Story Of A Mental Hospital:

The Story of Nursing in British Mental Hospitals Niall McCrae, Peter Nolan, 2016-02-22 From their beginnings as the asylum attendants of the 19th century mental health nurses have come a long way This comprehensive volume is the first book in over twenty years to explore the history of mental health nursing and during this period the landscape has transformed as the large institutions have been replaced by services in the community McCrae and Nolan examine how the role of mental health nursing has evolved in a social and professional context brought to life by an abundance of anecdotal accounts Moving from the early nineteenth to the end of the twentieth century the book's nine chronologically ordered chapters follow the development from untrained attendants in the pauper lunatic asylums to the professionally qualified nurses of the twentieth century and finally consider the rundown and closure of the mental hospitals from nurses perspectives Throughout the argument is made that whilst the training organisation and environment of mental health nursing has changed the aim has remained essentially the same to develop a therapeutic relationship with people in distress McCrae and Nolan look forward as well as back and highlight significant messages for the future of mental health care For mental health nursing to be meaningfully directed we must first understand the place from which this field has developed This scholarly but accessible book is aimed at anyone with an interest in mental health or social history and will also act as a useful resource for policy makers managers and mental health workers The Eclipse of the State Mental Hospital George W. Dowdall, 1996-01-01 Examines the origins recent history and future of state hospitals The Last Asylum Barbara Taylor, 2015-04-15 Blending personal memoir with social history the author shares an exquisitely written and provocative account of mental illness and care Sunday Times UK In the late 1970s Barbara Taylor then an acclaimed young historian began to suffer from severe anxiety Eventually her struggles led her to be admitted to the infamous Friern Mental Hospital in North London once known as the Colney Hatch Lunatic Asylum The Last Asylum is a candid account of her time there and probing look at the evolution of mental health treatment Taylor was admitted to Friern in 1988 not long before England's asylum system began to undergo dramatic change The 1990s saw the old asylums shuttered their patients left to navigate a perpetually overcrowded and underfunded mental health system But Taylor contends that the emptying of the asylums also marked a bigger loss a loss of community Taylor credits her own recovery to the help of a steadfast psychoanalyst and a circle of friends including Magda her manic depressive roommate and Fiona who shared stories of her boyfriend the Spaceman The support and trust of that network was crucial to Taylor's recovery offering a respite from the stranded homeless feelings she and others found in the outside world Ghost Stories of Saskatchewan 3 Jo-Anne Christensen, 2009-07-31 Saskatchewan and ghost stories They go together like a grinning scarecrow in a whisper dry October field In 1995 Dundurn successfully published and reprinted numerous times the original Ghost Stories of Saskatchewan Since that time an eerie wealth of supernatural accounts have surfaced in this seemingly quiet prairie province In this third collection a quiet cemetery appears to be a portal between the worlds of the living and the dead a Victorian mansion turned restaurant in Moose Jaw remains occupied by the spectral image of the original lady of the house and a weary traveller near Flaxcombe stops for coffee in a diner that burned to the ground a decade earlier There are historical tales and personal accounts legends and lore And there is much to keep the dedicated ghost fan awake late into the night Here the reader will find triple the history mystery and chills from one of Canada's established authors in the paranormal genre

Schizophrenic's Story Oskars Rancevs, 2018-01-26 While writing this story I will be as truthful and honest as possible in describing my thoughts and actions immediately prior to being admitted to the hospital It was at this time that I completely lost all sense of reality and started to live in the world of my thoughts where I create my own reality I will include notes from hospitals so called epicrisis a critical or analytical summing up especially of a medical case history and comments from friends and relatives It all began in January 2006 ten years ago At that point I had successfully finished my education at Riga City Pāvniēku Gymnasium and was studying political science at the University of Latvia After the first year in university I had the opportunity to go to Denmark and study European democracy and politics at Folkehøjskole As the programme was relevant to my studies at university my tutors agreed and I would be able to continue in my group when I returned I thought I was going to continue with my coursework from Latvia while in Denmark but I realised that they were two different unrelated courses Returning to Latvia I soon realised I was not ready to take the ongoing examinations and although my group mate had regularly sent me course notes I did not bother to study or pay attention I remember very clearly that day when I had to go to university but I chose the easiest option and stayed at home I thought I could take a year out from university relax enjoy my life and teach children dancing Unfortunately this did not happen

Rozelle Hospital Edward H. Moxon, 2024-11-29 In the 1960s psychiatry was entering a new phase of its development However many people were uncomfortable with these changes and fought against what they saw as apostasy dangerous and unprofessional decisions by the bureaucracy The role of Nurses before 1960 was task oriented to control behaviour give somatic treatments when ordered and provide the daily personal needs of their patients a custodial model Since 1960 the nursing profession ancillary staff and Doctors have been forced to reassess their traditional involvement and develop new skills All previous somatic treatments were abandoned or rarely used in mainstream psychiatry

The only tools left for nurses were consciously using self in a therapeutic relationship communicating sharing developing empathy and compassion and helping the patient gain insight self awareness and problem solving skills No longer were the staff seen as the boss demanding obedience Nurses had to learn how to work in alternative environments halfway houses day clinics community clinics night hospitals acute units work with mixed sexes and learn new skills through family therapy TA cognitive behaviour modification encounter groups gestalt therapy reality therapy and a therapeutic community and adapt to different age and cultural groups Management of wards and staff presented a challenge to administrators In patients attained much more freedom and self government with these developments The hierarchy was flatter industrial democracy was expected and workers had to cope with changing organisational structures Government decision making was a constant source of conflict A new approach to management emerged trust replaced control and self government replaced regimentation Where were all these developments leading What of the future Volume Two explores the sequel and exposes the intrigues promises hypocrisy lies neglect social engineering and the fate of long term residents and people with acute psychiatric episodes

The Story of a Mental Hospital David H. Clark,1996 Current policies about care in the community of the mentally ill along with lurid accounts of abuses have led to the impression that the old custodial mental hospitals outside big cities were all dreadful bins where human dignity was sacrificed to staff routines The author was in charge of a traditional institution near Cambridge for three decades during which it became internationally renowned for enlightened practices and the nurturing of patients rights and welfare He tells the history of the hospital from its founding in the nineteenth century to a period of traditional custodialism during which it suffered from lack of funds physical neglect and low morale He then tells of a number of exciting changes unlocking the wards social therapy administrative therapy therapeutic communities and the rehabilitation programmes of the 1970s It is a moving story part autobiography part narrative history and full of touching incidents BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Theology and the Experience of Disability Andrew Picard, Myk Habets, 2016-04-28 The Christian gospel compels humanity to embrace deeper ways of being human together that will overcome false divisions and exclusions in search of flourishing and graced communities Presenting both short narratives emerging out of theological reflection on experience and analytical essays arising from engagement in scholarly conversations Theology and the Experience of Disability is a conscious attempt to develop theology by and with people with disabilities instead of theology about people with disabilities A mixture of academic professional practical and or lived experience is brought to the topic in search of constructive multi disciplinary proposals for church and society The result is an interdisciplinary engagement with the constructive possibilities that emerge from a distinctly Christian understanding of disability as lived experience

Stories of Transformative Justice Ruth Morris, 2000 Can justice be healing Can crime victims find a new peace through transformative processes that include victims offenders and community in creative solutions that enable all to grow We can turn irritation into iridescence find ways to take the hard blows of life and use the very power of our pain to grow from the experience and create new hope beyond crime or other trauma Forgiveness is an untapped force in our revenge oriented culture These stories show that forgiveness is not condoning or forgetting or failing to set limits Forgiveness is recognizing and acknowledging all that was wrong but refusing to be destroyed by it and refusing to be drawn into a cycle of hatred and bitterness We can change our criminal justice system to include transformative methods We can change our world to one with greater social and economic justice For readers who yearn for realistic hope in these troubled times this is a must read

The Journal of Mental Science, 1926      History of Psychiatry and Medical Psychology Edwin R. Wallace, John Gach, 2010-04-13 Most of the prefatory issues are extensively elaborated upon in the Prolegomenon which also contains the complete references to the texts and authors discussed below Nevertheless the Preface would be grossly incomplete without touching on some of these issues books and scholars Too many of this book's chapters e.g. Mora's Marx's D.B. Weiner's examine and reference important earlier as well as contemporary general histories of psychiatry and specialized monographs in German French Italian and Spanish Also in his 1968 Short History of Psychiatry discussed below Ackerknecht pp xi xii references important nineteenth and earlier twentieth century psychiatric histories in English French and German Such citations will of course not be repeated here Finally thanks to several publishers re editions of dozens of classical psychiatric texts one can consult their bibliographies as well See Prolegomenon for references to these splendid series In a rough and ready sense medical history began in classical Greece for example On Ancient Medicine While traditionally included in the Hippocratic corpus this text seems more likely to have been written by a non or even anti Hippocratic doctor Moreover the Hippocratic and other schools were hardly as secular as we now suppose On Epilepsy for example does not so much declare the prevalent denotation of it as the sacred disease erroneous as it does that it is no more nor less sacred than any other disease      Kings Park Psychiatric Center: a Journey Through History Jason

Medina, 2018-02-20 This book is the definitive history of the Kings Park Psychiatric Center which at one time was the largest state hospital in New York Located on Long Island it occupied nearly 873 acres of land and was in operation from 1885 to 1996 At its prime it housed up to ten thousand patients Today much of its former land belongs to the Nissequogue River State Park but its many abandoned hospital buildings have become a magnet for urban explorers ghost hunters and scavengers
