The Pastoral Care of Psychiatric Patients
within the Christian Congregation

We are required to take part, along with the rest of society, in an intensive social revolution that involves integrating the mentally ill into the community. Compared with many social revolutions this may seem insignificant. It isn't.

Beasley, 2010-01-25 This study offers a new and challenging look at Christian institutions and practices in Britain's Caribbean and southern American colonies Focusing on the plantation societies of Barbados Jamaica and South Carolina Nicholas M Beasley finds that the tradition of liturgical worship in these places was more vibrant and more deeply rooted in European Christianity than previously thought In addition Beasley argues white colonists attachment to religious continuity was thoroughly racialized Church customs sacraments and ceremonies were a means of regulating slavery and asserting whiteness Drawing on a mix of historical and anthropological methods Beasley covers such topics as church architecture pew seating customs marriage baptism communion and funerals Colonists created an environment in sacred time and space that framed their rituals for maximum social impact and they asserted privilege and power by privatizing some rituals and by meting out access to rituals to people of color Throughout Beasley is sensitive to how this culture of worship changed as each colony reacted to its own political environmental and demographic circumstances across time Local factors influencing who partook in Christian rituals and how when and where these rituals took place could include the structure of the Anglican Church which tended to be less hierarchical and centralized than at home in England the level of tensions between Anglicans and Protestants the persistence of African religious beliefs and colonists attitudes toward free persons of color and elite slaves This book enriches an existing historiography that neglects the cultural power of liturgical Christianity in the early South and the British Caribbean and offers a new account of the translation of early modern English Christianity to early America      The Church Review, 1856      The Church of Scotland Home and Foreign Mission Record Church of Scotland, 1892      The Junior Munsey, 1901      The Working Church Charles Franklin Thwing, 1913      The Fourth Church, 1911      Paralysis in the Pew Dr. Jeffrey T. Rainey, 2016-09-26 The author admits that the church has the highest unemployment rates The church has been gifted by the Lord with many vital ministries that are available for the growth of the body of Christ Sadly the greater percentage of members are neither enrolled nor engaged in the work of the ministry As a result very few members keep the local church functioning while the majority of the members because of what the author calls functional paralysis have neither feeling nor desire to function Too many congregants are a part of the membership but apart from the ministry Too many are unaware or uncaring concerning the needs of the body and of the body's genuine need for them in order to effectively function What the author describes as paralysis in the pew is a grave yet growing spiritual condition within the local churches As a physical impediment paralysis has been drastically improved even cured with the aid of physical therapy prescribed treatments and personal trust and initiative It is the authors contention that parallel treatmentswhen viewed spiritually and applied in the spiritual and physical realmcan drastically improve even cure paralysis in the pew      The Church review, and ecclesiastical register [afterw.]
