An Eye for an Eye Mitchel P. Roth, 2014-10-15 From an eye for an eye to debates over capital punishment humanity has a long and controversial relationship with doling out justice for criminal acts Today crime and punishment remain significant parts of our culture but societies vary greatly on what is considered criminal and how it should be punished In this global survey of crime and punishment throughout history Mitchel P Roth examines how and why we penalize certain activities and he scrutinizes the effectiveness of such efforts in both punishing wrongdoers and bringing a sense of justice to victims Drawing on anthropology archaeology folklore and literature Roth chronicles the global history of crime and punishment from early civilizations to the outlawing of sex crimes and serial homicide to the development of organized crime and the threat today of global piracy He explores the birth of the penitentiary and the practice of incarceration as well as the modern philosophy of rehabilitation arguing that these are perhaps the most important advances in the effort to safeguard citizens from harm Looking closely at the retributions societies have condoned Roth also look at execution and its many forms showing how stoning hemlock the firing squad and lethal injection are considered either barbaric or justified across different cultures Ultimately he illustrates that despite advances in every level of human experience there is remarkable continuity in what is considered a crime and the sanctions administered Perfect for students academics and general readers alike this interdisciplinary book provides a fascinating look at criminality and its consequences

Four Seasons of T'ang Poetry John C.H. Wu, 1989-12-15 This substantial collection of Tang Dynasty poetry includes extensive commentary and notes offering insight into this rich literary heritage Stretching out my hand I feel the pulse of the stars wrote Li Po one of the most famous of the T'ang dynasty poets This superlative study of the Golden Age of Chinese poetry based on nearly 50 000 poems written by more than 2 000 poets captures not only the pulse of that period but also the spirit and soul Of this Tang blossoming Dr Wu says that for nearly thirteen centuries after Christ poetry in Europe with the exception of Juvenal kept a death like silence It hibernated so long that when it woke up again in the person of Dante the last poetic voice it could remember was that Virgil It seems though Mother Earth purposely rocked Europe to sleep for some time that she might teach Asia to sing These poetic interpretations including comparisons with many Western poets such as Shakespeare and T S Eliot represent a remarkable scholarly achievement

Getting an Heir Ann Waltner, 2019-03-31 The need for heirs in any traditional society is a compelling one In traditional China where inheritance and notions of filiality depended on the production of progeny the need was nearly absolute As Ann Waltner makes clear in this broadly researched study of adoption in the late Ming and early Ch'ing periods the getting of an heir was a complex even paradoxical undertaking Although adoption involving persons of the same surname was the only arrangement ritually and legally sanctioned in Chinese society adoption of persons of a different surname was a relatively common practice Using medical and ritual texts legal codes local gazetteers biography and fiction Waltner examines the multiple dimensions of the practice of adoption and identifies not only the dominant ideology prohibiting adoption across surname lines but also a parallel discourse justifying the practice Law Without Lawyers, Justice Without Courts Bee Chen Goh, 2016-12-05 The Chinese have since ancient times professed a non litigious outlook Similarly their preference for mediation has fascinated the West for centuries Mediation has been popularized by the Chinese who subscribe to the Confucian notions of harmony and compromise It has been perpetuated in the People s Republic of China and by the overseas Chinese communities elsewhere such as in Malaysia and Taiwan Seen as the chief contributing factor in their litigation averse nature as well as the reason behind the significant role given to traditional mediation this compelling book traces the cultural tradition of the Chinese It uses rural Chinese Malaysians as illustrative examples and offers new insights into the nature of mediation East and West It is an important reference and essential resource for anyone keen to learn about traditional Chinese concepts of law justice and dispute settlement Equally it makes a unique contribution to the existing ADR literature by undertaking a socio legal study on traditional Chinese mediation Creating Market Socialism Carolyn L. Hsu, 2007-09-03 Based on interviews with ordinary Chinese citizens this work examines how people as opposed to Communist Party elites are establishing the new economic order in China
