Story Of The Taranto Raid:

Swordfish David Wragg, 2005-01 The daring British air raid that inspired the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor In November 1940 Britain was isolated in its stand against Nazi Germany and its ally Italy The country could not afford to lose control of the Mediterranean but the Royal Navy was already overstretched by the U boat war and the threat of invasion Italy's fleet of modern battleships presented a grave threat to our communications with Egypt and the Suez Canal On the night of 11 November 1940 42 members of the Fleet Air Arm took off in 21 obsolete Swordfish biplanes launched from HMS Illustrious Their target the Italian fleet anchorage at Taranto Pressing home their attack in the face of intense anti aircraft fire and searchlights they torpedoed and sank three battleships Incredibly all but two of the biplanes survived The Italian fleet was crippled and the world took note that Britain was far from defeated No one was more impressed than the Japanese who noted how a fleet in harbour could be demolished by air attack In this new account of the Royal Navy's most daring operation of the Second World War David Wragg draws on British and Italian records as well as interviews with the aircrew to tell the full story of a night that changed the course of the war

Roberts,2015-08-11 In the context of their war experience in the First World War the changes and developments of the Executive branch of the Royal Navy between the world wars are examined and how these made them fit for the test of the Second World War are critically assessed Carriers at War, 1939-1945 Adrian Stewart,2013-06-19 The author begins this fascinating book by tracing aircraft carrier development between the Wars Eschewed by the Germans and Italians and with Britain squandering her early lead the Americans and Japanese became front runners The Royal Navy learnt the hard way in the early stages of WW2 with the loss of HMS Courageous and Glorious but following successes at Taranto and Matapan the value of carriers was no longer in doubt The sinking of Bismarck and the cataclysmic Pearl Harbor attack signaled the end of the Battleship era Stung by such spectacular losses the US Navy threw its weight behind the carrier concept and the naval war in the Pacific Guadalcanal East Solomon Islands Santa Cruz Midway and Leyte Gulf revolved round carrier borne aircraft Meanwhile the carrier became pivotal in protecting vital convoys in the Atlantic Arctic and Mediterranean The author backs his arguments with copious examples of naval and air action The Mediterranean Fleet, 1930-1939 Paul G. Halpern,2016-12-01 The Mediterranean Fleet entered the 1930s looking back to the lessons of Jutland and the First World War but also seeking to incorporate new technologies notably air power Unfortunately in the depression years of the early 1930s there was a lack of funds to remedy deficiencies The problem became critical during the Abyssinian crisis of 1935 The crisis wound down by mid 1936 but the respite did not last long In June 1936 the Spanish Civil War broke out and the Mediterranean Fleet was soon involved in evacuations of British and other endangered foreigners from Spanish ports as well as the protection of British flagged merchant ships in the war zone In addition to the Spanish Civil War there was an increase of tension with Germany in 1938 that culminated with the Czechoslovak crisis in September The situation of the Mediterranean Fleet and its possible actions had the Munich agreement not been reached are described The Spanish Civil War ended in 1939 with the victory of the Nationalists and the Mediterranean Fleet was again involved in evacuations By now the prospect of war with Germany and possibly Italy was quite clear and serious preparations for war continued The plans for war in the Mediterranean are reproduced in detail The Battle of Matapan 1941 Mark Simmons,2011-10-21 In March 1941 the Royal Navy scored one of the greatest one sided victories against the Italian Fleet the Regia Marina at Matapan It brought to an end six months of remarkable success for the Royal Navy in the Mediterranean When France fell and Italy declared war on Britain Admiral Dudley Pound had wanted to evacuate the Mediterranean altogether and concentrate on home defence Churchill overruled him regarding such a move as the death knell of the British Empire His decision made the Mediterranean theatre the focus of British land operations for four years reliant on the Navy In Admiral Andrew Cunningham Churchill had a fleet commander in the Mediterranean who would miss no chance of hounding the enemy Affectionately known as A B C by his men Cunningham was salty in his language intolerant of fools and a master of tactics In The Battle of Matapan 1941 The Trafalgar of the Mediterranean Mark Simmons explores the remarkable victories of Taranto and Matapan as seen through the eyes of the men who manned the ships and flew the aircraft of the Mediterranean Fleet The Story of the Great War Francis Joseph Reynolds,1916 Royal Navy torpedo-bombers vs Axis warships Matthew Willis,2022-10-27 Drawing on rare historical photography and specially commissioned artwork Matthew Willis explores the heroic feats of the few Royal Navy s obsolescent biplanes that stood between the state of the art Axis warships and their objectives Focusing on the technical specifications of both opponents using original records and detailed armament and cockpit views this book explores the key attributes and drawbacks of the disadvantaged Royal Navy torpedo bombers against the mighty Regia Marina and Kriegsmarine destroyers and raiders covering a wide range of sea battles from the more famous attacks such as the strike on the Bismarck the tragic events of the Channel Dash or the clash with the Italian battle fleet at Taranto to less covered sea battles such as the Battle of Matapan Despite their powerful weaponry and heavy armour protection the Axis warships proved vulnerable to a skillfully and audaciously flown torpedo bomber thanks to innovative commanders exploiting every possible advantage Including rare personal recollections from the airmen who flew the torpedo bombers and historical accounts from the Axis warship crews this book describes each and every facet of this dramatic duel The British Fleet Air Arm in World War II Mark Barber,2012-03-20 A concise history of the Royal Navy s air arm during World War II from their Arctic convoys to the battle of Malta and the last raids on Japan Amazingly the Admiralty only had 406 operational pilots and eight carriers when war broke out but a mere six years later there were over 3 000 operational pilots and 53 aircraft carriers patrolling the seas in every theatre of the war This book charts the rapid evolution of the Fleet Air Arm during the war as air power took over at the cutting edge of naval warfare Mark Barber s account is highly illustrated with photographs and specially commissioned full colour artwork and offers an overview of the British Fleet Air Arm from recruitment and training through to combat accounts Discover some of the most dramatic actions of the war as Royal Navy aces battled against the Axis forces scoring both the first and last kills of the war From Axis Victories to the Turn of the Tide Alan Levine,2012-06-01 Analyzes the most critical campaigns of World War II from 1942 to 1943 examining the conflict from a geographical perspective and discussing the key developments that turned the tides of war in favor of the Allied powers King George V-Class Battleships Daniel Knowles,2022-04-08 Following the First World War the major naval powers entered into an agreement restricting the construction of capital ships and limiting the numbers that signatories were allowed to maintain so numerous ships were scrapped or disposed of and the majority of planned vessel were either cancelled whilst being built or never laid down By the late 1920s the Royal Navy's battle force comprised of the two Nelson class ships the battlecruisers Hood Renown and Repulse and Revenge and Queen Elizabeth class ships all designed before the First World War In 1928 the Royal Navy began planning a new class of battleships which was put on hold with the signing of the Treaty of London In 1935 realising its battle fleet was becoming dated as other nations laid down new classes of battleships the Royal Navy recommenced planning capital ships within treaty limitations The result was the King George V class battleships Regarded by some as the worst new generation battleships in the Second World War the King George V class were Britain's most modern battleships during the conflict and saw action in some of the most famous engagements from the sinking of the Bismarck in 1941 to the surrender of Japan in 1945 This book charts the story of the King George V class from its conception and design through to the operational history of the ships in the class
