Spirit Of Tallinn:

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope, John Neubauer, 2006-09-13 Continuing the work undertaken in Vol 1 of the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe Vol 2 considers various topographic sites multicultural cities border areas cross cultural corridors multiethnic regions that cut across national boundaries rendering them permeable to the flow of hybrid cultural messages By focusing on the literary cultures of specific geographical locations this volume intends to put into practice a new type of comparative study Traditional comparative literary studies establish transnational comparisons and contrasts but thereby reconfirm however inadvertently the very national borders they play down This volume inverts the expansive momentum of comparative studies towards ever broader regional European and world literary histories While the theater of this volume is still the literary culture of East Central Europe the contributors focus on pinpointed local traditions and geographic nodal points Their histories of Riga Plovdiv Timișoara or Budapest of Transylvania or the Danube corridor to take a few examples reveal how each of these sites was during the last two hundred years a home for a variety of foreign or ethnic literary traditions next to the one now dominant within the national borders By foregrounding such non national or hybrid traditions this volume pleads for a diversification and pluralization of local and national histories A genuine comparatist revival of literary history should involve the recognition that treading on native grounds means actually treading on grounds cultivated by diverse people Battle in the Baltic Steve R Dunn, Al Ross, 2020-01-31 The little known campaign to save Latvian and Estonian independence Anyone interested in naval operations is likely to find some useful food for thought StrategyPage For most participants the First World War ended on November 11 1918 But Britain's Royal Navy found itself after four years of slaughter and war weariness fighting a fierce and brutal battle in the Baltic Sea against Bolshevik Russia in an attempt to protect the fragile independence of the newly liberated states of Estonia and Latvia This book describes the events of those two years when Royal Navy ships and men under the command of Rear Admiral Walter Cowan found themselves in a maelstrom of chaos and conflicting loyalties and facing multiple opponents the communist forces of the Red Army and Navy led by Leon Trotsky the gangs of freebooting German soldiers the Freikorps intent on keeping the Baltic states under German domination and the White Russian forces bent on retaking Petrograd and rebuilding the Russian Empire During this hard fought campaign there were successes on both sides For example the Royal Navy captured two destroyers that were given to the Estonians but the submarine L 55 was sunk by Russian warships lost with all hands Seeking revenge in a daring sequence of attacks and using small coastal motor boats the RN sank the cruiser Oleg and badly damaged two Russian battleships Today few people are aware of this exhausting campaign and the sacrifices made by Royal Navy sailors but this book retells their exciting but forgotten stories and using much firsthand testimony bring back to life the critical naval operations that prevented the retaking of the new Baltic countries that Churchill saw as an essential shield against the encroachment of the Bolsheviks into Europe and resulted in an uneasy peace that would prevail until 1939

with the tenets of Lutheran belief The volume not only addresses Lutheran art but also the way in which the architecture of their churches reflected the importance of preaching and the administration of the sacraments Furthermore the collection is committed to extending these discussions beyond a purely German context and to look at churches not only within the Holy Roman Empire but also in Scandinavia the Baltic States as well as towns dominated by Saxon communities in areas such as in Hungary and Transylvania By focusing on ecclesiastical material culture the collection helps to place the art and architecture of Lutheran places of worship into the historical political and theological context of early modern Europe places of religious education and an awe inspiring feast that satisfied both the senses and the soul Today in an age less attuned to iconography such places of worship are often seen merely as magnificent works of architecture This book restores the lost spiritual meaning of these fine and fascinating buildings The Secret Language of Churches Cathedrals provides a three part illustrated key by which modern visitors can understand the layout fabric and decorative symbolism of Christian sacred structures thereby bringing back to life their original atmosphere of awe and sanctity Part One is an analysis of structural features outside and in from spires and domes to clerestories and brasses Part Two is a theme by theme guide which identifies significant figures scenes stories animals flowers and the use of numbers letters and patterns in paintings carvings and sculpture Part Three is a historical decoder revealing the evolution of styles from basilicas through Byzantine Romanesque Gothic and beyond For all those who seek to know more about Christian art and architecture this richly illustrated book will instruct and delight in equal measure AgExporter ,1995
