Story Species Our Lifeliterature Connection:

The Story Species Joseph Gold,2002 The Story Species is published by Fitzhenry and Whiteside Story Listening and Experience in Early Childhood Donna Schatt,Patrick Ryan,2021-03-22 This book shows connections between oral story listening and unique enduring educational effects in and outside of the classroom Using scientific studies and interviews as well as personal observations from more than thirty years in schools and libraries the authors examine learning outcomes from frequent story listening Throughout the book Schatt and Ryan illustrate that experiencing stories told entirely from memory transforms individuals and builds community affecting areas such as reading comprehension visualization focus flow states empathy attachment and theory of mind Taking Back Our Spirits Jo-Ann Episkenew,2009-05-01 From the earliest settler policies to deal with the Indian problem to contemporary government run programs ostensibly designed to help Indigenous people public policy has played a major role in creating the historical trauma that so greatly impacts the lives of Canada s Aboriginal peoples Taking Back Our Spirits traces the link between Canadian public policies the injuries they have inflicted on Indigenous people and Indigenous literature s ability to heal individuals and communities Episkenew examines contemporary autobiography fiction and drama to reveal how these texts respond to and critique public policy and how literature functions as medicine to help cure the colonial contagion The Readers' Advisory Handbook Jessica E. Moyer,Kaite Mediatore Stover,2010-03-22 A one stop resource for all kinds of readers advisory issues including how to advise patrons on all kinds of media from fiction and nonfiction to audiobooks graphic novels and even reference materials how to provide services to senior citizens teens and even readers who are incarcerated how to handle author visits and book groups how to enhance storytelling even for adults how to market and promote RA and much more Perspectives on Mathematical Practices Bart van Kerkhove,jean paul van bendegem,2007-06-01 Philosophy of mathematics today has transformed into a very complex network of diverse ideas viewpoints and theories Sometimes the emphasis is on the classical foundational work often connected with the use of formal logical methods sometimes on the sociological dimension of the mathematical research community and the products it produces then again on the education of future mathematicians and the problem of how knowledge is or should be transmitted from one generation to the next The editors of this book felt the urge first of all to bring together the widest variety of authors from these different domains and secondly to show that this diversity does not exclude a sufficient number of common elements to be present In the eyes of the editors this book will be considered a success if it can convince its readers of the following that it is warranted to dream of a realistic and full fledged theory of mathematical practices in the plural If such a theory is possible it would mean that a number of presently existing fierce oppositions between philosophers sociologists educators and other parties involved are in fact illusory Shaping Ageing Adriana Teodorescu,Dan Chiribucă,2022-03-24 This volume examines the manifold often contradictory aspects of ageing considering the ways in which contemporary social transformations affect the experience conception interpretation and representation of ageing Thematically arranged it brings together the latest scholarly work from around the world to consider theories and narratives of ageing and the effects of space and place on identity and the experience of old age Combining micro and macro perspectives as well as theoretical and applied research this interdisciplinary volume offers cross cultural and comparative studies that resist overgeneralization and reductivism in an effort to shed fresh light on our experience understanding and response to ageing in the modern world As such it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences particularly sociology gerontology demography social policy and cultural studies with interests in ageing and later life

Reading Our Lives William L. Randall, Elizabeth McKim, 2008-06-03 Against the background of Socrates insight that the unexamined life is not worth living Reading Our Lives The Poetics of Growing Old investigates the often overlooked inside dimensions of aging Despite popular portrayals of mid and later life as entailing inevitable decline this book looks at aging as potentially a process of poiesis a creative endeavor of fashioning meaning from the ever accumulating texts memories and reflections that constitute our inner worlds At its center is the conviction that although we are constantly reading our lives to some degree anyway doing so in a mindful matter is critical to our development in the second half of life Drawing on research in numerous disciplines affected by the so called narrative turn including cognitive psychology neuroscience and the psychology of aging authors Randall and McKim articulate a vision of aging that promises to accommodate such time honored concepts as wisdom and spirituality one that understands aging as a matter not merely of getting old but of consciously growing old

Cinematic Howling Hoi Cheu, 2010-10-01 Cinematic Howling presents a refreshingly unorthodox framework for feminist film studies Instead of criticizing mainstream movies from feminist perspectives Hoi Cheu focuses on women s filmmaking itself Integrating systems theory and feminist aesthetics in his close readings of films and screenplays by women he considers how women engage the process of storytelling in cinema The importance of these films he argues is not merely that they reflect women s perceptions but that they have the power to reframe experiences and consequently to transform life A major contribution to feminist scholarship that will appeal to scholars of both gender and film Cinematic Howling is written in an approachable and inviting style full of vivid examples and attention to detail which will suit both undergraduate and graduate courses in gender film and cultural studies

The Tales that Bind William Lowell Randall, Rosemary Clews, Dolores Furlong, 2015-02-05 Every year thousands of new practitioners in professions such as social work education medicine and the church leave the large urban centres where they received their training and go to work in small towns remote hamlets and other rural settings Often they find themselves unprepared for professional life in these communities Drawing on in depth interviews conducted with more than forty practitioners working in a range of professions and communities throughout rural New Brunswick The Tales that Bind presents a narrative approach to facing these challenges Using fictionalized vignettes and autobiographical sketches William Lowell Randall Rosemary Clews and Dolores Furlong argue that success as rural practitioners requires knowing the story whether that is personal communal or regional

An accessible practical guide to using narrative techniques in practice The Tales that Bind is a unique resource for students teachers and professionals working in rural settings Things that Matter William L. Randall,Matte Robinson,2023-11-30 Many of us have particular things in our lives photographs paintings old letters books furniture jewellery or clothing that hold special meaning for us Often they correspond to pivotal memories and can be central to our sense of self and our life narratives all the more so as we age Things That Matter sheds important light on the intricate intertwining of mementos with stories and vice versa in most people s lives The book explores the significance of cherished objects within the life stories of nine participants in a qualitative study of the links between reminiscence and resilience in later life The researchers who conducted the study represent a variety of fields including gerontology social work ministry nursing literature and education The book details how life stories can be fraught with a wide range of insights and questions from the memories that get stirred up as people embark on the process of life review prompted by the challenges and changes of aging Shedding light on the complex emotional psychological and spiritual findings of the study Things That Matter ultimately reveals the intricacy of personal narrative and the incredible ways in which things and stories are interwoven in our lives over time The Stories We Are William Lowell Randall,2014-01-01 William Lowell Randall explores the links between literature and life and speculates on the range of storytelling styles through which people compose their lives In doing so he draws on a variety of fields including psychology psychotherapy theology philosophy feminist theory and literary theory The Solitary Vice Mikita Brottman,2010-05 The Solitary Vice will make you rethink your own relation to reading Brottman is wonderful at reminding us what a very complicated act of fantasy recompense adventurism and sometimes perversity reading a book can be Psychoanalysis and Narrative Medicine Peter L. Rudnytsky,Rita Charon,2008-01-17 Contributors explore the significance of literature and psychoanalysis for medical education and practice Mothering Mennonite Buller Rachel Epp,2013-05-01 Mothering Mennonite marks the first scholarly attempt to incorporate religious groundings in interpretations of motherhood The essays included here broaden our understanding of maternal identity as something not only constructed within the family and by society at large but also influenced significantly by historical traditions and contemporary belief systems of religious communities A multidisciplinary compilation of essays this volume joins narrative and scholarly voices to address both the roles of mothering in Mennonite contexts and the ways in which Mennonite mothering intersects with and is shaped by the world at large Contributors address cultural constructions of motherhood within ethnoreligious Mennonite communities examining mother daughter relationships and intergenerational influences analyzing visual and literary representations of Mennonite mothers challenging cultural constructions and expectations of motherhood and tracing the effects of specific religious and cultural contexts on mothering in North and South America The Narrative Complexity of Ordinary Life William L. Randall,2015-08-20 Our everyday lives are enmeshed in storytelling the stories we tell about our memories the people we know and the world we inhabit those we tell about our families and communities and the narratives we encounter in books movies and television Narrative structures how we view ourselves and everything around us In The Narrative Complexity of Ordinary Life William L Randall shows how concepts central to the study of narrative psychology such as narrative development and the interrelation between narrative and identity cognition and development are integral to everyday life He makes the case that all people function as narrative psychologists by continually storying their lives in memory and imagination as well as speculating on the stories that others may be living a process that Randall refers to as storyotyping Relying heavily on narrative Randall draws from experiences in his own life to illustrate various concepts in narrative psychology His inquiry leads him to the topics of gossip rumor and the narrative complexity of nostalgia In doing so he makes the case that all people function as narrative psychologists by continually storying or cementing their lives in memory and imagination a process Randall refers to as storyotyping

Making Believe Magdalene Redekop, 2020-04-10 Making Believe responds to a remarkable flowering of art by Mennonites in Canada After the publication of his first novel in 1962 Rudy Wiebe was the only identifiable Mennonite literary writer in the country Beginning in the 1970s the numbers grew rapidly and now include writers Patrick Friesen Sandra Birdsell Di Brandt Sarah Klassen Armin Wiebe David Bergen Miriam Toews Carrie Snyder Casey Plett and many more A similar renaissance is evident in the visual arts including artists Gathie Falk Wanda Koop and Aganetha Dyck and in music including composers Randolph Peters Carol Ann Weaver and Stephanie Martin Confronted with an embarrassment of riches that resist survey Magdalene Redekop opts for the use of case studies to raise questions about Mennonites and art Part criticism part memoir Making Believe argues that there is no such thing as Mennonite art At the same time her close engagement with individual works of art paradoxically leads Redekop to identify a Mennonite sensibility at play in the space where artists from many cultures interact Constant questioning and commitment to community are part of the Mennonite dissenting tradition Although these values come up against the legacy of radical Anabaptist hostility to art Redekop argues that the Early Modern roots of a contemporary crisis of representation are shared by all artists Making Believe posits a Spielraum or play space in which all artists are dissembling tricksters but differences in how we play are inflected by where we come from The close readings in this book insist on respect for difference at the same time as they invite readers to find common ground while making believe across cultures
