Constructing Transgressive Sexuality in Screenwriting LJ Theo,2017-10-09 This book approaches the construction of complex and transgressive pervert characters in mainstream not art adult oriented not pornographic cinema It deconstructs an episteme on which to base the construction of characters in screenplays in a way that acknowledges how semiotic elements of characterisation intersect In addition it provides an extended re phrasing of the notion of the pervert as Feiticiero a newly coined construct that might serve as an underpinning for complex sexual filmic characters that are both entertaining and challenging to audiences This re phrasing speaks to both an existential phenomenological conception of personhood and to the scholarly tradition of the linguistic turn of continental philosophers such as Foucault and Lacan who represent language not primarily as describing the world but as constructing it The result is an original and interdisciplinary volume that is brought to coherence through a queer post humanist lens

Introducing Story-Strategic Methods Robert Strauss,2017-03-17 The purpose of Introducing Story Strategic Methods is to awaken us in the cross cultural context Our natural tendency is to be asleep to our own cultural values and core worldview assumptions This tendency applies as well to our expectations in the cross cultural context For example in what ways would a justice pattern of culture orient our speech and behavior To what degree is a justice pattern of culture different from an honor pattern of culture The book asserts that culture matters in effective communication Going further to what degree does a story told from the Bible nullify the power of culture Often we assume that the biblical story trumps culture It does not The book affirms rigorously that culture is much more powerful than we first suppose. If in fact culture trumps the biblical story, therefore understanding and skills are required for effective engagement across cultures. Strategic storytelling is a twelve step methodology that addresses the problems of miscommunication and syncretism that plague the cross cultural context. It offers a step by step solution that promises success. Insights are firmly rooted in Scripture and equally grounded in empirical research from the social sciences. The stories told throughout the book are true. The answers are compelling.

Television Drama from Germany Florian Krauß, 2024-08-01. This open access book examines how TV professionals in Germany have negotiated quality TV drama from 2015 to the present. As practitioners have adapted quality TV, a term most strongly associated with US series, to their own national context, they have simultaneously dealt with shifts in screenwriting and storytelling, as well as with broader transformations of the local television industry. As in other European countries, in Germany this has included a crucial upheaval: the emergence of various streaming services, which has multiplied the television market. As a systematic study of this changing fiction industry, Television Drama from Germany will be of great interest to both academics and practitioners working both within and outside the German language television market.

Making a Scene in the Pulpit Alyce M. McKenzie, 2018-10-23. How can preachers ensure that their sermons continue to engage listeners in a world defined by visual media and the short segmented delivery of information? Alyce McKenzie harnesses the element of drama and the human fascination with scenes to offer ministers a modern means of sermon development and delivery. McKenzie's core strategy is to invite listeners into scenes, whether from Scripture or contemporary life, and once they are there to point them toward the larger story of God's relationship with humankind. Creating such scenes unifies the whole process of preaching, she says, from the preacher's daily life observations to interpretation of scenes from Scripture to sermon shaping, sequencing, and delivery. The process culminates in a specific understanding of the purpose of the sermon to send listeners out into the scenes they'll play in their lives for the next week.

Emotion, and the Antipodes Volume II Jane Davidson, Michael Halliwell, Stephanie Rocke, 2020-12-29 There can be little doubt that opera and emotion are inextricably linked From dramatic plots driven by energetic producers and directors to the conflicts and triumphs experienced by all associated with opera's staging to the reactions and critiques of audience members emotion is omnipresent in opera Yet few contemplate the impact that the customary cultural practices of specific times and places have upon opera's ability to move emotions Taking Australia as a case study this two volume collection of extended essays demonstrates that emotional experiences discourses displays and expressions do not share universal significance but are at least partly produced defined and regulated by culture Spanning approximately 170 years of opera production in Australia the authors show how the emotions associated with the specific cultural context of a nation steeped in egalitarian aspirations and marked by increasing levels of multiculturalism have adjusted to changing cultural and social contexts across time Volume I adopts an historical predominantly nineteenth century perspective while Volume II applies historical musicological and ethnological approaches to discuss subsequent Australian operas and opera productions through to the twenty first century With final chapters pulling threads from the two volumes together Opera Emotion and the Antipodes establishes a model for constructing emotion history from multiple disciplinary perspectives
