Dark Harbor Mark Strand, 1994-06-28 Pulitzer Prize winner Mark Strand gives us a poem in forty five sections that despite its wide range and shifting mood and tone is all of a piece Here Strand speaks candidly to the reader conversing offering urban wit and surrealist digressions that draw on our innermost sensations and the outermost reaches of our reality Is what exists a souvenir of the time Of the great nought and deep night without stars The time before the universe began When we look at each other and see nothing Is that not a confirmation that we are less Than meets the eye and embody some of The night of our origins A timeless pursuit of timeless questions Dark Harbor centers on uncertainty and the known family and isolation the possible and the real The poems in this book are easily recognizable as the world of one of our most interesting and influential poets

The Weather of Words Mark Strand, 2000 From the Pulitzer Prize winning poet a brilliant and witty collection of writings on the art and nature of poetry a master class both entertaining and provocative The pieces have a broad range and many levels In one we sit with the teenage Mark Strand while he reads for the first time a poem that truly amazes him You Andrew Marvell by Archibald MacLeish in which night sweeps in an unstoppable but exhilarating circle around the earth toward the speaker standing at noon The essay goes on to explicate the poem but it also evokes through its form and content the poem's meaning time's circular passage with the young Strand first happening upon the poem the older Strand seeing into it differently but still amazed Among the other subjects Strand explores the relationship between photographs and poems the eternal nature of the lyric the contemporary use of old forms four American views of Parnassus and an alphabet of poetic influences We visit as well Strandian parallel universes whose absurdity illuminates the lack of a vital discussion of poetry in our culture at large Borges drops in on a man taking a bath perches on the edge of the tub and discusses translation a president explains in his farewell address why he reads Chekhov to his cabinet Throughout The Weather of Words Mark Strand explores the crucial job of poets and their readers who together joyfully attempt the impossible to understand through language that which lies beyond words
