Substance Use in Social Work Education and Training Hilda

Loughran, Wulf Livingston, 2017-10-02 Substance use has become an increasingly common concern for all aspects of social work practice and especially when working with mental health and vulnerable families This requires all social workers to have sufficient education and training in alcohol and other drugs across a range of settings This volume presents evidence from a number of major studies which examine the current state of social work education in relation to substance use These contextual considerations are complemented by specific applied analyses which explore classroom methodological practice and theoretical considerations within both the UK and America Substance Use in Social Work Education and Training provides a strong evidence base for the effectiveness of appropriately targeted education and support given to social workers It further substantiates calls for a greater inclusion of more on substance use in social work education and curricula This book is based on a special issue of the journal Social Work Education
