Special Relationship in the Malay World Ho Ying Chan, 2018-07-31 Ho Ying Chan provides an expert analysis of Malaysia Indonesia relations. He demystifies the concept of a special relationship, rescuing it from woolly sentimental rhetoric that often emanates from political figures and popular commentators. His well-informed study shows how a state's will to survive in the amoral world of international relations drives its conduct even in circumstances of common identities and common strategic interests with other states. He evaluates comparative evidence to shed light on how a special relationship leads to the emergence of a pluralistic security community. This is a conclusion of insight and value not only to the field of Southeast Asian Studies but also to the wider community of International Relations scholars. Professor Clinton Fernandes, University of New South Wales, Australia. Empirically rich and theoretically interesting, this book offers an illuminating account of how material and ideational dynamics shape the evolution of Malaysia Indonesia relations. Focusing on what is arguably the most vital bilateral relationship in Southeast Asia, it addresses the circumstances, conditions, and constraints that determine the double-edged effects of the culturally bound special relationship. Ho Ying Chan argues that while their shared serumpun identities and strategic interests do give rise to a considerable closeness between Malaysia and Indonesia, the politics of power imbalance have prevented the transformation of the special relationship into a pluralistic security community as their egoistic understanding averts the formation of a collective self. The book generates useful insights on the interplay of cross-border cultural affinity and political necessity, inviting readers to ponder the politics of identity and survivability at the international level. It is a welcome addition to the growing literature of Southeast Asian international relations. Dr. Kuik Cheng Chwee, National University of Malaysia (UKM). Ho Ying Chan's important study brings home the international and theoretical significance of the interaction between Malaysia and Indonesia, the two major states of Muslim Southeast Asia, products of the territorial division between the British and Dutch colonial empires. This welcome and revealing review of the Malaysia Indonesia story deepens our understanding of the concept of a special relationship, explaining both the cooperative and competitive dynamics that can be present and the way such relationships are influenced by state identities and power imbalances. Anthony Milner, University of Malaya, University of Melbourne. Tribal Communities in the Malay World Geoffrey Benjamin, 2003-08-01 The Malay World (Alam Melayu) spanning the Malay Peninsula, much of Sumatra, and parts of Borneo has long contained within it a variety of populations. Most of the Malays have been organized into the different kingdoms (kerajaan Melayu) from which they have derived their identity. But the territories of those kingdoms have also included tribal peoples, both Malay and non-Malay, who have held themselves apart from those kingdoms in varying degrees. In the last three decades, research on these tribal societies has aroused increasing interest. This book explores the ways in which the character of these societies relates to the Malay kingdoms that have held power in the region for many centuries past, as well as to the modern nation-states of the region. It brings together researchers committed to comparative analysis of the tribal groups living on either side of the Malacca Straits in Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand, and

Singapore New theoretical and descriptive approaches are presented for the study of the social and cultural continuities and discontinuities manifested by tribal life in the region Conrad's Eastern Vision A. Yeow, 2008-11-20 This book traces the dialogic relation between Conrad's Eastern fiction and other histories arguing that it is in the intersections of art and history that we locate Conrad's irony In a direct response to the visual culture of his times Conrad sets up his fictional world as a hallucinated mirage stressing the veracity of his own Eastern vision The Singapore and Melaka Straits Peter Borschberg, 2010-01-01 The Singapore and Melaka Straits are a place where regional and long distance maritime trading networks converge linking Europe the Mediterranean eastern Africa the Arabian Peninsula and the Indian subcontinent with key centres of trade in Thailand Indochina insular Southeast Asia China Korea and Japan The first half of the 17th century brought heightened political commercial and diplomatic activity to this region It had long been clear to both the Portuguese and the Dutch that whoever controlled the waters off modern Singapore gained a firm grip on regional as well as long distance intra Asian trade By the early 1600s Portuguese power and prestige were waning and the arrival of the Dutch East India Company constituted a major threat Moreover the rapid expansion and growing power of the Acehnese Empire and rivalry between Johor and Aceh was creating a new context for European trade in Asia The Flight of the Swans Devika D. Bai, 2015-03-01 The Flight of the Swans is a rich and fascinating family saga set in British India and Malaya Cursed and with blood on his hands Captain Ramdas Rao Bhonsle is forced to flee Killa Fort which has fallen to the British A strange flight of swans signals his flight from Killa a flight that will drive Ramdas and his family into further adversity But great adversity spawns great dreams Ramdas dreams of ousting the British from his motherland His sons the handsome and irascible Nilkanth and the plain and romantic Madhav dream of possessing the same girl Tara Bai who is the most beautiful courtesan in the land And Ramdas granddaughter blind Arundhati dreams only of seeing one day Woven into this tapestry is a lone white swan inextricably linked to the ebb and flow of the Bhonsles fortunes as they flee across India to Malaya

Nature Contained Tony O'Dempsey, Mark Emmanuel, John van Wyhe, Nigel P. Taylor, Fiona L.P. Tan, Cynthia Chou, Goh Hong Yi, Corinne Heng, 2014-03-20 How has Singapore's environment and location in a zone of extraordinary biodiversity influenced the economic political social and intellectual history of the island since the early 19th century What are the antecedents to Singapore's image of itself as a City in a Garden Grounding the story of Singapore within an understanding of its environment opens the way to an account of the past that is more than a story of trade immigration and nation building Each of the chapters in this volume focusing on topics ranging from tigers and plantations to trade in exotic animals and the greening of the city and written by botanists historians anthropologists and naturalists examines how humans have interacted with and understood the natural environment on a small island in Southeast Asia over the past 200 years and conversely how this environment has influenced humans Between the chapters are travelers accounts and primary documents that provide eyewitness descriptions of the events examined in the text In this regard Nature Contained
