The Formation of Pastoral Counselors Duane R. Bidwell, Joretta L. Marshall, 2012-11-12 Explore the concept of formation in pastoral counseling from a variety of perspectives Two dozen of the most prominent clinicians and scholars in the field reflect on The Formation of Pastoral Counselors from clinical theological and theoretical perspectives This unique book explores the challenges to the personal and professional formation of pastoral counselors in a cultural and historic context that's radically different from the era when the profession first emerged as a specialized ministry Contributors examine formation from a variety of contexts and perspectives including spirituality and gender address theological education and intercultural issues and present emerging models for pastoral counselors The Formation of Pastoral Counselors is a practical guide for educators working to shape curricula and training programs to the shifting context in which pastoral counselors are formed for ministry service and lifelong learning This unique book examines ideas about appropriate content and processes for the formation of pastoral care professionals and looks at specialized contextual training models that form their emerging identities. The book's contributors call on extensive experience in pastoral theology, care and counseling to explore the essential components of formation across different contexts, how those contextual realities change the delivery systems, the epistemological nature of formation, reasons for the limited roles that formal theological education and spiritual experience seem to play at the moment, and why formation is rarely formally addressed in pastoral counseling training. Topics discussed in The Formation of Pastoral Counselors include the turn to formation, the goals of theological education, core elements of pastoral theology, developing spiritual practices, diversity, pastoral counseling training programs, race and ethnicity in the formation of pastoral counselors, cultural identity, intercultural contexts, practical relevancy in training, gender identity and sexual orientation, economic disparity. Models and practices examined in The Formation of Pastoral Counselors include parallel charting, clinician narratives, group supervision, Benedictine spirituality, academic and clinical training at the Claremont School of Theology, the model of formation at the Virginia Institute of Pastoral Care (VIPCare) and much more. The Formation of Pastoral Counselors is an essential guide for pastoral counselors, faculty in pastoral theological care and counseling, and training directors in pastoral counseling centers.

What Is Spiritual Care? Pamela Cooper-White, Claudia Kohli Reichenbach, Emmanuel Y. Lartey, 2025-05-15. What is spiritual care? Much has been assumed as an answer to this question within particular professional and religious silos. The contributors to this volume offer fresh answers from perspectives of different caregiving professions: medicine, nursing, public health, psychology, pastoral care, and pastoral theology, different religious traditions (Islam, Judaism, Christianity, and Buddhism), and different cultural contexts. Certain red threads become apparent: the importance of deep listening, openness to difference, willingness to recognize the importance of spiritual care as practiced in different professions and religions, respect for the inherent dignity of every person, and support for each individual's unique spiritual journey. At the same time, the diversity of voices makes clear, both by juxtaposition and argumentation, that the hegemony of a mid-twentieth-century white American Protestant tradition of pastoral care is being reevaluated, contested, expanded, and even decolonized, as voices formerly from the margins are being brought to the center and the spiritual needs of persons from many different traditions and locations are increasingly being met on their own terms. The cumulative impact of this work emphasizes that spiritual care is finally inseparable from larger efforts toward justice and peacemaking. This is an invaluable resource for healthcare providers, chaplains, and pastoral professionals.

Renewing Pastoral Practice Neil Pembroke, 2013-05-28. This is the first comprehensive treatment of the relationship between the doctrine of the Trinity and pastoral care and counselling. Neil Pembroke contends that an in-depth reflection on the relational dynamics in the Godhead has the capacity to radically renew pastoral practice. Pembroke applies the notion of relational space to care in a parish setting. The life of the triune God is defined by both closeness and open space. The divine persons indwell each other in love, but they also provide space for the expression of particularity. This principle of closeness with space is applied in three different pastoral contexts, namely community life spiritual friendship and pastoral conversations The specialized ministry of pastoral counselling is the focus in the second half of the book Informing the various explorations is the principle of participation through love the divine persons participate in each other s existence through loving self communication Pembroke shows how this trinitarian virtue is at the centre of three key counselling dynamics the counselling alliance empathy and mirroring
