Splendid Symbols Mattiebelle Gittinger,1979 Splendid Symbols Mattiebelle Gittinger,1979-03-01 Splendid Symbols. Textiles and Traditional in Indonesia ,1990 Textile Trades, Consumer Cultures, and the Material Worlds of the Indian Ocean Pedro Machado,Sarah Fee,Gwyn Campbell,2018-02-09 This collection examines cloth as a material and consumer object from early periods to the twenty first century across multiple oceanic sites from Zanzibar Muscat and Kampala to Ajanta Srivijaya and Osaka It moves beyond usual focuses on a single fibre such as cotton or place such as India to provide a fresh expansive perspective of the ocean as an interaction based arena with an internal dynamism and historical coherence forged by material exchange and human relationships Contributors map shifting social cultural and commercial circuits to chart the many histories of cloth across the region They also trace these histories up to the present with discussions of contemporary trade in Dubai Zanzibar and Eritrea Richly illustrated this collection brings together new and diverse strands in the long story of textiles in the Indian Ocean past and present Fashionable Traditions Ayami Nakatani,2020-01-28 Textiles play a decisive role in history attire not only indicates status gender ethnicity and religion but illustrates how such boundaries are continuously being negotiated shifted and recreated Fashionable Traditions captures the complex reality of Asian handmade textile production and consumption From traditionalist discourse and cultural authenticity to fashion and market trends the contributors to this collection demonstrate the multilayered influence of often contradictory forces In depth ethnographic case studies reveal the entangled relationships between local artisans external interventions and consumers while acknowledging the broader frameworks in which such relationships are situated Together these stories offer a vivid account of the socio economic political and cultural dynamics in various parts of Asia and emphasize that fashion is neither a Western prerogative nor do its roots reside solely in the West The New World History Ross E. Dunn,Laura J. Mitchell,Kerry Ward,2016-08-23 The New World History is a comprehensive volume of essays selected to enrich world history teaching and scholarship in this rapidly expanding field The forty four articles in this book take stock of the history evolving literature and current trajectories of new world history These essays together with the editors introductions to thematic chapters encourage educators and students to reflect critically on the development of the field and to explore concepts approaches and insights valuable to their own work The selections are organized in ten chapters that survey the history of the movement the seminal ideas of founding thinkers and today s practitioners changing concepts of world historical space and time comparative methods environmental history the big history movement globalization debates over the meaning of Western power and ongoing questions about the intellectual premises and assumptions that have shaped the field The Cambridge Global History of Fashion: Volume 1 Christopher Breward,Beverly Lemire,Giorgio Riello,2023-08-17 Volume I surveys the long history of fashion from the ancient world to c 1800 The volume seeks to answer fundamental questions on the origins of fashion challenging Eurocentric explanations that the emergence of fashion was a European phenomenon and shows instead that fashion found early expressions across the globe well before the age of European colonialism and imperialism. It sheds light on how fashion was experienced in a multitude of ways depending on class, gender and race and despite geographical distance, fashion connected populations across the globe. Fashions flowered and were reseeded through entanglements of empire, forced and voluntary migration, evolving racial systems, burgeoning sea travel and transcontinental systems.

Sea Hunters of Indonesia Robert Harrison Barnes, 1996. Sea Hunters of Indonesia is a comprehensive study of the coastal community of Lamalera whose traditional ways of life make it unique. One is an unusual kind of sea fishing: the hunting of whales, porpoises and giant manta rays. The other is the production by the women of the community of remarkable fine dyed textiles. Recently these traditions have come under intense pressure from external economic influences and the people of Lamalera are starting to move into modern occupations. The community, famous for the beauty of its setting as well as for its crafts, is now a major tourist attraction and it may now survive only as part of the tourist industry. At this crucial point in the history of the region, R. H. Barnes offers a richly detailed and beautifully illustrated picture of the culture and economy of Lamalera, the fruit of many years' study. He records all aspects of life in Lamalera and places it in the broader context of the past, present and future of Indonesia as a whole.

Ganga to Mekong Hema

Devare, 2025-10-27. Textiles have been the binding factor in the cultural history of India and Southeast Asia from times immemorial. As the foremost currency, they were carried by the traders from the banks of river Ganga to the fertile areas around the river Mekong and to the rich spice islands of Suvarnadwipa, Indonesia. Over the centuries, these textiles turned into vehicles of culture that built the foundation for an enduring, multi-layered and multi-coloured relationship. The painted textiles from the Coromandel coast, the block-printed fabrics and the double-ikat patola from Gujarat enticed Southeast Asian royalty and masses alike. These trade textiles, considered ritually powerful and imbued with magical qualities, played an integral role in binding India with Southeast Asia while becoming a part of the regional folklore, ceremonies and rituals. Over time, they were seamlessly assimilated into the local culture. This cultural amalgam was here to stay as solid as the rocks of Borobudur and Konark and as intricately woven as the double-ikat patola, which is the cultural legacy of India in Southeast Asia.

The History of Indonesia Steven Drakeley, 2005-09-30. Culturally and politically, Indonesia is one of the more complex countries in the world, with 336 ethnic groups speaking 583 languages and dialects. It is only recently that these people have been contained within one political framework. Throughout most of history, Indonesia's inhabitants were divided politically in many different ways as a bewildering array of kingdoms and empires rose and fell within the region. Since independence in 1945, one of the challenges Indonesia faces is constructing a unified national identity. Through six chapters, Drakeley discusses Indonesian history beginning with settlement and social development in 5,000 BCE through the Colonial Era, the Independence Movement, the Sukarno Era and the Soeharto Era to the 2004 elections. Ideal for students and general readers, The History of Indonesia is part of Greenwood's Histories of Modern Nations series. With over thirty nation's histories in print, these books provide readers with a concise up to date history of countries throughout the world Reference features include a biographical section highlighting famous figures in Indonesian history a timeline of important historical events a glossary of terms and a bibliographical essay with suggestions for further reading
