Mathematics Education in a Neocolonial Country: The Case of Papua New Guinea Patricia Paraide, Kay Owens, Charly Muke, Philip Clarkson, Christopher Owens, 2023-01-10 Most education research is undertaken in western developed countries While some research from developing countries does make it into research journals from time to time but these articles only emphasize the rarity of research in developing countries The proposed book is unique in that it will cover education in Papua New Guinea over the millennia Papua New Guinea s multicultural society with relatively recent contact with Europe and the Middle East provides a cameo of the development of education in a country with both a colonial history and a coup less transition to independence Discussion will focus on specific areas of mathematics education that have been impacted by policies research circumstances and other influences with particular emphasis on pressures on education in the last one and half centuries This volume will be one of the few records of this kind in the education research literature as an in depth record and critique of how school mathematics has been grown in Papua New Guinea from the late 1800s and should be a useful addition to graduate programs mathematics education courses history of mathematics as well as the interdisciplinary fields of cross cultural studies scholarship focusing on globalization and post decolonialism linguistics educational administration and policy technology education teacher education and gender studies

Hurst,2019-12-04 There is a long standing evolutionary battle between viruses and their hosts that continues to be waged The evidence of this conflict can be found on both sides with the human immune system being responsive to new viral challenges and viruses having developed often sophisticated countermeasures The arms race between viruses and hosts can be thought as an example of the Red Queen race an evolutionary hypothesis inspired from the dialogue of Alice with the Red Queen in Lewis Carroll s Through the Looking Glass At the same time viruses have a minimal genomic content as they have evolved to hitchhike biological machinery of their hosts or other co infecting viruses The minimalistic viral genome could be thought as the result of a Black Queen evolution a theory inspired from the card game Heart where the winner is the one with the fewest points at the end The effects of this arms race are evident in the evolution of the human immune system This system is capable of responding to diverse viral challenges utilizing both the ancient innate immune system and the more recently evolved adaptive immune system of jawed vertebrates It is now well known that the two systems are linked with innate immunity hypothesized to have provided raw material for the emergence of the adaptive immune response The adaptive immune response comprises several protein families including B and T cell receptors MHC and KIR proteins for example that are encoded by complex and variable genomic regions This complexity enables for responsive genetic changes to occur in immune cells such as the ability of genomic hypervariable regions in B cells to recombine in order to produce more specific antibodies Indeed the human immune system is thought to be continually evolving via various mechanisms such as changes in the genes encoding immune receptors and the regulatory sequences that control their expression For example there is some evidence that exogenous viral infections can alter the expression of endogenous retroviruses some of which contribute to the immune response Viral countermeasures can include encoding decoy receptors for the signalling molecules of the immune response altering the gene expression of adaptive immune cells during chronic infection or using host enzymes to facilitate viral immune escape As the articles herein show the immune system continues to be challenged by viral infections and these challenges continue to shape how the immune system combats pathogens thus viruses and human immunity are continuously part of Red and Black Queen evolutionary dynamics We had the pleasure of working with Jonas Blomberg as a reviewer during the course of the Research Topic and his untimely passing was a great loss Prof Blomberg made significant contributions including to the nomenclature of endogenous retroviruses ERVs the evolution and characterization of specific human ERV HERV and the contribution of ERVs to diseases such as cancer It is with great respect for his contributions to the ERV field that we dedicate this eBook to his memory
