Vertical Margins Reuben J. Ellis, 2001 History meets high altitude adventure This engaging analysis of twentieth century imperialism takes early mountaineering beyond the realm of recreation Vertical Margins sets Halford Mackinder s 1899 climb of Mt Kenya Annie Smith Peck s 1908 ascent of Huascaran in Bolivia and John Baptiste Noel s filming of the 1924 British attempt on Mt Everest in the larger historical context of American and British foreign policy and neo imperialism Reuben Ellis shows that mountain exploration reached far beyond the motivations of adrenaline driven adventurers to an aggressive ideology of power and expansion that fed the New Imperialism the end of the era of European empire building and the beginnings of American dominance in world affairs With so many mountains at the margins of European and American territorial and economic domains mountaineering often overlapped with the motivations of empire the earth s mountains came to be regarded as frontiers open to the full range of political economic and personal concerns that drove geographical exploration

The Nature of Tomorrow Michael Rawson, 2021-11-16 An examination of how Western visions of endless future growth have contributed to the global environmental crisis For centuries the West has produced stories about the future in which humans use advanced science and technology to transform the earth Michael Rawson uses a wide range of works that include Francis Bacon s New Atlantis the science fiction novels of Jules Verne and even the speculations of think tanks like the RAND Corporation to reveal the environmental paradox at the heart of these narratives the single minded expectation of unlimited growth on a finite planet Rawson shows how these stories which have long pervaded Western dreams about the future have helped to enable an unprecedentedly abundant and technology driven lifestyle for some while bringing the threat of environmental disaster to all Adapting to ecological realities he argues hinges on the ability to create new visions of tomorrow that decouple growth from the idea of progress
