Space and Time in Language and Literature Lovorka Gruić Grmuša, Marija Brala Vukanović, 2009-10-02 Space and time their infiniteness and or their limit ation s their coding conceptualization and the relationship between the two have been intriguing people for millennia Linguistics and literature are no exceptions in this sense This book brings together eight essays which all deal with the expression of space and or time in language and or literature The book explores the issues of space time and their interrelation from two different perspectives the linguistic and the literary The first section Time and Space in Language contains four papers which focus on linguistics i e explore issues relative to the expression of time and space in natural languages The topics under consideration include typology regarding the expression of spatial information in languages around the world Ch 1 space as expressed and conceptualized in neutral postural and verbs of fictive motion Ch 2 prepositional semantics Ch 3 aspectuality in Tamil Ch 4 All articles propose innovative topics and or approaches crossreferring when possible between space and time Given that all seem to propose at least some elements of language universality vs language variability the strong cognitivist nature of the approach even when the paper is not written within a cognitive linguistic framework represents a particularly strong feature of the section with a strong appeal to experts from fields that need not necessarily be linguistic The second section of this volume Space and Time in Literature brings together four essays dealing with literary topics Inherent in each narrative are both temporal and spatial implications because a literary text testifies of a certain time it is from and about a certain period as well as about a certain space even if virtual A particularly strong feature of these papers is that they envision space and time as complementary parameters of experience and not as conceptual opposites following the transfer of perspective through the whole century Departing from the late nineteenth century England s and Croatia s fictive spaces Ch 5 the topic moves via the American Southern Gothic focusing on Faulkner from the thirties to the early sixties Ch 6 via the post WWII perspectives on history probing the postmodern context of temporality Ch 7 to finally reach the contemporary era of post 9 11 space time Ch 8 The voyage from chapter five to eight is thus a journey through space and time that allows for some answers to the nature of reality of a variety of space times as conceived by both the authors of these essays as well as by the authors that these essays discuss The main goal of the editors has been to bring together different scientific traditions which can contribute complementary concerns and methodologies to the issues under exam from the literary and descriptive via the diachronic and typological explorations all the way to cognitive linguistic analyses bordering psycholinguistics and neuroscience One of the strengths of this volume thus lies in the diversity of perspectives articulated within it where the agreements but also the controversies and divergences demonstrate constant changes in society which in turn shapes our views of space time reality All this also suggests that science and literature are not above or apart from their culture but embedded within it and that there exists a strong relativistic interrelation between spatio temporal reality and culture The only hope to objectively envisage any if not all of the above is by learning how to move our thought through space time or to put it in simpler terms how to shift perspectives
