The Short Story Andrew Kahn,2021-12-09 What defines a modern short story is much more than a question of length Despite the efforts of early pioneers like Edgar Allan Poe the genre was originally synonymous with the anecdote or tale and seen more as entertainment than art However it has become far more than that and this Very Short Introduction considers afresh the form's ongoing innovations in plot construction capacity for psychological insight and ability to offer intensely concentrated perceptions This book charts the rise of the short story from its original appearance in magazines and newspapers largely in the United States and Great Britain For much of the nineteenth century tales were written for the press and the form's history is marked by engagement with popular fiction From the later nineteenth century the short story earned a reputation for its skillful use of plot design and character study distinct from the novel After the First World War it found outlets in high brow publications and single author collections as well as anthologies were regularly published Exploring the form's techniques and themes Andrew Kahn considers the continuity and variation in key structures and techniques such as the beginning the creation of voice the ironic turn or plot twist and how writers manage endings Throughout he draws on examples from an international and flourishing corpus of work with close analysis of classic and lesser known stories by American Canadian Irish Australian Russian and French masters such as James Baldwin Grace Paley Alice Munro Elizabeth Taylor William Trevor Helen Garner Chekhov and Guy de Maupassant

Seven Modes of Uncertainty C. Namwali Serpell,2014-04-30 Literature is uncertain Literature is good for us These two ideas are often taken for granted But what is the relationship between literature's capacity to perplex and its ethical value. Seven Modes of Uncertainty contends that literary uncertainty is crucial to ethics because it pushes us beyond the limits of our experience. Sicily Andrew Edwards, Suzanne Edwards, 2014-03-27 Rising up from the heart of the Mediterranean Sicily has a rich and ancient history spanning over 2 000 years. A bounty prized by invaders from the Greeks, Romans and Vandals to the Byzantines, Arabs and Normans, Sicily's violently beautiful landscapes are haunted by a vibrant mix of cultures and her soil has always been fertile ground for the literary and artistic imagination. This compelling guide uncovers the island's multi-faceted personality through those literary figures who have managed to get under her skin from Pindar, Cicero and Aeschylus to Shakespeare and Cervantes, DH Lawrence, Coleridge and Oscar Wilde to Truman Capote, Tennessee Williams, Ezra Pound and Lawrence Durrell as well as local writers who have defined the modern Italian novel: Giuseppe Tomasi di Lampedusa and Leonardo Sciascia. Through their words and lives we witness the beauty, pain and power of the Sicilian cultural landscape and discover how the potent mix of influences on the island's society has been preserved forever in literature. An Ornament to His Profession Charles L. Harness, 2015-07-30 This collection contains stories covering Harness' repertoire from alternate history SF about the legal profession and lyrical and witty stories of science and the arts. Animals and Desire in South African Fiction Jason D. Price, 2017-07-15 This book considers the political potential of affective experiences of desire as reflected in contemporary South African literature. Jason Price argues that definitions of desire deployed by capitalist and colonial culture maintain social inequality by managing relations to ensure a steady flow of capital and pleasure for the dominant classes, whereas affective encounters with animals reveal the nonhuman nature of desire: a biopower that in its unpredictability can frustrate regimes of management and control. Price wonders how animals' different desires might enable new modes of thought to positively transform and resist the status quo. This book contends that South African literary works employ nonhuman desire and certain indigenous notions of desire to imagine a South Africa that can be markedly different from the past. The Devil You Know Gwen Adshead, Eileen Horne, 2022-08-23 Serial homicide, Stalking, Arson, Gang crime. Who are the people behind these acts of terrible violence? What are their stories? And what is it like to sit opposite them? Dr Gwen Adshead is one of Britain's leading forensic psychiatrists and she has spent thirty years providing therapy inside secure hospitals and prisons. Whatever her patient's crime, she aims to help them to better know their minds by helping them to articulate their life experience. This book contains fascinating, unflinching portraits of individuals whose newspaper headlines, TV dramas and crime fiction label them monsters. Case by case, Adshead takes us into the treatment room and reveals these men and women in all their complexity and vulnerability. She sheds new light on the unpredictable nature of the therapeutic process as doctor and patient try to find words for the unspeakable. These are stories of cruelty and despair but also of change and recovery. In a time of increasing polarisation, in the face of overcrowded prisons and devastating cuts to mental health care, Adshead speaks to our shared humanity and makes the case for compassion over condemnation, empathy over

Youngman, 2005-11 Using Theodor Adorno and Max Horkheimer's seminal work on the dialectical nature of the Enlightenment as a framework Youngman makes the original claim that realist authors are a particularly rich source in which to study the intersection of technology and mythology      Hawthorne's View of the Artist Millicent Bell, 1962-06-30 The Hawthorne depicted by Professor Bell in these pages will be as much of a surprise to many readers as is his appearance in the rare 1847 daguerreotype reproduced on the book jacket This virtually unknown portrait says the author corresponds with Samuel Goodrich's description in 1856 of the New England writer his hair dark and bushy his eye steel gray his brow thick his mouth sarcastic his whole aspect cold moody distrustful At this period he had tried his hand in literature and considered himself to have met with a fatal rebuff from the reading world pp 92-93 His sensitiveness to the predicament of the artist in early nineteenth century America when the rush for power money and social prestige relegated creative talent to the dustbin filled Hawthorne's writings with penetrating statements about the artist's fate in the new scientific industrial world statements still applicable today      Anthony Burgess and America Christopher W Thurley, 2025-03-25 Anthony Burgess and America is a biographical and critical analysis of Burgess's commentary on and relationship with the United States of America Utilising Burgess's entire canon and newly discovered materials to assess Burgess's views on America this book also evaluates the American inspirations in five Burgess novels This essential addition to Burgess scholarship tells the story of a nearly unexplored area of Burgess's life For the first time ever Burgess's American experiences work and documented communication lectures interviews and public utterances are brought together to assess where these commentaries overlapped with his fiction The result is a complex personal and public history about one of Britain's greatest twentieth century authors and their immersion into and interaction with American culture in the second half of the twentieth century      The Cumulative Book Index, 1990 A world list of books in the English language      A Place in the Sun Catherine Davies, 1997 A Place in the Sun examines the work of Cuban women writers in the 20th century Catherine Davies explores how Cuban women's literature has contributed to constructions of a collective identity
