Governance for Sustainable Working Landscapes Timothy M. Gieseke, 2016-08-05. Sustaining our agricultural landscapes is no longer just a technical, scientific, or even political problem; but it has evolved into a socially complex, so-called wicked problem of conflicting social governance and economics. This creates an extreme economic obstacle where the value of ecosystem services remains low and diffuse, and the transactions costs remain high and multiple. Using Uber-like business platform technology and a shared governance model, a symbiotic demand for environmental benefits is created. Enabling multi-sector transactions for environmental benefits, this platform innovation would remedy the tragedy of the commons, the economic nemesis to achieving landscape sustainability. In a nutshell, to sustain our agricultural landscapes, a transdisciplinary approach supported by a shared governance model housed within a multi-sided platform is needed. This book introduces an assessment framework identifying governance actors, styles, and ratios for socio-ecological systems. The assessment uses a new governance compass to identify the types of actors completing which tasks and identifies the styles of governance used to complete the tasks. It is aimed to anyone involved in sustainability science, agricultural policy planning, or integrated landscape design. Review, 1996 Journal of the House of Representatives of the United States
