The Story of John G. Paton, Told for Young Folks John Gibson Paton, 1898 John G. Paton John Gibson Paton, 1907 The Story of John G. Paton James Patton, 2015-07-26 The Story of John G Paton is an abridgment of the autobiography of John G Paton published in 1889 and subtitled Thirty Years Among South Sea Cannibals John Gibson Paton 24 May 1824 28 January 1907 born in Scotland was a Protestant missionary to the New Hebrides Islands of the South Pacific He brought to the natives of the New Hebrides education and Christianity He developed small industries for them such as hat making He advocated strongly against a form of slavery which was called Blackbirding that involved kidnapping the natives and forcing them to work in New Zealand and elsewhere Paton was born on 24 May 1824 in a farm cottage at Braehead Kirkmahoe Dumfriesshire Scotland He was the eldest of the 11 children of James and Janet Paton Paton was a stocking manufacturer and later a colporteur James and his wife Janet and their three eldest children moved c 1828 29 from Braehead to Torthorwald in the same county There in a humble thatched cottage of three rooms his parents reared five sons and six daughters John from the age of 12 started learning the trade of his stocking manufacturing father and for fourteen hours a day he manipulated one of the six stocking frames in his father s workshop However he still studied during the two hours allotted each day for the eating of his meals During these years Paton was greatly influenced by the devoutness of his father who would go three times a day to his prayer closet and who conducted family prayers twice a day During his youth Paton felt called by God to serve overseas as a missionary Eventually he moved to Glasgow Forty miles on foot to Kilmarnock then by train to Glasgow where he undertook theological and medical studies For some years he also worked at distributing tracts teaching at school and labouring as a city missionary in a degraded section of Glasgow Paton was ordained by the Reformed

Presbyterian Church on 23 March 1858 On 2 April in Coldstream Berwickshire Scotland John G Paton married Mary Ann Robson and 14 days later on 16 April accompanied by Mr Joseph Copeland they both sailed from Scotland to the South Pacific

The Story of John G. Paton John Gibson Paton,2024-02-01 The Story of John G Paton is an autobiography written by John Gibson Paton himself John G Paton 1824 1907 was a Scottish Congregationalist missionary and a significant figure in the Christian missionary movement His autobiography provides a firsthand account of his life missionary work and experiences in the South Pacific Paton is particularly known for his missionary activities in the New Hebrides now Vanuatu where he worked among the native peoples His dedication to the mission and his challenges in dealing with the cultural differences and hardships in the region are likely detailed in his autobiography For readers interested in missionary history Christian literature and the challenges faced by missionaries in the 19th century The Story of John G Paton offers a personal and compelling narrative Paton s life and work have left a lasting impact on the history of Christian missions

The Story of John G. Paton John G. Paton,2017-09-05 In John G Paton s thrilling autobiography he relates his life spent as a missionary among the cannibal peoples of the South Sea Islands and the education and development he helped bring to those remote isles Born in Scotland to a religious family of rural Dumfriesshire Paton was seemingly destined to live a life amid his traditional culture However as a studious young man Paton felt a calling from God and visited the city of Glasgow He became versed in both theology and medicine and in 1858 mere weeks after being ordained as a Presbyterian priest Paton and his first wife Mary Ann Robson set sail for the South Sea Islands Christened the New Hebrides the isles which the missionary Paton settled upon are today part of the nation of Vanuatu On arrival in early 1859 the primitive conditions of the natives the fact they were generally naked lived in simple huts and would occasionally practice cannibalism was a shock to Paton and his young wife Tragically a tropical fever soon claimed the life of Paton s spouse and his newborn son Peter Undeterred by the misfortune of losing his companions Paton began what became a decades long quest in educating the native peoples He promoted various cottage industries among them such as printing and hat making In his three decades in the New Hebrides Paton took one hiatus in which he met and married his second wife Maggie who boldly accompanied him back to the isles After overcoming the islanders initial suspicions Paton became respected as a man of great practical knowledge He went far beyond his calling as a missionary by teaching the natives the use of various tools and how to read and write He would island by island convert the natives to Christianity and in 1899 oversee the printing of the Aniwa New Testament Maggie meanwhile taught the women and girls of the isles many of whom learned how to sow sing and read with her help

The Story of John G. Paton, Told for Young Folks; Or, Thirty Years Among South Sea Cannibals John Gibson Paton,1907 The Story of John G. Paton; Or, Thirty Years Among South Sea Cannibals John Gibson Paton,2022-05-28 In The Story of John G Paton Or Thirty Years Among South Sea Cannibals John Gibson Paton delivers a compelling autobiographical account of his missionary work in the New Hebrides Islands during the 19th century Employing vivid narrative techniques and a deeply personal tone Paton not only chronicles his transformative experiences among the indigenous populations but also confronts the complexities of cultural encounter and colonialism Rich with descriptive detail Paton s writing offers readers a window into both the challenges and triumphs of spreading faith in a tumultuous and often dangerous environment revealing the profound spiritual awakenings that occurred amid the backdrop of cannibalistic rituals and societal upheaval Paton a Scottish Presbyterian missionary was driven by a fervent belief in the transformative power of Christianity and a desire to serve what he saw as a divine calling His early life was fraught with hardships including the loss of family members which undoubtedly shaped his resolve and compassion toward the marginalized communities he encountered Paton s experiences not only illuminate his unwavering faith but also the ethical dilemmas faced by missionaries during a period of imperial expansion This captivating book is recommended for readers interested in missionary history cultural anthropology or colonial studies as it provides both an accessible narrative and a rich source of insight into early interactions between Western missionaries and Pacific Islander cultures Paton s life story is not simply a testament to faith it is an exploration of humanity s capacity for understanding and love amidst profound differences

Solway with tides swifter than horsemen and finally the eye rested joyfully upon the hills of Cumberland and noticed with glee the blue curling smoke from its villages on the southern Solway shores King of the Cannibals Jim
