home to some of California's fastest growing cities and by some estimates produces 25 percent of America's food. The Valley feeds too many people and is too unique to be ignored. To understand California you have to understand the Valley. Mixing travel writing, historical recreations, western history, natural history, and first person reportage, The Heart of California is a road trip narrative about this fascinating region and its most important early documentarian.

The Heart of the Mission Cary Cordova, 2017-05-04 An illustrated in-depth examination of the avant-garde and politically radical Latino art of San Francisco's Mission District. In The Heart of the Mission, Cary Cordova combines urban political and art history to examine how the Mission District, a longtime bohemian enclave in San Francisco, has served as an important place for an influential and largely ignored Latino arts movement from the 1960s to the present. Well before the anointment of the Mission School by art world arbiters at the dawn of the twenty-first century, Latino artists, writers, poets, playwrights, performers, and filmmakers made the Mission their home and their muse. The Mission home to Chileans, Cubans, Guatemalans, Mexican Americans, Nicaraguans, Puerto Ricans, and Salvadorans never represented a single Latino identity. In tracing the experiences of a diverse group of Latino artists from the 1940s to the turn of the century, Cordova connects wide-ranging aesthetics to a variety of social movements and activist interventions. The book begins with the history of the Latin Quarter in the 1940s and the subsequent cultivation of the Beat counterculture in the 1950s, demonstrating how these decades laid the groundwork for the artistic and political renaissance that followed. Using oral histories, visual culture, and archival research, she analyzes the Latin jazz scene of the 1940s, Latino involvement in the avant-garde of the 1950s, the Chicano movement and Third World movements of the 1960s, the community mural movement of the 1970s, the transnational liberation movements in Nicaragua and El Salvador, and the AIDS activism of the 1980s. Through these different historical frames, Cordova links the creation of Latino art with a flowering of Latino politics.

Heart of Creation Andrea Joyce Stone, 2002 This accessible state of the art review of Mayan hieroglyphics and cosmology also serves as a tribute to one of the field's most noted pioneers. The core of this book focuses on the current study of Mayan hieroglyphics as inspired by the recently deceased Mayanist Linda Schele. As author or coauthor of more than 200 books or articles on the Maya, Schele served as the chief disseminator of knowledge to the general public about this ancient Mesoamerican culture similar to the way in which Margaret Mead introduced anthropology and the people of Borneo to the English speaking world. Twenty-five contributors offer scholarly writings on subjects ranging from the ritual function of public space at the Olmec site and the gardens of the Great Goddess at Teotihuacan to the understanding of Jupiter in Maya astronomy and the meaning of the water throne of Quirigua. Zoomorph P. The workshops on Maya history and writing that Schele conducted in Guatemala and Mexico for the highland people, modern descendants of the Mayan civilization are thoroughly addressed as is the phenomenon termed Maya mania, the explosive growth of interest in Maya epigraphy, iconography, astronomy and cosmology that Schele stimulated. An appendix provides a bibliography of Schele's publications and a collection of Schele's written memories of the Rabbit Woman by some of her colleagues and students. Of interest to professionals as well as generalists, this collection will stand as a marker of the state of Mayan studies at the turn of the 21st century and as a tribute to the remarkable personality who guided a large part of that archaeological research for more than two decades.

Japanese Americans at Heart Mountain Saara Kekki, 2022-07. On August 8, 1942, 302 people arrived by train at Vocation, Wyoming to become the first Japanese American residents of what the U.S. government called the Relocation Center at Heart Mountain. In the following weeks and months they would be joined by some 10,000 of the more than 120,000 people of Japanese descent, two-thirds of them U.S. citizens incarcerated as domestic enemy aliens during World War II. Heart Mountain became a town with workplaces, social groups and political alliances in short networks. These networks are the focus of Saara Kekki's Japanese Americans at Heart Mountain: Interconnections between people are the foundation of human societies. Exploring the creation of networks at Heart Mountain as well as movement to and from the camp between 1942 and 1945, this book offers an unusually detailed look at the formation of a society within the incarcerated community, specifically the manifestation of power, agency and resistance. Kekki constructs a dynamic network model of all of Heart Mountain's residents and their interconnections: family, political, employment, social and geospatial networks using historical big data drawn from the War Relocation Authority and narrative sources including the camp newspaper Heart Mountain Sentinel. For all the inmates, life inevitably went on: people married, had children, worked and engaged in politics. Because of the duration of the incarceration, many became institutionalized and unwilling to leave the camps when the time came. Yet most individuals, Kekki finds, took charge of their own destinies despite the injustice and looked forward to the day when Heart Mountain was behind them. Especially timely in its implications for debates over immigration and assimilation, Japanese Americans at Heart Mountain presents a remarkable opportunity to reconstruct a community created under duress within the larger American society and to gain new insight into an American experience largely lost to official history. The
