International Film and TV Yearbook, 1982 International Film and TV Year Book, 1981 International Companion Encyclopedia of Children's Literature Peter Hunt, 2004-08-02 Children's publishing is a huge international industry and there is ever growing interest from researchers and students in the genre as cultural object of study and tool for education and socialization Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, 1993 Screen International Film and TV Year Book, 1990 The International Who's Who in Popular Music 2002 Andy Gregory, 2002 The International Who's Who in Popular Music 2002 offers comprehensive biographical information covering the leading names on all aspects of popular music. It brings together the prominent names in pop music as well as the many emerging personalities in the industry providing full biographical details on pop rock folk jazz dance world and country artists. Over 5 000 biographical entries include major career details, concerts, recordings and compositions, honors and contact addresses. Wherever possible, information is obtained directly from the entrants to ensure accuracy and reliability. Appendices include details of record companies, management companies, agents and promoters. The reference also details publishers, festivals and events and other organizations involved with music. The Literary Digest International Book Review Clifford Smyth, 1923

International Handbook of Children, Media and Culture Sonia Livingstone, Kirsten Drotner, 2008-03-06 Deliberately selected to represent as many parts of the globe as possible and with a commitment to recognizing both the similarities and differences in children and young people's lives from China to Denmark from Canada to India from Japan to Iceland from the authors offer a rich contextualization of children's engagement with their particular media and communication environment while also pursuing cross-cutting themes in terms of comparative and global trends. Contagious Communities Roberta Bivins, 2015-09-24 It was only a coincidence that the NHS and the Empire Windrush, a ship carrying 492 migrants from Britain's West Indian colonies, arrived together. On 22 June 1948, as the ship's passengers disembarked, frantic preparations were already underway for 5 July, the Appointed Day when the nation's new National Health Service would first open its doors. The relationship between immigration and the NHS rapidly attained and has enduringly retained notable political and cultural significance. Both the Appointed Day and the post-war arrival of colonial and Commonwealth immigrants heralded transformative change. Together they reshaped daily life in Britain and notions of Britishness alike. Yet the reciprocal impacts of post-war immigration and medicine in post-war Britain have yet to be explored. Contagious Communities casts new light on a period which is beginning to attract significant historical interest. Roberta Bivins draws attention to the importance but also the limitations of medical knowledge, approaches and professionals in mediating post-war British responses to race, ethnicity and the emergence of new and distinctive ethnic communities. By presenting a wealth of newly available or previously ignored archival evidence, she interrogates and re-balances the political history of Britain's response to New Commonwealth immigration. Contagious Communities uses a set of linked case studies to map the persistence of race in British culture and medicine alike the limits of belonging in a multi ethnic welfare state and the emergence of new and resolutely unimagined communities of patients researchers clinicians policy makers and citizens within the medical state and its global contact zones International Television & Video Almanac ,2006 The International Who's Who of Women 2002 Elizabeth
