Chinese History and Literature J. Prusek, 2012-12-06 The studies contained in this volume arose over the last thirty years Originally the range of the materials I intended to include in my selection was very much wider Publishing difficulties however have obliged me to curtail them to something less than half the planned content At first I intended to include all the studies I supposed might be of interest to readers and represent contributions still of some significance for research in this domain of Oriental scholarship When the necessity arose to limit the contents I gave preference to the standpoint of thematic completeness rather than to what would be of interest to the general reader Thus in this volume I have confined myself to two thematic fields only Old Chinese literature and studies dealing with mediaeval storytellers productions hua pen I have excluded the whole complex of historical studies and all studies relating to the new literature I am now preparing on the principal historical theme on which I was engaged already in the period of my studies in Prague under Prof J Bidlo and then in 1928 till 1930 with Prof B Karlgren in Sweden and Prof G Haloun in Halle in Germany a more compendious study in which I hope to sum up the results of my research and I also intend to publish a volume of selected studies dealing with the New Chinese literature at some later date

The other two students lowered their heads in fear at the fierce dean but Liu Jingting remained unfazed. He said calmly Dean Wang is a teacher. Isn't it a bit inappropriate to say that?

Rulin waishi and Cultural Transformation in Late Imperial China Shang Wei, 2020-10-26 Rulin waishi The Unofficial History of the Scholars is more than a landmark in the history of the Chinese novel. This eighteenth-century work which was deeply embedded in the intellectual and literary discourses of its time challenges the reader to come to grips with the mid-Qing debates over ritual and ritualism and the construction of history narrative and lyricism. Wu Jingzi's 1701-54 ironic portrait of literati life was unprecedented in its comprehensive treatment of the degeneration of mores the predicaments of official institutions and the Confucian elite's futile struggle to reassert moral and cultural authority. Like many of his fellow literati Wu found the vernacular novel an expressive and malleable medium for discussing elite concerns. Through a close reading of Rulin waishi Shang Wei seeks to answer such questions as: What accounts for the literati's enthusiasm for writing and reading novels? Does this enthusiasm bespeak a conscious effort to develop a community of critical discourse outside the official world? Why did literati authors eschew publication? What are the bases for their social and cultural criticisms? How far do their criticisms go given the authors' alleged Confucianism? And if literati authors were interested solely in recovering moral and cultural hegemony for their class how can we explain the irony found in their works?
