Originally published in 1989 The extraordinary story of Britain s child migrants is one of 350 years of shaming exploitation Around 130 000 children some just 3 or 4 years old were shipped off to distant parts of the Empire the last as recently as 1967 For Britain it was a cheap way of emptying children s homes and populating the colonies with good British stock for the colonies it was a source of cheap labour Even after the Second World War around 10 000 children were transported to Australia where many were subjected to at best uncaring abandonment and at worst a regime of appalling cruelty Lost Children of the Empire tells the remarkable story of the Child Migrants Trust set up in 1987 to trace families and to help those involved to come to terms with what has happened But nothing can explain away the connivance and irresponsibility of the governments and organisations involved in this inhuman chapter of British history Kingsley Davis Kingsley Davis, David Heer's biography of Kingsley Davis is based on material contained in the Kingsley Davis Archive at the Hoover Institution Library at Stanford University the Kingsley Davis graduate file at Harvard University the interview of Kingsley Davis by Jean van der Tak in Demographic Destinies 1990 and David Heer's personal relationship with Kingsley Davis The book also contains thirty of the most important writings by Kingsley Davis These were chosen in part for the number of citations received in the Cumulative Social Science Citation Index and in part to ensure that readers would be able to assess the continuity of Kingsley Davis's ideas at all stages of his career BOOK JACKET Legalizing Worker's Right to Work and to Share of Available Employment United States.
