The Merchant Prince of Poverty Row

Bernard F. Dick, 2021-10-19 Ben Hecht called him White Fang and director Charles Vidor took him to court for verbal abuse The image of Harry Cohn as vulgarian is such a part of Hollywood lore that it is hard to believe there were other Harry Cohns the only studio president who was also head of production the ex song plugger who scrutinized scripts and grilled writers at story conferences a man who could see actresses as either broads or goddesses Drawing on personal interviews as well as previously unstudied source material conference notes memos and especially the teletypes between Harry and his brother Jack Bernard Dick offers a radically different portrait of the man who ran Columbia Pictures and who had to be boss from 1932 to 1958 Marilyn Lois Banner, 2012-08-02 As one of the founders of the field of women s history Lois Banner reveals Marilyn Monroe in the way that only a top notch historian and biographer could Banner appreciates the complexities of Monroe s personal life in the context of her achievements as an actor singer dancer comedian model and courtesan

Dick,2025-05-15 Loretta Young 1913 2000 was an Academy Award winning actress known for devout Catholicism and her performances in The Farmer's Daughter The Bishop's Wife and Come to the Stable and for her long running and tremendously popular television series But that was not the whole story Hollywood Madonna explores the full saga of Loretta Young's professional and personal life She made her film debut at age four became a star at fifteen and many awards and accolades later made her final television movie at age seventy six This biography withholds none of the details of her affair with Clark Gable and the daughter that powerful love produced Bernard F Dick places Young's affair in the proper context of the time and the choices available to women in 1935 especially a noted Catholic like Young whose career would have been in ruins if the public knew of her tryst With the birth of a daughter who would have been branded a love child Loretta Young reached the crossroads of disclosure and deception choosing the latter path That choice resulted in an illustrious career for her and a tortured childhood for her daughter

Lofaro,2012-02-25 Drawn mainly from the centennial anniversary symposium on James Agee held at the University of Tennessee in the fall of 2009 the essays of Agee at 100 are as diverse in topic and purpose as is Agee s work itself Often devalued during his life by those who thought his breadth a hindrance to greatness Agee s achievements as a poet novelist journalist essayist critic documentarian and screenwriter are now more fully recognized With its use of previously unknown and recently recovered materials as well as established works this groundbreaking new collection is a timely contribution to the resurgence of interest in Agee s significance The essays in this collection range from the scholarly to the personal and all offer insight into Agee s writing his cultural influence and ultimately Agee himself Dwight Garner opens with his reflective essay on Why Agee Matters Several essays present almost entirely new material on Agee Paul Ashdown writes on Agee s book reviews which unlike Agee s film criticism have received scant attention With evidence from two largely unstudied manuscripts Jeffrey Couchman sets the record straight on Agee s contribution to the screenplay for The African Queen and delves as well into his television miniseries screenplay Mr Lincoln John Wranovics treats Agee s lesser known films the documentaries In the Street and The Quiet One and the Filipino epic Genghis Khan Jeffrey J Folks wrestles with Agee s culture of repudiation while James A Crank investigates his perplexing treatment of race in his prose Jesse Graves and Andrew Crooke provide new analyses of Let Us Now Praise Famous Men and Michael A Lofaro and Philip Stogdon both discuss Lofaro s recently restored text of A Death in the Family David Madden closes the collection with his short story Seeing Agee in Lincoln an imagined letter from Agee to his longtime confidante Father Flye The contributors to Agee at 100 utilize materials new and old to reveal the true importance of Agee s range of cultural sensibility and literary ability Film scholars will also find this collection particularly engrossing as will anyone fascinated by the work of the author rightly deemed the sovereign prince of the English language

Twentieth-Century American Fiction on Screen R. Barton Palmer, 2007-02-22 The essays in this collection analyse major film adaptations of twentieth century American fiction from F Scott Fitzgerald's The Last Tycoon to Toni Morrison's Beloved. During the century films based on American literature came to play a central role in the history of the American cinema. Combining cinematic and literary approaches, this volume explores the adaptation process from conception through production and reception. The contributors explore the ways political and historical contexts have shaped the transfer from book to screen and the new perspectives that films bring to literary works. In particular, they examine how the twentieth century literary modes of realism, modernism, and postmodernism have influenced the forms of modern cinema. Written in a lively and accessible style, the book includes production stills and full filmographies. Together with its companion volume on nineteenth century fiction, the volume offers a comprehensive account of the rich tradition of American literature on screen.

Pictures at a Revolution Mark Harris, 2008 Documents the cultural revolution behind the making of 1967's five Best Picture nominated films including Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, The Graduate, Doctor Doolittle, In the Heat of the Night, and Bonnie and Clyde in an account that discusses how the movies reflected period beliefs about race, violence, and identity. 4000 first printing.

Picture Lillian Ross, 2019-04-30 A classic look at Hollywood and the American film industry by The New Yorker's Lillian Ross and named one of the Top 100 Works of U.S. Journalism of the Twentieth Century. Lillian Ross worked at The New Yorker for more than half a century and might be described not only as an outstanding practitioner of modern long form journalism but also as one of its inventors. Picture, originally published in 1952, is her most celebrated piece of reportage: a closely observed and completely absorbing story of how studio politics and misguided commercialism turn a promising movie into an all-around disaster. The charismatic and hard-bitten director and actor John Huston is at the center of the book, determined to make Stephen Crane's The Red Badge of Courage, one of the great and defining works of American literature, the first modern war novel, a book whose vivid imagistic style invites the description of cinematic into a movie that is worthy of it. At first all goes well as Huston shoots and puts together a two-hour film that is, he feels, the best he's ever made. Then the studio bosses step in and the audience previews begin; conferences are held and the movie is taken out of Huston's hands, cut down by a third, and finally released with results that please no one and certainly not the public. It was an expensive flop. In Picture, which Charlie Chaplin aptly described as brilliant and sagacious, Ross is a gadfly on the wall, taking note of the operations of a system designed to crank out mediocrity.

"Keep 'Em in the East" Richard Koszarski, 2021-07-20 The year 1955 was a watershed one for New York's film industry. Elia Kazan's On the Waterfront took home eight Oscars and more quietly Stanley Kubrick released the low-budget classic Killer's Kiss. A wave of films that changed how American movies were made soon followed, led by directors such as Sidney Lumet, William Friedkin, Francis Ford Coppola, and Martin Scorsese. Yet this resurgence could not have occurred without a deeply rooted tradition of local film production. Richard Koszarski chronicles the compelling and often surprising origins of New York's postwar film renaissance, looking beyond such classics as Naked City, Kiss of Death and Portrait of Jennie. He examines the social, cultural and economic forces that shaped New York filmmaking from city politics to union regulations and shows how decades of low budget independent production taught local filmmakers how to capture the city's grit, liveliness and allure. He reveals the importance of race films, all Black productions intended for segregated African American audiences that not only helped keep the film business afloat but also nurtured a core group of writers, directors, designers and technicians. Detailed production histories of On the Waterfront and Killer's Kiss, films that appear here in a completely new light, illustrate the distinctive characteristics of New York cinema. Drawing on a vast array of research including studio libraries, censorship records, union archives and interviews with participants, Keep Em in the East rewrites a crucial chapter in the history of American cinema.
