to reduce this suffering through better managing floods is a big societal challenge To date societal initiatives to address this challenge mainly consist of the construction of embankments along the river bank to control hydrological processes and discipline the river Yet such embankments generate their own hydrological and societal responses in sometimes unexpected ways The study of these interactions and feedback mechanisms between hydrological and social processes is a new academic field one that is particularly relevant in a dynamic delta such as Bangladesh This research sets out to explore the phenomena opportunities and risks generated by the interactions between physical and societal processes along the Jamuna River in Bangladesh It conceptualize these interactions as temporally dynamic and spatially diverse combinations of fighting and living with water The research proposes the concept of Socio hydrological spaces SHSs to enrich the study of socio hydrology A SHS is a geographical area in a landscape Its particular combination of hydrological and social features gives rise to the emergence of distinct interactions and dynamics patterns between society and water The SHSs concept suggests that the interactions between society and water are place bound and specific because of differences in social processes technological choices and opportunities and hydrological dynamics Through the concept of SHS this research does not only contribute to advance the knowledge about socio hydrological dynamics in Bangladesh but also provides more general insights for flood risk management
