We delve into the multifaceted role of social workers in addressing social issues, advocating for social justice, and driving systemic change within political contexts. Our book begins with an in-depth analysis of key concepts such as advocacy, policy analysis, social justice, and community organizing, providing readers with a solid understanding of the foundational principles of political social work. As readers progress, they encounter discussions on intersectionality, ethical considerations in advocacy, and strategies for effective policy change. We also explore the nuances of working within diverse communities, empowering individuals and groups, and fostering community resilience through grassroots mobilization and coalition building. Case studies and real-world examples illuminate the practical application of political social work theories and methods, offering insights into the challenges and successes faced by social workers in their quest for social change. Furthermore, we examine emerging trends and future directions in political social work, such as technology integration in advocacy, global perspectives on social justice, and innovative approaches to addressing environmental and health-related challenges. Emphasizing critical consciousness, data ethics, and lifelong learning, we equip readers with the knowledge and skills needed to navigate the complexities of political social work and promote social justice and equity.      Issues Around Aligning Theory, Research and Practice in Social Work Education Allucia L. Shokane, Jabulani C. Makhubele, Lisa V. Blitz, 2018-12-01 Issues Around Aligning Theory, Research and Practice in Social Work Education provides a reflection on social work education with a slant towards an Afrocentric approach, aiming to facilitate strong reflective thinking and to address local realities about social work education on the African continent as well as in broader global contexts. This volume focuses on issues around aligning theory, research, and practice in social work education. A significant contribution is made here to the scholarly understanding of opportunities to sustain the academic discourse on social work education. Social work as a profession and a social science discipline is dynamic, and it ought to meet the challenges of the realities of the societies in which it serves. Given the history of the changing society of South Africa from apartheid to democracy, over the years social work education and training has undergone tremendous curricular changes with the enactment of the White Paper for Social Welfare and the national review, respectively, by the South African Council for Social Services Professions (SACSSP) and the Council on Higher Education (CHE) for the re-accreditation of all Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) programmes in South Africa, fulfilling the prescripts of the Higher Education Act No 101 of 1997 as amended and Social Service Professions Act No 110 of 1978. It is worth mentioning that the curricular changes will also continue with the current reviewing of Social Service Professions Act No 110 of 1978 as amended, which is underway in South Africa. This book is really ground-breaking. The Afrocentric perspective on social work practice contributes to the current discourse on decolonisation of social work teaching and practice. From a methodological perspective, the book is premised on multi-inter and trans-disciplining in social sciences.

It covers aspects of social work education and practice through research narrative qualitative African methodology secondary data analysis etc engendering values and ethics report writing supervision in fieldwork as well as exchange programmes and international service learning addressing a number of concepts such as cultural competency cultural awareness and sensitivity are addressed
