Social Organization And Behavior Of The Acorn Woodpecker In Central Coastal California:

Social Organization and Behavior of the Acorn Woodpecker in Central Coastal California Michael H. MacRoberts, Barbara R. MacRoberts, 1976 Social Behavior of Female Vertebrates Samuel Wasser, 2012-12-02 Social Behavior of Female Vertebrates focuses on the evolution of reproductive behavior in female vertebrates ranging from fish to birds and humans including issues of mate choice and other factors underlying female attitudes toward males It also looks at the evolution of mating systems the co evolution of the sexes sex role reversal reproductive competition between females maternal behavior and how females enhance the investment received by their offspring from others It also considers other social behaviors that influence the nature of affiliative associations between females Organized into three parts encompassing 13 chapters this volume begins with an overview of behavioral biology and sources of variation in female reproductive success It then discusses the establishment and maintenance of sex biases sex differences mediated by sexual selection constraints on female choice in the mottled sculpin mate choice by females in sexual selection of bird song and female manipulation of male avoidance of cuckoldry behavior in the ring dove The reader is also introduced to the evolution of polyandry in shorebirds reproductive strategies in human females social and health seeking behaviors of Taiwanese women female roles in cooperatively breeding acorn woodpeckers altruism in coati bands cooperation and reproductive competition among female African elephants mate choice in matrilineal macaque groups and reproductive competition and cooperation among female yellow baboons This book is a valuable resource for scientists and behavioral biologists as well as lay people whose interests span a variety of fields Cooperative Breeding in Birds Peter B. Stacey, Walter D. Koenig, 1990-04-19 Cooperative breeding is an unusual kind of social behaviour found in a few hundred species worldwide in which individuals other than the parents help raise young Understanding the apparently altruistic behaviour of helpers has provided numerous challenges to evolutionary biologists This book includes detailed first hand summaries of many of the major empirical studies of cooperatively breeding birds It provides comparative information on the demography social behaviour and behavioural ecology of these unusual species and explores the diversity of ideas and the controversies which have developed in this field The studies are all long term and consequently the book summarises some of the most extensive studies of the behaviour of marked individuals ever undertaken Graduate students and research workers in ornithology sociobiology behavioural ecology and evolutionary biology will find much of value in this book Management of Wildlife and Fish Habitats in Forests of Western Oregon and Washington , 1985 Okanogan National Forest (N.F.), Wenatchee National Forest (N.F.), Methow Transmission Project , 2006 Six Rivers National Forest (N.F.), Beaverslide Timber Sale and Fuel Treatment Project , 2010 Management of Wildlife and Fish Habitats in Forests of Western Oregon and Washington: Appendices , 1985 The Florida Scrub Jay Glen Everett Woolfenden, John W. Fitzpatrick, 2020-03-31 Florida Scrub Jays are an excellent example of a cooperative breeding species in which adult birds often help raise offspring not their own For more than a decade Glen E Woolfenden and John W Fitzpatrick studied a marked population of these birds in an attempt to establish a demographic base for understanding the phenomenon of helping at the nest By studying both population biology and behavior the authors found that habitat restraints rather than kin selection are the main source of the behavior of Florida Scrub Jays the goal of increasing the number of close relatives other than descendants in future generations is of relatively minor importance in their cooperative breeding behavior The Florida Scrub Jay lives only in the Florida oak scrub All acceptable habitat is constantly filled with breeders Each year about half of the pairs are assisted by one to several nonbreeding helpers This book provides extensive data on fecundity survivorship relatedness and dispersal to establish the demographic milieu and to address questions arising out of observed helping behavior whom how when and why the helpers help

Cooperative Breeding in Vertebrates Walter D. Koenig, Janis L. Dickinson, 2016-01-07 Cooperative breeders are species in which individuals beyond a pair assist in the production of young in a single brood or litter Although relatively rare cooperative breeding is widespread taxonomically and continues to pose challenges to our understanding of the evolution of cooperation and altruistic behavior Bringing together long term studies of cooperatively breeding birds mammals and fish this volume provides a synthesis of current studies in the field The chapters are organised by individual studies of particular species or in the case of mole rats two closely related cooperatively breeding species Each focuses not only on describing behavior and ecology but also on testing evolutionary hypotheses for the form and function of the diverse and extraordinary cooperative breeding lifestyles that have been discovered This unique and comprehensive text will be of interest to graduate students and researchers of behavioral ecology and the evolution of cooperation
