Strangers on a Train Patricia Highsmith, 2016 In this mesmerizing novel not to be recommended for the weak minded and impressionable Washington Post we encounter Guy Haines a successful architect in the midst of a divorce and Charles Anthony Bruno a conniving psychopath who manipulates a chance encounter with Guy into a sadistic plot to swap murders Some people are better off dead says Bruno like your wife and my father for instance As Bruno carries out his twisted plan Guy becomes trapped in Patricia Highsmith's perilous world where under the right circumstances anyone is capable of murder Still her most iconic novel Strangers on a Train elicits the menace that lurks in familiar surroundings Time and the unsettling forces that tremble beneath the surface of everyday life

Side-Stepping Normativity in Selected Short Stories by Sylvia Townsend Warner Rebecca K. Hahn, 2020-07-27 Side Stepping Normativity Selected Short Stories by Sylvia Townsend Warner discusses Sylvia Townsend Warner's highly innovative narrative style which does not conform to conventional modernist or postmodernist standards and explores how Warner's short stories shift to off centre positions Side Stepping Normativity further outlines the way in which Warner constantly challenges the categories we apply to classify our surroundings and analyses how Warner succeeds in creating queer that is non heteronormative as well strange and peculiar stories without explicitly opposing the so called norms of her time In this Side Stepping Normativity joins a vibrant conversation in queer studies which revolves around the question how critics can approach literary texts from a non antagonistic position Rather than focussing on the role of the critic however this thesis shows that Warner's texts have long achieved what queer theorists seek to achieve on an analytical level

The Virago Story Catherine Riley, 2018-04-23 The 1970s witnessed a renaissance in women's print culture as feminist presses and bookshops sprang up in the wake of the second wave women's movement At four decades remove from that heady era however the landscape looks dramatically different with only one press from the period still active in contemporary publishing Virago This engaging history explains how from modest beginnings Virago managed to weather epochal transformations in gender politics literary culture and the book publishing business Drawing on original interviews with many of the press's principal figures it gives a compelling account of Virago's place in recent women's history while also reflecting on the fraught relationship between activism and commerce

Virago Reprints and Modern Classics D-M Withers, 2021-05-20 Reprinting republishing and re-covering old books in new clothes is an established publishing practice How are books that have fallen out of taste and favour resituated by publishers and recognised by readers as relevant and timely This Element outlines three historical textures within British culture of the late 1970s and early 1980s History

Remembrance and Heritage that enabled Virago's reprint publishing to become a commercial and cultural success. With detailed archival case studies of the Virago Reprint Library Testament of Youth and the Virago Modern Classics it elaborates how reprints were profitable for the publisher and moved Virago's books and the Virago brand name from the periphery of culture to the centre. Throughout Virago's reprint publishing and especially with the Modern Classics the epistemic revelation that women writers were forgotten and could therefore be rediscovered was repeated again and again and made culturally productive through the marketplace.

Legacies and Lifespans in Contemporary Women's Writing Gina

Wisker, Leanne Bibby, Heidi Yeandle, 2023-07-03 This book examines the connections and conversations between women writers from the twentieth century and the twenty first century. The essays consider the ways in which twenty first century women writers look back and respond to their predecessors within the field of contemporary women's writing. The book looks back to the foundations of contemporary women's writing and also considers how this category may be defined in future decades. We ask how writers and readers have interpreted the contemporary a moving target and an often contentious term especially in light of feminist theory and criticism of the late twentieth century. Writing about the relationships between women's writings is an always vital ongoing political project with a rich history. These essays argue that establishing and defining the contemporary is for women writers another ongoing political project to which this collection of essays aims in part to contribute.

Love Elizabeth von Arnim, 2014-03-06

A gentle romance begins innocently enough in the stalls of a London theatre where Catherine is enjoying her ninth and Christopher his thirty sixth visit to the same play. He is a magnificent young man with flame coloured hair. She is the sweetest little thing in a hat. There is just one complication. Christopher is twenty five while Catherine is just a little bit older. Flattered by the passionate attentions of youth Catherine, with marriage and motherhood behind her, is at first circumspect but finally succumbs to her lover's charms. The engaging humour of this autobiographical novel blunts the bitter edge of irony in the hypocrisy of 1920s society.

The Mask of Apollo Mary Renault, 2015-08-06 Mary Renault is a shining light to both historical novelists and their readers She does not pretend the past is like the present or that the people of ancient Greece were just like us She shows us their strangeness discerning sure footed challenging our values piquing our curiosity she leads us through an alien landscape that moves and delights us HILARY MANTEL Mary Renault's portraits of the ancient world are fierce complex and eloquent infused at every turn with her life long passion for the Classics Her characters live vividly both in their own time and in ours MADELINE MILLER Combining the scholarship of a historian with the imagination of a novelist Mary Renault brings the ancient Greek stage thrillingly to life Set in fourth century B C Greece The Mask of Apollo is narrated by Nikeratos a tragic actor who takes with him on all his travels a gold mask of Apollo a relic of the theatre's golden age which is now past At first his mascot the mask gradually becomes his conscience and he refers to it his gravest decisions when he finds himself at the centre of a political crisis in which the philosopher Plato is also involved Much of the action is set in Syracuse where Plato's friend Dion is trying to persuade the young tyrant Dionysios the Younger to accept the rule of law Through Nikeratos eyes the reader watches as the clash between the two unleashes all the pent up violence in the city All my sense of the ancient world its values its style the scent of its wars and passions comes from Mary Renault I turned to writing historical fiction because of something I learned from Renault that it lets you shake off the mental shackles of your own era all the categories and labels and write freely about what really matters to you EMMA DONOGHUE There's much to wonder at in the way she fills in the large dark spaces where we know next to nothing about the times she describes an important and wonderful writer she set a course into serious minded psychologically intense historical fiction that today seems more important than ever Sam Jordison Guardian

The Journalist in British Fiction and Film Sarah Lonsdale, 2016-07-14 Why did Edwardian novelists portray journalists as swashbuckling truth seeking super heroes whereas post WW2 depictions present the journalist as alienated outsider Why are contemporary fictional journalists often deranged murderous or intensely vulnerable As newspaper journalism faces the double crisis of a lack of trust post Leveson and a lack of influence in the fragmented internet age how do cultural producers view journalists and their role in society today In The Journalist in British Fiction and Film Sarah Lonsdale traces the ways in which journalists and newspapers have been depicted in fiction theatre and film from the dawn of the mass popular press to the present day The book asks first how journalists were represented in various distinct periods of the 20th century and then attempts to explain why these representations vary so widely This is a history of the British press told not by historians and sociologists but by writers and directors as well as journalists themselves In uncovering dozens of forgotten fictions Sarah

Lonsdale explores the bare knuckled literary combat conducted by writers contesting the disputed boundaries between literature and journalism Within these texts and films there is perhaps also a clue as to how the best aspects of Fourth estate journalism can survive in the digital age Authors covered in the volume include Martin Amis Graham Greene George Orwell Pat Barker Evelyn Waugh Elizabeth Bowen Arnold Wesker and Rudyard Kipling Television and films covered include House of Cards US and UK versions Spotlight Defence of the Realm Secret State and State of Play The Lost Traveller Antonia White,2011-02-17 When Clara returns home from the convent of her childhood to begin life at a local girls school she is at a loss although she has comparative freedom she misses the discipline the nuns imposed and worries about keeping her faith in a secular world Against the background of the First World War Clara experiences the confusions of adolescence its promise its threat of change She longs for love yet fears it and wonders what the future will hold Then tragedy strikes and her childhood haltingly comes to an end as she realises that neither parents nor her faith can help her The Lost Traveller is the first in the trilogy sequel to Frost in May which continues with The Sugar House and Beyond the Glass Although each is a complete novel in itself together they form a brilliant portrait of a young girl s journey to adulthood Daily Modernism Elizabeth Podnieks,2000-01-26 Redrawing established boundaries between genres Podnieks builds a broad critical and theoretical range on which she maps the diary as an aesthetic work showing how diaries inscribe the aesthetics of literary modernisms Drawing on feminist theory literary history biography and personal anecdotes she argues that the diary is an especially subversive space for women writers Podnieks details how Virginia Woolf Antonia White Elizabeth Smart and Ana s Nin wrote their diaries under the pretence that they were private while always intending them to be published She travelled extensively to examine the original diary manuscripts and offers unique first hand descriptions of the manuscripts that underscore the artistic intentions of their authors Daily Modernism contributes to the ongoing feminist revision of literary history and in its disruption of traditional concepts of major and minor literary forms paves the way for a much needed reconsideration of the diary as a valid literary achievement The Last of the Wine Mary Renault,2015-08-06 All my sense of the ancient world its values its style the scent of its wars and passions comes from Mary Renault Her Theseus novels are perhaps the most exciting of her Greek fictions and The Last of the Wine the most moving I turned to writing historical fiction because of something I learned from Renault that it lets you shake off the mental shackles of your own era all the categories and labels and write freely about what really matters to you EMMA DONOGHUE Mary Renault s portraits of the ancient world are fierce complex and eloquent infused at every turn with her life long passion for the Classics Her characters live vividly both in their own time and in ours MADELINE MILLER Combining the scholarship of a historian with the imagination of a novelist Mary Renault masterfully brings the ancient world to life in this page turning drama of the Peloponnesian War Alexias a young Athenian of good family comes of age during the last phases of the Peloponnesian War The adult world he enters is one in which the power and influence of his class have been undermined by the forces of war Alexias finds himself
