from a number of disciplines and sub fields such as sociolinguistics socio political history and language policy making this book of great interest to historians sociologists political scientists and anthropologists interested in Central and Eastern Europe and Slavic Studies      Christian Nationalism, Nation-Building, and the Making of the Holocaust in Slovakia Hana Kubátová, 2025-02-10 Previous scholarship on fascism in Slovakia has focused on either state actors operating from urban centres or the mechanisms of violence on a grassroots level with the result being that the Holocaust is seen as primarily a top down and state centred process In contrast Hana Kubátová reveals here a dynamic and unexplored centre periphery relationship and how violence against the Jewish population unfolded in both cities and the countryside and on both national and local levels As an integral component of broader nation building efforts the authority of the fascist regime and the newly founded Slovak state hinged not only on appeasing Hitler but also on civilian populations of the nation's heterogeneous eastern borderlands especially local elites such as priests and teachers as well as the rural masses The book explores how this relationship was forged how it was maintained and how ultimately Christian nationalism operated as a political strategy that brought differently positioned actors together to broker deals over resources and power accrued through the co enactment of genocide by a broad coalition of perpetrators on the ground In so doing this little known chapter of Holocaust history offers a new way to understand the dynamics and escalations of mass violence and how collaborations between elite and popular groups can pave the way for ethnic cleansing across different territories and even times

Endangered Languages Sarah G. Thomason, 2015-04-23 Most of the 7 000 languages spoken in the world today will vanish before the end of this century taking with them cultural traditions from all over the world as well as linguistic structures that would have improved our understanding of the universality and variability of human language This book is an accessible introduction to the topic of language endangerment answering questions such as what is it How and why does it happen Why should we care The book outlines the various causes of language endangerment explaining what makes a language safe and highlighting the danger signs that threaten a minority language Readers will learn about the consequences of losing a language both for its former speech community and for our understanding of human language Illustrated with case studies it describes the various methods of documenting endangered languages and shows how they can be revitalised      Small and Large Slavic Languages in Contact Roland Marti, Jiří Nekvapil, 2007      Home and the World

in Slovak Writing Katarina Gephardt, Charles Sabatos, Ivana Taranenková, 2025-03-04 Literatures of small nations represent a minuscule portion of the global literary marketplace where books written in English outnumber translated works The struggle for visibility in relation to dominant languages and cultures is not new in Slovakia a nation of five million whose literary history has been shaped by the influence of more widely spoken languages including Hungarian Czech and Russian Home and the World in Slovak Writing brings Slovak literature out of this isolation to tell the story of how a nation's literature can survive and thrive despite a small domestic audience and relatively limited circulation in English translation

The book demonstrates how historic events such as the post Stalin Thaw the Prague Spring and the Velvet Revolution moulded the Slovak canon and situates contemporary Slovak literature in broader regional and global contexts Through case studies of the transformations and adaptations of Slovak literature contributors examine the changing social roles of writers the tensions between tradition and innovation and the dynamic interactions between influences from the outside world and domestic sources of inspiration Home and the World in Slovak Writing maps the relationship between geopolitical destiny and literary production at a critical moment As relations between the East and the West are destabilized by war the question of cultural identity has again become a matter of national survival in Central Europe Slovakia Pascal Belda,2008-02

Romani Studies Jan Ort focuses his anthropological research on a village in eastern Slovakia with a reputation for the harmonious coexistence of its ethnically and linguistically heterogeneous populace The author offers an ethnographic critique of this idyllic view showing how historical shifts as well as the naturalization of inequality and hierarchies have led to the present situation however he also shows examples and methods of subversion and resistance to the village s current power dynamics Based primarily on participant observation within Romani families the author s long term research results in a fascinating text replete with ethnographic descriptions that allow readers to understand local experiences contexts and divisions These insights about the village lead to the key question of the book Who actually is a local Straddling Borders

Elaine Rusinko,2003-01-01 The Subcarpathian Rusyns are an east Slavic people who live along the southern slopes of the Carpathian mountains where the borders of Ukraine Slovakia and Poland meet Through centuries of oppression under the Austro Hungarian and Soviet empires they have struggled to preserve their culture and identity Rusyn literature reflecting various national influences and written in several linguistic variants has historically been a response to social conditions an affirmation of identity and a strategy to ensure national survival In this first English language study of Rusyn literature Elaine Rusinko looks at the literary history of Subcarpathia from the perspective of cultural studies and postcolonial theory presenting Rusyn literature as a process of continual negotiation among states religions and languages resulting in a characteristic hybridity that has made it difficult to classify Rusyn literature in traditional literary scholarship Rusinko traces Rusyn literature from its emergence in the sixteenth century through the national awakening of the mid nineteenth century and its struggle for survival under Hungarian oppression to its renaissance in inter war Czechoslovakia She argues that Rusyn literature provides an acute illustration of the constructedness of national identity and has prefigured international postmodern culture with its emphasis on border crossings intersecting influences and liminal spaces With extracts from Rusyn texts never before available in English Rusinko s study creates an entirely new perspective on Rusyn literature that rescues it from the clichés of Soviet dominated critical theory and makes an important contribution to Slavic studies in particular and post colonial critical studies in general Language Planning in the Post-Communist Era Ernest
