Stromeier, Prichard and de Candolle whose early attempts at classifying animal and plant geography would inform later progress. The Origins of Biogeography is a science historiography aimed at biogeographers who have little access to a detailed history of the practices of early plant and animal geographers. This book will also reveal how biological classification has shaped 18th and 19th century plant and animal geography and why it is relevant to the 21st biogeographer.

Ecosystem Classification for Environmental Management Frans Klijn, 2013-03-09 When Lovelock published his Gaia it was for many people quite a relief. We would not be able to destroy life on earth. Lovelock illustrated this argument with a wealth of mechanistic feedback processes as we know them to occur in ecosystems. These feedback processes would somehow lead the earth as a whole into a new equilibrium. An equilibrium with life within it in an entirely changed environment. This is indeed let us be earnest a functioning ecosystem. But what kind of ecosystem? The Gaia hypothesis triggered a great deal of thought and discussion about what we actually require as an environment. Biodiversity as an abbreviation of biotic diversity has since become the focal point of societal concern. But again when we think about it we are not only interested in the sheer number of species on earth. We also have other interests nearby in our backyards in the surrounding countryside and on the various locations where we would like to spend our holidays. We also want to preserve rare or characteristic species just for their own sake. In fact we want species in viable populations to be part of communities that are self-maintaining in environments where they belong. We know we cannot ask for this without protecting their environment which is also our environment. This is where the next fashionable term emerges: sustainability.
