Andrew Albin, Mary C. Erler, Thomas O'Donnell, Nicholas L. Paul, Nina Rowe, 2019-10-15 An ethical and accessible introduction to a historical period often implicated in racist narratives of nationalism and imperialism Sierra Lomuto Assistant Professor of Global Medieval Literature Rowan University A collection of twenty two essays Whose Middle Ages gives nonspecialists access to the richness of our historical knowledge while debunking damaging misconceptions about the medieval past Myths about the medieval period are especially beloved among the globally resurgent far right from crusading emblems on the shields borne by alt right demonstrators to the on screen image of a purely white European populace defended from actors of color by Internet trolls This collection attacks these myths directly by insisting that readers encounter the relics of the Middle Ages on their own terms Each essay uses its author's academic research as a point of entry and takes care to explain how the author knows what she or he knows and what kinds of tools bodies of evidence and theoretical lenses allow scholars to write with certainty about elements of the past to a level of detail that might seem unattainable By demystifying the methods of scholarly inquiry Whose Middle Ages serves as an antidote not only to the far right's errors of fact and interpretation but also to its assault on scholarship and expertise as valid means for the acquisition of knowledge In example after example the authors show how people shape the Middle Ages to reflect their fears and dreams for themselves and for society The results range from the amusing to the horrifying from video

The Geographies of African American Short Fiction Kenton Rambsy,2022-03-25 Perhaps the brevity of short fiction accounts for the relatively scant attention devoted to it by scholars who have historically concentrated on longer prose narratives The Geographies of African American Short Fiction seeks to fill this gap by analyzing the ways African American short story writers plotted a diverse range of characters across multiple locations small towns a famous metropolis city sidewalks a rural wooded area apartment buildings a pond a general store a prison and more In the process these writers highlighted the extents to which places and spaces shaped or situated racial representations Presenting African American short story writers as cultural cartographers author Kenton Rambsy documents the variety of geographical references within their short stories to show how these authors make cultural spaces integral to their artwork and inscribe their stories with layered and resonant social histories The history of these short stories also documents the circulation of compositions across dozens of literary collections for nearly a century Anthology editors solidified the significance of a core group of short story authors including James Baldwin Toni Cade Bambara Charles Chesnutt Ralph Ellison Zora Neale Hurston and Richard Wright Using quantitative information and an extensive literary dataset The Geographies of African American Short Fiction explores how editorial practices shaped the canon of African American short fiction Atlantic Narratives: Modern Short Stories
