The Red Man's Bones: George Catlin, Artist and Showman Benita Eisler, 2013-07-22 The first biography in over sixty years of a great American artist whose paintings are more famous than the man who made them George Catlin has been called the first artist of the West as none before him lived among and painted the Native American tribes of the Northern Plains After a false start as a painter of miniatures Catlin found his calling to fix the image of a vanishing race before their extermination his word by a government greedy for their lands In the first six years of the 1830s he created over six hundred portraits unforgettable likenesses of individual chiefs warriors braves squaws and children belonging to more than thirty tribes living along the upper Missouri River Political forces thwarted Catlin s ambition to sell what he called his Indian Gallery as a national collection and in 1840 the artist began three decades of self imposed exile abroad For a time his exhibitions and writings made him the most celebrated American expatriate in London and Paris He was toasted by Queen Victoria and breakfasted with King Louis Philippe who created a special gallery in the Louvre to show his pictures But when he started to tour live troupes of Ojibbewa and Iowa Catlin and his fortunes declined He changed from artist to showman and from advocate to exploiter of his native performers Tragedy and loss engulfed both This brilliant and humane portrait brings to life George Catlin and his Indian subjects for our own time An American original he still personifies the artist as a figure of controversy torn by conflicting demands of art and success
