perspectives on beginning writing are presented in this volume with a particular focus on Vygotsky's concept of the zone of proximal development a period of sensitivity in which learning advances The proposed mechanism of change is verbal mediation talk among peers and teachers as they discuss work in progress which moves the children through the zone of proximal development An open whole language approach to literacy instruction makes the classroom in this book an ideal arena in which to observe verbal mediation in operation Children are free to question criticize and argue and in the process they collectively advance their developing ability to use written language The work is unique in that the rich and comprehensive data record is reproduced in its entirety More than 400 illustrations of the children's products two books apiece pictured before and after the children's revisions are included along with transcripts of the conferences about each of the pages permitting direct observation of the effects of verbal mediation This dynamic study documents change during a period of time when specific learning is occurring and provides strong support for the value and power of Vygotsky's theoretical framework

The New Social Story Book Carol Gray, 2000 Takes autistic children step by step through everyday activities

Teaching English in Africa Anderson, Jason, 2016-04-30 Teaching English in Africa is a practical guide written for primary and secondary school teachers working all over the continent This book relates the practice of English language teaching directly to the African context As well as covering the underlying theory of how children learn languages and how teachers can best facilitate this learning it also provides practical resources and ideas for activities and techniques that have proved successful in English classrooms in Africa both at primary and secondary level It is intended to be a practical guide so references and citations are kept to a minimum and concepts are presented using examples that are likely to be familiar to most teachers working in Africa If there is a bias in this book it is towards the needs of teachers working in low resource isolated contexts in Africa as these teachers are so often neglected by literature on teaching methodology
