The handbook provides a comprehensive evaluation of approaches topics and research areas of the rapidly developing field of Historical Animal Studies The so called animal turn specifically inspired new takes on writing history This upsurge in research has led to immense amounts of new empirical studies as well as approaches to historiography which this handbook aims to systemize      The Genetics of the Dog Elaine A. Ostrander,Anatoly Ruvinsky,2012

Recognizing the significant advances made in the field of animal genetics in the ten years since the first edition of Genetics of the Dog this new edition of the successful 2001 book provides a comprehensive update on the subject along with new material on topics of current and growing interest Existing chapters on essential topics such as immunogenetics genetics of diseases developmental genetics and the genetics of behaviour have been fully updated while new authors report on the latest advances in areas such as genetic diversity of dog breeds canine genomics olfactory genetics and cancer genetics      Fragments from the History of Loss Louise Green,2020-04-02

The Anthropocene s urgent message about imminent disaster invites us to forget about history and to focus on the present as it careens into an unthinkable future To counter this Louise Green engages with the theoretical framing of nature in concepts such as the Anthropocene the great acceleration and rewilding in order to explore what the philosophy of nature in the era of climate change might look like from postcolonial Africa Utilizing a practice of reading developed in the Frankfurt school Green rearranges narrative fragments from the global nature industry which subjugates all aspects of nature to the logic of capitalist production in order to disrupt preconceived notions and habitual ways of thinking about how we inhabit the Anthropocene Examining climate change through the details of everyday life particularly the history of conspicuous consumption and the exploitation of Africa she surfaces the myths and fantasies that have brought the world to its current ecological crisis and that continue to shape the narratives through which it is understood Beginning with African rainforest exhibits in New York and Cornwall Green discusses how these representations of the climate catastrophe fail to acknowledge the unequal pace at which humans consume and continue to replicate imperial narratives about Africa Examining this history and climate change through the lens of South Africa s entry into capitalist modernity Green argues that the Anthropocene redirects attention away from the real problem which is not human s relation with nature but people s relations with each other A sophisticated carefully argued call to rethink how we approach relationships between and among humans and the world in which we live Fragments from the History of Loss is a challenge to both the current era and the scholarly conversation about the Anthropocene Dogs of the Shepherds David Hancock, 2014-08-31 Dogs of the Shepherds is a book for all those who admire the most valuable of all the working dogs the pastoral breeds sheepdogs cattle dogs and flock protection dogs the indispensable farmer's servants and companion dogs for thousands of proud dog owners across the globe Painstakingly researched and packed with information this book is not a manual covering training grooming nutrition and dog care it is very much a reflective review of the pastoral dogs contribution to the working and companion dog scene It is a searching examination of their past their performance and their prospects in an increasingly urban society Essential reading for all those with an interest in these handsome and quite admirable dogs and lavishly illustrated throughout Brainerd Shop Dogs: A History of Northern Pacific Railroad Workers Robert Roscoe, 2023 An amazing piece of Brainerd's proud past For over eighty years the Northern Pacific Railroad Shops was the largest employer in the Brainerd area After the Depression the NP provided steady jobs for Brainerd railroad workers whose paychecks contributed to the growth of Brainerd The NP Shops built freight cars and conducted maintenance and disassembly of the NP's rolling stock The workforce of several trades called themselves shop dogs Shop dogs built a workplace culture with its own jokes stories ethics and nicknames an unintended circumstance could result in a nickname such as Scoop Swanson or the Soo Line Bull that stuck to a shop dog for the rest of his life After shop dogs retired and the NP shops closed their nicknames and stories live on Author Bob Roscoe gathers the stories from this vital piece of Brainerd history Pet Projects Elizabeth Young, 2019-12-15 In Pet Projects Elizabeth Young joins an analysis of the representation of animals in nineteenth century fiction taxidermy and the visual arts with a first person reflection on her own scholarly journey Centering on Margaret Marshall Saunders a Canadian woman writer once famous for her animal novels and incorporating Young's own experience of a beloved animal's illness this study highlights the personal and intellectual stakes of a pet project of cultural criticism Young assembles a broad archive of materials beginning with Saunders's novels and widening outward to include fiction nonfiction photography and taxidermy She coins the term first dog voice to describe the narrative technique of novels such as Saunders's Beautiful Joe written in the first person from the perspective of an animal She connects this voice to contemporary political issues revealing how animal fiction such as Saunders's reanimates nineteenth century writing about both feminism and slavery Highlighting the prominence of taxidermy in the late nineteenth century she suggests that Saunders transforms taxidermic techniques in surprising ways that provide new forms of authority for women Young adapts Freud to analyze literary representations of mourning by and for animals and she examines how Canadian writers including Saunders use animals to explore race ethnicity and national identity Her wide ranging investigation incorporates twenty first as well as nineteenth century works of literature and culture including recent art using taxidermy and contemporary film Throughout she reflects on the tools she uses to craft her analyses examining the state of scholarly fields from feminist criticism to animal studies

With a lively first person voice that highlights experiences usually concealed in academic studies by scholarly discourse such as detours zigzags roadblocks and personal experience this unique and innovative book will delight animal enthusiasts and academics in the fields of animal studies gender studies American studies and Canadian studies The Dog Fancier Eugene Glass,1920 The Dog Fancier ,1928 The Rottweiler Linda Michels,Catherine Thompson,2009-05-18 Whether the reader owns one Rottweiler companion or is a serious breeder with a large kennel this is an invaluable source of expert reference on the origins of the breed the Standard finding a dog care and training for puppies and adults activities to be enjoyed and a host of other important subjects Fully illustrated in glowing color throughout
