Story Of A Family Through Eleven Centuri:

The Story of a Family Through Eleven Centuries, Illustrated by Portraits and Pedigrees Raymond Gorges, 1944 A
Fourth-Century Daoist Family Stephen R. Bokenkamp, 2020-12-15 This volume is the first in a series of full length English translations from one of the foremost classics in Daoist religious literature the Zhen gao or Declarations of the Perfected The Declarations is a collection of poems accounts of the dead instructions and meditation methods received by the Daoist Yang Xi 330 ca 386 BCE from celestial beings and shared by him with his patrons and students These fragments of revealed material were collected and annotated by the eminent scholar and Daoist Tao Hongjing 456 536 allowing us access to these distant worlds and unfamiliar strategies of self perfection Bokenkamp s full translation highlights the literary nature of Daoist revelation and the place of the Declarations in the development of Chinese letters It further details interactions with the Chinese throne and the aristocracy and demonstrates ways that Buddhist borrowings helped shape Daoism much earlier than has been assumed This first volume also contains heretofore unrecognized reconfigurations of Buddhist myth and practice that Yang Xi introduced to his Daoist audience Children of the Series and how They Grew, Or, A Century of Heroines and Heroes, Romantic, Comic, Moral Faye Riter Kensinger, 1987 Children s series fiction comprises tales incorporating innocence and hard reality along with romance wit and character Heavy streaks of morality diminished as the entertainment element increased Heroes performed in a wide range of adventures but restrictions often kept heroines close to home Series fiction peaked then waned but such writers as Beverly Cleary and Madeleine L Engle carried on the style

Monuments and Memory in Early Modern England Peter Sherlock, 2008 This book is a study of the material culture of memory in sixteenth and seventeenth century England in the form of monuments to the dead By interpreting messages of their images and inscriptions it explores how early modern people wanted to be remember History and Politics in Eleventh-Century Baghdad George Makdisi, 2024-12-11 In the present collection of his articles George Makdisi is first of all concerned with the local history and the topography of Baghdad This is of interest in itself as a study of one of the principal urban centres of the medieval world but it also has a broader significance For Baghdad as the seat of the Abbasid caliphate was the focal point of much of the Islamic world at the time the rivalries between rulers and their ministers and the conflicts between secular and religious authorities and between different religious factions all find their reflection in the physical structure of the city and in the writings of those who lived there Of particular note are the studies on the only extant diary of the period that of Ibn al Banna and its historical significance both in terms of the literary genre and as a unique source for the affair of Ibn Aqil a cause c l bre that shook the world of Islam The theme of authority and power is then developed in the second set of articles focusing on the relations between caliph and sultan after the coming of the Saljuks Au cours des articles rassembl s dans le pr sent volume George Makdisi s attache avant tout l histoire locale et a la topographie de Bagdad En soi ceci pr sente un int r t particulier en tant qu tude d un des principaux centres urbains du monde m di val cependant la signification en est plus large en effet Bagdad en tant que si ge du Califat abbaside tait le point de mire d'une grande partie du monde islamique de l'époque les rivalités entre les dirigeants et leurs ministres et les conflits entre autorités civiles et religieuses ainsi qu'entre diverses factions religieuses sont autant de choses qui se voient reflétées au travers de la structure de la ville et dans les écrits de ceux qui y vivaient. À noter plus particulièrement les études sur le seul journal de l'époque qui ait été conservé celui d'Ibn al-Banna et sa signification historiographique.

A Tale of Eleventh-Century Japan, 2014-07-14 This book is a complete translation of Hamamatsu Chunagon Monogatari one of the few extant works of monogatari literature of the Heian period. War and Displacement in the Twentieth Century Sandra Barkhof, Angela K. Smith, 2014-03-14 Human displacement has always been a consequence of war written into the myths and histories of centuries of warfare. However the global conflicts of the twentieth century brought displacement to civilizations on an unprecedented scale as the two World Wars shifted participants around the globe. Although driven by political disputes between European powers the consequences of Empire ensured that Europe could not contain them. Soldiers traversed continents and civilians often followed them or found themselves living in territories ruled by unexpected invaders. Both wars saw fighting in Europe Africa the Middle East and the Far East and few nations remained neutral. Both wars saw the mass upheaval of civilian populations as a consequence of the fighting. Displacements were geographical cultural and psychological they were based on nationality sex gender or age. They produced an astonishing range of human experience recorded by the participants in different ways. This book brings together a collection of interdisciplinary works by scholars who are currently producing some of the most innovative and influential work on the subject of displacement in war in order to share their knowledge and interpretations of historical and literary sources. The collection unites historians and literary scholars in addressing the issues of war and displacement from multiple angles. Contributors draw on a wealth of primary source materials and resources including archives from across the world military records medical records films memoirs diaries and letters both published and private and fictional interpretations of experience.

Heresy and the Politics of Community Marina Rustow, 2014-10-31 In a book with a bold new view of medieval Jewish history written in a style accessible to nonspecialists and students as well as to scholars in the field Marina Rustow changes our understanding of the origins and nature of heresy itself. Scholars have long believed that the Rabbanites and Qaraites the two major Jewish groups under Islamic rule split decisively in the tenth century and from that time forward the minority Qaraites were deemed a heretical sect. Qaraites affirmed a right to decide matters of Jewish law free from centuries of rabbinic interpretation the Rabbanites in turn claimed an unbroken chain of scholarly tradition Rustow draws heavily on the Cairo Geniza a repository of papers found in a Rabbanite synagogue to show that despite the often fierce arguments between the groups they depended on each other for political and financial support and cooperated in both public and private life This evidence of remarkable interchange leads Rustow to the conclusion that the accusation of heresy appeared sporadically in specific contexts and that the history of permanent schism was the invention of polemicists on both sides Power shifted back and forth fluidly across what later commentators particularly those invested in the rabbinic claim to exclusive authority deemed to have been sharply drawn boundaries Heresy and the Politics of Community paints a portrait of a more flexible medieval Eastern Mediterranean world than has previously been imagined and demonstrates a new understanding of the historical meanings of charges of heresy against communities of faith Historians of premodern societies will find that in her fresh approach to medieval Jewish and Islamic culture Rustow illuminates a major issue in the history of religions

C³/sar's Column: A Story of the Twentieth Century Ignatius Donnelly, 2017-03-17 1890 Dystopian Science Fiction Alternate History CHAPTER I THE GREAT CITY This book is a series of letters from Gabriel Weltstein in New York to his brother Heinrich Weltstein in the State of Uganda Africa NEW YORK Sept 10 1988 My Dear Brother Here I am at last in the great city My eyes are weary with gazing and my mouth speechless with admiration but in my brain rings perpetually the thought Wonderful wonderful most wonderful What an infinite thing is man as revealed in the tremendous civilization he has built up These swarming laborious all capable ants seem great enough to attack heaven itself if they could but find a resting place for their ladders Who can fix a limit to the intelligence or the achievements of our species But our admiration may be here and our hearts elsewhere And so from all this glory and splendor I turn back to the old homestead amid the high mountain valleys of Africa to the primitive simple shepherd life

Family Men Laura King,2015-01-15 Fathers are often neglected in histories of family life in Britain Family Men provides the first academic study of fathers and families in the period from the First World War to the end of the 1950s It takes a thematic approach examining different aspects of fatherhood from the duties it encompassed to the ways in which it related to men's identities

The historical approach is socio cultural each chapter examines a wide range of historical source materials in order to analyse both cultural representations of fatherhood and related social norms as well as exploring the practices and experiences of individuals and families It uncovers the debates surrounding parenting and family life and tells the stories of men and their children While many historians have examined men s relationship to the home and family in histories of gender family life domestic spaces and class cultures more generally few have specifically examined fathers as crucial family members as historical actors and as emotional individuals The history of fatherhood is extremely significant to contemporary debate assumptions about fatherhood in the past are constantly used to support arguments about the state of fatherhood today and the need for change or otherwise in the future Laura King charts men s changing experiences of fatherhood suggesting that although the roles and responsibilities fulfilled by men did not shift rapidly their relationships position in the family and identities underwent significant change between the start of the First World War and the 1960s
