Storytelling And Mythmaking Images From Film And Literature:

Storytelling and Mythmaking Frank D. McConnell, 1979 Film And Television In Education Robert Watson, 2003-09-02 First published in 1990 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The 1931-1940: American Film Institute Catalog of Motion Pictures Produced in the United States American Film Institute, 1993 The entire field of film historians awaits the AFI volumes with eagerness Eileen Bowser Museum of Modern Art Film Department Comments on previous volumes The source of last resort for finding socially valuable films that received such scant attention that they seem lost until discovered in the AFI Catalog Thomas Cripps Endlessly absorbing as an excursion into cultural history and national memory Arthur Schlesinger Jr The Reception of Northrop Frye, 2021-08-31 The widespread opinion is that Northrop Frye's influence reached its zenith in the 1960s and 1970s after which point he became obsolete his work buried in obscurity This almost universal opinion is summed up in Terry Eagleton's 1983 rhetorical question Who now reads Frye In The Reception of Northrop Frye Robert D Denham catalogues what has been written about Frye books articles translations dissertations and theses and reviews in order to demonstrate that the attention Frye's work has received from the beginning has progressed at a geomantic rate Denham also explores what we can discover once we have a fairly complete record of Frye's reception in front of us such as Hayden White's theory of emplotments applied to historical writing and Byron Almon's theory of musical narrative The sheer quantity of what has been written about Frye reveals that the only valid response to Eagleton's rhetorical question is a very large and growing number the growth being not incremental but exponential Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts, Volume II James Flood, Shirley Brice Heath, Diane Lapp, 2015-04-22 The Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts Volume II brings together state of the art research and practice on the evolving view of literacy as encompassing not only reading writing speaking and listening but also the multiple ways through which learners gain access to knowledge and skills It forefronts as central to literacy education the visual communicative and performative arts and the extent to which all of the technologies that have vastly expanded the meanings and uses of literacy originate and evolve through the skills and interests of the young A project of the International Reading Association published and distributed by Routledge Taylor Francis Visit <http://www.reading.org> for more information about International Reading Association books membership and other services Movies and Politics James E. Combs, 2013-12-17 Collecting together some of the best thinking about the relationship between movies and politics this book originally published in 1993 encourages an awareness of the political dimension of film both for film scholars and those entering the film industry Eight essays are grouped into four parts addressing political ideology and movie narrative political myth in the movies political history and movie culture and political communication and the movies An introductory essay as well as prefatory remarks to each of the four parts brings additional insight and perspective and puts the essays into context Comic Grace James

Combs, 2013-07-26 Comic Grace is Combs' third book on the movies for Cambridge Scholars Publishing. These books hardly form a trilogy but they do express a pragmatic interest of the author namely the aspects of movies that we have not adequately studied. More specifically the first Movie Time examines the inadequately understood temporal appearance of movies in movies set in the past, the present and the future attempting to make sense of such questions as to why certain past periods still fascinate how an emergent present is accompanied by cinematic treatment and what kind of futures we like to speculate about by watching alternative futures on film. This temporal interest was complemented in the second book Wit's End by examination of qualitative interest discussing how and why certain movies come to be regarded and remembered by the movie culture as great and memorable. Even though there is obviously no unanimous agreement on which movies are canonical there is enough consensus among those who study and value films for us to constitute inquiry into why some films are thought great. This third book in this sustained inquiry poses the question of not only why we think some movie comedies are great but also what is unique and enduring in the legacy of comedy on film. The book looks at comedy with humane interest entertaining the proposition that comedy may well be motion picture's greatest achievement. If so then it behooves inquirers to understand what movie audiences enjoy and cherish about movie comedy and what it is about the film medium that so adequately communicates the comedic across such vast audiences and why they never tire of certain kinds of comedy. These interests will inspire students of the remarkable medium of film to inquire further into not only these questions but also others that they find interesting and illuminating about the film experience. Theories of Cinema, 1945-1995

Francesco Casetti, 1999 A collection of essays on the principal ideologies in film studies. A Companion to German Cinema Terri Ginsberg, Andrea Mensch, 2012-02-13 A Companion to German Cinema regards the shifting terrain of German filmmaking and film studies against their larger social contexts with twenty-two newly commissioned essays by well established and younger scholars in the field. While several of these focus on classic topics such as Weimar cinema, Fifties cinema, New German Cinema and its legacy and Holocaust film, the collection is distinguished by its focus on new developments and the innovative light they may shed on earlier practices. A Companion to German Cinema includes essays on Berlin Film, Neue Heimat Film, New Comedy, post-Wall documentaries, the post-Wende RAF genre and Rabenmutter imagery as well as on the persistently overlooked and under-theorized Indianerfilme, post-AIDS documentaries, sexploitation films and new multicultural and transnational films produced in Germany under the auspices of the European Union. Organized into three movements representing the significance of these developments for their aesthetic theorization, A Companion to German Cinema challenges its readers to address critical gaps in the field with the aim of opening it further onto new terrains of intellectual engagement. Projected Art History Doris Berger, 2014-05-15 Biopics on artists influence the popular perception of artists' lives and work. Projected Art History highlights the narrative structure and images created in the film genre of biopics in which an artist's life is being dramatized and embodied by an actor. Concentrating on the two case studies Basquiat 1996 and Pollock 2000 the book also discusses larger issues at play such as how postwar American art history is being mediated for mass consumption This book bridges a gap between art history film studies and popular culture by investigating how the film genre of biopics adapts written biographies It identifies the functionality of the biopic genre and explores its implication for a popular art history that is projected on the big screen for a mass audience

Movie Time James Combs,2009-03-26 Movie Time is a study of temporal mythmaking in American popular movies The work is rooted in American pragmatic philosophy and contemporary traditions of inquiry in the social sciences and humanities It proceeds on the premise that social beings and social orders are interested in the mediation of time and attempt to make sense of their present world through the reconstruction of important pasts of interest in the present develop new presents with the help of popular expressions which define new situations and responses for a new time and foresee possible futures which impinge upon life in the here and now In particular the work focuses on the subsequent treatment of the American 1950 s in films set in that era beginning in the 1970 s and continuing with an effort to create a rough taxonomy of mythemes in such retrospective films and why it is that future times would find the Fifties to be so important that people wish to revisit it Too the mediation of time includes the development of a new present in this case the emergence of conservatism as a social force in the 1970 s and beyond The movies were an important form of expression in the dramatization of the conservative myth leading to the pervasion of conservative leaders and ideologies into the new century Finally the unrealized but imminent future of the country and world was increasingly on people s minds as both millennial hopes and fears and unanticipated threats began to emerge at century s end so movies which anticipated alternative futures appeared in response to that prospective interest It is hoped that this present inquiry will stimulate further work on the social relevance of popular expression and in particular the social mediation of time Mike Nichols Kyle

Stevens,2015-08-03 With iconic movies like Who s Afraid of Virginia Woolf The Graduate and Carnal Knowledge Mike Nichols was the most prominent American director during the cultural upheavals of the 1960s Mike Nichols Sex Language and the Reinvention of Psychological Realism argues that he overhauled the style of psychological realism and in doing so continues to shape the legacies of Hollywood cinema It also reveals that misreadings of his films were central to foundational debates at the emergence of Cinema Studies as a discipline inviting new reflections on critical dogma Focusing on Nichols classic movies as well as later films such as Silkwood The Birdcage and Angels in America Kyle Stevens demonstrates that Nichols realism lies not in the plausibility of his characters but in their inherent mystery By attending to the puzzling words and silences breaths and laughter that comprise these characters Stevens uncovers new insights into the subversive potential of a range of cinematic elements and reveals how Nichols satirical oeuvre and Hollywood itself participated in several of the nation s most urgent social political and philosophical advances Research methodology for PG students Dr. J. Magic, Monsters, and Make-Believe Heroes Douglas E. Cowan,2019-01-29 Magic Monsters and Make Believe Heroes looks at fantasy film television and participative culture as evidence of our ongoing need for a mythic vision for stories larger than ourselves into which we write ourselves and through which we can become the heroes of our own story Why do we tell and retell the same stories over and over when we know they can t possibly be true Contrary to popular belief it s not because pop culture has run out of good ideas Rather it is precisely because these stories are so fantastic some resonating so deeply that we elevate them to the status of religion Illuminating everything from Buffy the Vampire Slayer to Dungeons and Dragons and from Drunken Master to Mad Max Douglas E Cowan offers a modern manifesto for why and how mythology remains a vital force today

Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts James Flood,Diane Lapp,Shirley Brice Heath,2004-09-22 In an era characterized by the rapid evolution of the concept of literacy the Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts focuses on multiple ways in which learners gain access to knowledge and skills The handbook explores the possibilities of broadening current conceptualizations of literacy to include the full array of the communicative arts reading writing speaking listening viewing and to focus on the visual arts of drama dance film art video and computer technology The communicative and visual arts encompass everything from novels and theatrical performances to movies and video games In today's world new methods for transmitting information have been developed that include music graphics sound effects smells and animations While these methods have been used by television shows and multimedia products they often represent an unexplored resource in the field of education By broadening our uses of these media formats and genres a greater number of students will be motivated to see themselves as learners In 64 chapters organized in seven sections teachers and other leading authorities in the field of literacy provide direction for the future I Theoretical Bases for Communicative and Visual Arts Teaching Paul Messaris Section Editor II Methods of Inquiry in Communicative and Visual Arts Teaching Donna Alvermann Section Editor III Research on Language Learners in Families Communities and Classrooms Vicki Chou Section Editor IV Research on Language Teachers Conditions and Contexts Dorothy Strickland Section Editor V Expanding Instructional Environments Teaching Learning and Assessing the Communicative and Visual Arts Nancy Roser Section Editor VI Research Perspectives on the Curricular Extracurricular and Policy Perspectives James Squire Section Editor VII Voices from the Field Bernice Cullinan and Lee Galda Section Editors The International Reading Association has compiled in the Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts an indispensable set of papers for educators that will enable them to conceptualize literacy in much broader contexts than ever before The information contained in this volume will be extremely useful in planning literacy programs for our students for today and tomorrow

Swinging Single Hilary Radner, Moya Luckett, 1999 Critics and defenders alike connect today's widespread anxieties about sexuality and culture to the political activism of the 1960s and the counterculture's preoccupation with the individual pursuit of pleasure In contrast the essays in Swindling Single attribute the new sexual mores of that era not to its political upheavals but to a confluence of social cultural and economic factors that encouraged personal gratification and altered traditionally defined gender roles Contributors analyze a broad range of topics the commercialization of avant garde and exploitation films new visions of female sexuality in That Girl and The Avengers the social context of such cultural icons as Hugh Hefner and Charles Manson the intersection of race and sexuality in Eldridge Cleaver's Soul on Ice and depictions of sexual pleasure in pornography and scientific films

The Presidents We Imagine Jeff Smith, 2009-03-19 In The Presidents We Imagine Jeff Smith examines the presidency's ever changing place in the American imagination Ranging across different media and analyzing works of many kinds some familiar and some never before studied he explores the evolution of presidential fictions their central themes the impact on them of new and emerging media and their largely unexamined role in the nation's real politics

Classical Myth & Culture in the Cinema Martin M. Winkler, 2001 This title comprises a collection of essays presenting a variety of approaches to films set in Ancient Greece and Rome and to films that reflect archetypal features of classical literature The book illustrates the continuing presence of antiquity in the most varied and influential medium of modern popular culture The diversity of content and theoretical stances found in this work should make this volume required reading for scholars and students interested in the presence of Greece and Rome in modern popular culture Diamonds in the Dark Howard Good, 1997 Book on baseball films in American cinema
