Straits Of Power:

Straits of Power Joe Buff, 2011-05-17 In his latest mission Commander Jeffrey Fuller will go head to head against his most dangerous adversary yet his own allies Jeffrey Fuller has a new mission use his cutting edge submarine Challenger to recover a German spy claiming to have key information about the Berlin Boer Axis information that could be crucial to winning the war Fuller will have to navigate his super silent sub through some of the most densely patrolled waters in Europe if he hopes to accomplish his mission But Fuller knows he can't trust the spy code named Zeno an expert in electronic and information warfare The man could be a double agent sent by the enemy to compromise Challenger And when they finally recover the mysterious spy he reveals that only by helping him infiltrate Israel can he hope to prevent an imminent Axis attack Fuller is caught in a terrible dilemma if the man is a double agent he could be dooming Israel but if he does nothing the country could fall to the German assault To go ahead with the plan would pitch Fuller against the best defences of his own allies placing his crew in danger and possibly shattering bonds between nations It is a battle that if fought Fuller will have to fight entirely on his own

Maritime Power and the Law of the Sea James Kraska, 2011 In Maritime Power and the Law of the Sea Expeditionary Operations in World Politics Commander James Kraska analyzes the evolving rules governing freedom of the seas and their impact on expeditionary operations in the littoral near shore coastal zone Coastal state practice and international law are developing in ways that restrict naval access to the littorals and associated coastal communities and inshore regions that have become the fulcrum of world geopolitics Consequently the ability of naval forces to project expeditionary power throughout semi enclosed seas exclusive economic zones EEZs and along the important sea shore interface is diminishing and as a result limiting strategic access and freedom of action where it is most needed Commander Kraska describes how control of the global commons coupled with new approaches to sea power and expeditionary force projection has given the United States and its allies the ability to assert overwhelming sea power to nearly any area of the globe But as the law of the sea gravitates away from a classic liberal order of the oceans naval forces are finding it more challenging to accomplish the spectrum of maritime missions in the coastal littorals including forward presence power projection deterrence humanitarian assistance and sea control The developing legal order of the oceans fuses diplomacy strategy and international law to directly challenge unimpeded access to coastal areas with profound implications for American grand strategy and world politics

Soviet Military Power, 1989

The Making of a Maritime Power Zhiguo Kong, 2016-10-25 This book is a valuable work of reference for the study of sea power especially in China It analyzes the challenges and problems facing China's sea power and offers a complete set of solutions known as sea exploitation In this context it discusses five aspects of China's sea power

- 1 It revises the notion of sea power and proposes a cost benefit analysis framework for it It holds that sea power is undergoing major changes that multivariate completion and peaceful competition have become mainstream that negative and zero sum games have become positive sum games and that the pursuit of control over the sea has gradually developed into efforts to establish dominance in a partnership
- 2 By analyzing the increase in the benefits of China's sea power the rise in the nation's ability to pay principle and the growth in the public expectation of China's capability of providing global public goods it points out that the rise of China's sea power is an unavoidable trend
- 3 It explores the challenges and problems facing China's sea power arguing that China is currently in a situation where it is daunted by large countries troubled by small countries and its neighbors are expanding their armaments which have combined to increase the cost of improving China's sea power Meanwhile factors such as strategy vacuum poor oceanic management and policies tending to restrict ocean development have substantially undermined the benefits of China's sea power
- 4 It summarizes features of China's sea power and stresses that dilemmas of non sovereign sea power expansion and sovereign sea power expansion traumatic pressure and transcendental ideals escalated conflict and peaceful appeal etc require China to articulate its stance on sea power on the one hand and possess the wisdom to resolve sea power problems peacefully on the other
- 5 It proposes that China should draw on the experience of the Western Han Dynasty of ancient China which adopted a land exploitation strategy and introduced a sea exploitation strategy offering a unique way to implement sea exploitation strategies in China based on domestic and foreign practices

Asian Maritime Power in the 21st Century Vijay Sakhuja, 2011 Maritime power has been a key defining parameter of economic vitality and geostrategic power of nations This book explores how the first decade of the 21st century has witnessed the rise of China and India as confident economic powers pivoting on high growth rates exponential expansion of science technology and industrial growth

The Evolving Maritime Balance of Power in the Asia-Pacific Lawrence W. Prabhakar, Joshua Ho, Walter Samuel Grono Bateman, 2006 The Asia Pacific region has emerged as the hub of global geo political geo economic and geo strategic significance in the post Cold War period The rise of China and the resurgence of India will be the hallmark for the next 50 years How this surge in power is accommodated by the incumbent powers like the United States and Japan and how the new regional powers like China and India manage the power politics that emerge will be the key determinants of regional stability This volume examines the national maritime doctrines

as well as the nuclear weapons developments at sea of the four major powers in the Asia Pacific namely China India Japan and the United States to see if the evolving dynamic is a cooperative or a competitive one In particular the volume looks at the evolving paradigms of maritime transformation in strategy and technology the emergent new maritime doctrines and evolving force postures in the naval orders of battle the role and operations of nuclear navies in the Asia Pacific and the implications and impact of nuclear weapons ballistic missiles and sea based missile defence responses in the region

Southeast Asia and the Rise of Chinese and Indian Naval Power Sam Bateman, Joshua Ho, 2014-06-03 This book examines the emerging maritime security scene in Southeast Asia It considers highly topical implications for the region of possible strategic competition between China and India the rising naval powers of Asia with a possible naval arms race emerging between these countries both with naval force development and operations As part of its Look East policy India has deployed naval units to the Pacific Ocean for port visits and exercises both with East Asian navies and the US Navy but India is also concerned about the possibility of the Chinese Navy operating in the Indian Ocean Even as the US India defence relationship continues to deepen the US and China are struggling to build a closer links China's and India's strategic interests overlap in this region both in maritime strategic competition or conflict which might be played out in the Bay of Bengal the Malacca and Singapore Straits and the South China Sea The sea lines of communication SLOCs through Southeast Asian waters constitute vital choke points between the Indian and Pacific Oceans carrying essential energy supplies for China and other Northeast Asian countries Any strategic competition between China and India has implications for other major maritime players in the Pacific and Indian Oceans especially Australia the Republic of Korea and Japan as well as the US This book identifies possible cooperative and confidence building measures that may contribute to enhanced relations between these two major powers and dampen down the risks associated with their strategic competition

"Indian Industries and Power,"
Incorporating "Indian Motor News" ... ,1914 Progressive Age ,1907 Awkward Powers: Escaping Traditional Great and Middle Power Theory Gabriele Abbondanza, Thomas Stow Wilkins, 2021-10-04 This book introduces the editors new concept of Awkward Powers By undertaking a critical re examination of the state of International Relations theorising on the changing nature of the global power hierarchy it draws attention to a number of countries that fit awkwardly into existing but outdated categories such as great power and middle power It argues that conceptual categories pertaining to the apex of the international hierarchy have become increasingly unsatisfactory and that new approaches focusing on such Awkward Powers can both rectify shortcomings on power theorising whilst shining a much needed theoretical spotlight on significant but understudied states The book s contributors examine a broad range of empirical case studies including both established and rising powers across a global scale to illustrate our conceptual claims Through such a novel process we argue that a better appreciation of the de facto international power hierarchy in the 21st century can be achieved
