Style And Function Conceptual Issues In Evolutionary Archaeology:

Style and Function Teresa D. Hurt, Gordon Rakita, 2000-10-30 The topics of style and function within evolutionary archaeology have been the subject of great debate in the field of archaeology in general over the past two decades Evolutionary archaeologists have a unique perspective on these concepts one that has sometimes been misunderstood by archaeologists working within other theoretical perspectives The dichotomy between style and function was first formulated in the late 1970s by Robert Dunnell and remains axiomatic within the theoretical perspective of evolutionary archaeology The original definitions of style and function were grounded in biological evolutionary concepts regarding neutral variation versus variation that is subject to natural selection Several chapters expand upon these concepts and explore how Darwinian evolutionary theory may be used to understand the archaeological record Other chapters demonstrate this application through empirical case studies Dunnell provides a foreword introducing and re examining his original thesis This volume is the only text devoted to the topic of style and function within the literature of evolutionary archaeology It provides not only theoretical discussions and augmentation but also significant historical background regarding the development of the style function distinction within archaeology Moreover it presents several case studies that provide examples of how evolutionary style and function may be applied to the prehistoric record

Evolutionary and Interpretive Archaeologies Ethan Cochrane, Andrew Gardner, 2016-09-16 This collection of original articles compares various key archaeological topics agency violence social groups diffusion from evolutionary and interpretive perspectives These two strands represent the major current theoretical poles in the discipline By comparing and contrasting the insights they provide into major archaeological themes this volume demonstrates the importance of theoretical frameworks in archaeological interpretations Chapter authors discuss relevant Darwinian or interpretive theory with short archaeological and anthropological case studies to illustrate the substantive conclusions produced The book will advance debate and contribute to a better understanding of the goals and research strategies that comprise these distinct research traditions

Lithic Technological Systems and Evolutionary Theory Society for American Archaeology. Annual Meeting, 2015-01-22 This collection of essays brings together several different evolutionary perspectives to demonstrate how lithic technological systems are a byproduct of human behavior The essays cover a range of topics including human behavioral ecology cultural transmission phylogenetic analysis macroevolution and various applications of evolutionary ecology

Artifact Classification Dwight W Read, 2016-09-16 Archaeologists have been developing artifact typologies to understand cultural categories for as long as the discipline has existed Dwight Read examines these attempts to systematize the cultural domains in premodern societies through a historical study of pottery typologies He then offers a methodology for producing classifications that are both salient to the cultural groups that produced them and relevant for establishing cultural categories and timelines for the archaeologist attempting to understand the relationship between material culture and ideational culture of ancient societies

This volume is valuable to upper level students and professional archaeologists across the discipline The Oxford Handbook of Archaeological Ceramic Analysis Alice M. W. Hunt, 2017 This volume draws together topics and methodologies essential for the socio cultural mineralogical and geochemical analysis of archaeological ceramic one of the most complex and ubiquitous archaeomaterials in the archaeological record It provides an invaluable resource for archaeologists

Kom el-Hisn (ca. 2500-1900 BC) Anthony J. Cagle, Richard W. Redding, Robert J. Wenke, 2016-09-30 This volume presents the findings of three seasons of excavation in the 1980s at Kom el Hisn the mound of the fortress in the northwest Nile Delta This provincial community was often in the orbit of Memphis the capital and administrative center of Egypt's Old Kingdom period Small areas of occupations of the First Intermediate and early Middle Kingdom periods were also excavated One of the goals of the excavations was to complement and compare the substantial ancient textual record of this era with Kom el Hisn's archaeological record because such evidence is sparse for Lower Egypt between about 2500 and 1800 BC The findings presented here reveal the complexity of small Old Kingdom settlements in the context of the Memphite state organization and shed light on the changing relationships of this administrative center with its provincial communities Kom el Hisn's faunal floral lithic and architectural remains are presented and discussed in detail as are some theoretical and methodological issues relevant to this research With contributions by Paul E Buck Anthony J Cagle Michal Kobusiewicz Karla Kroeper Richard R Redding Sarah Sterling Robert J Wenke Wilma Wetterstrom Anna Wodzinska and Alexandra Witsell
