The Drinker of Horizons Mia Couto, 2023-03-14 Longlisted for the 2024 Dublin Literary Award The scintillating conclusion to the critically acclaimed historical saga the Jan Michalski Prize-winning Sands of the Emperor trilogy Couto's life has been woven into the history of the nation and he has become the foremost chronicler of Mozambique's antiheroes its women its peasants even its dead Jacob Judah The New York Times In The Drinker of Horizons the award-winning author Mia Couto brings the epic love story between a young Mozambican woman named Imani and the Portuguese sergeant Germano de Melo to its moving close We resume where The Sword and the Spear concluded While Germano is left behind in Africa serving with the Portuguese military Imani has been enlisted to act as the interpreter to the imprisoned emperor of Gaza Ngungunyane on the long voyage to Lisbon For the emperor and his seven wives it will be a journey of no return Imani's own return will come only after a decade long odyssey through the Portuguese empire at the beginning of the twentieth century If history is always narrated by the victors in The Drinker of Horizons Couto performs an act of restorative justice giving a voice to those silenced by the horrors of colonialism Throughout Couto's language astonishes rendering with utter clarity the beauty and terror of war and love and revealing the devastation of a profoundly unequal encounter between cultures Portuguese

Decolonization in the Indian Ocean World Pamila Gupta, 2018-10-18 Pamila Gupta takes a unique approach to examining decolonization processes across Lusophone India and Southern Africa focusing on Goa Mozambique Angola and South Africa weaving together case studies using five interconnected themes Gupta considers decolonization through the twined lenses of history and ethnography accessed through written oral visual and eyewitness accounts of how people experienced the transfer of state power She looks at the materiality of decolonization as a movement of peoples across vast oceanic spaces demonstrating how it was a process of dispossession for both the Portuguese formerly in power and ordinary colonial citizens and subjects She then discusses the production of race and class anxieties during decolonization which took on a variety of forms but were often articulated through material objects The book aims to move beyond linear histories of colonial independence by connecting its various regions using the theme of decolonization offering a productive and new approach to writing post national histories and ethnographies Finally Gupta demonstrates the value of using different source materials to access narratives of decolonization analyzing the work of Mozambican photographer Ricardo Rangel and including lyrical prose and ethnographical observations Portuguese Decolonization in the Indian Ocean World provides a nuanced understanding of Lusophone decolonization revealing the perspectives of people who experienced it This book will be highly valuable for historians of the Indian Ocean world and decolonization but also those interested in ethnography diaspora studies and material culture Indigenous Creatures, Native Knowledges, and the Arts Wendy Woodward, Susan

McHugh, 2017-10-17 This volume illuminates how creative representations remain sites of ongoing struggles to engage with animals in indigenous epistemologies Traditionally imagined in relation to spiritual realms and the occult animals have always been more than primitive symbols of human relations Whether as animist gods familiars conduits to ancestors totems talismans or co creators of multispecies cosmologies animals act as vital players in the lives of cultures From early days in colonial contact zones through contemporary expressions in art film and literature the volume's unique emphasis on Southern Africa and North America historical loci of the greatest ranges of species and linguistic diversity help to situate how indigenous knowledges of human animal relations are being adapted to modern conditions of life shared across species lines

Contemporary World Fiction Juris Dilevko, Keren Dali, Glenda Garbutt, 2011-03-17 This much needed guide to translated literature offers readers the opportunity to hear from learn about and perhaps better understand our shrinking world from the perspective of insiders from many cultures and traditions In a globalized world knowledge about non North American societies and cultures is a must Contemporary World Fiction A Guide to Literature in Translation provides an overview of the tremendous range and scope of translated world fiction available in English. In so doing it will help readers get a sense of the vast world beyond North America that is conveyed by fiction titles from dozens of countries and language traditions. Within the guide approximately 1 000 contemporary non English language fiction titles are fully annotated and thousands of others are listed. Organization is primarily by language as language often reflects cultural cohesion better than national borders or geographies but also by country and culture. In addition to contemporary titles each chapter features a brief overview of earlier translated fiction from the group. The guide also provides in depth bibliographic essays for each chapter that will enable librarians and library users to further explore the literature of numerous languages and cultural traditions.

The Novel and Europe Andrew Hammond, 2016-10-05 This book examines the ways in which fiction has addressed the continent since the Second World War. Drawing on novelists from Europe and elsewhere the volume analyzes the literary response to seven dominant concerns: ideas of Europe, conflict, borders, empire, unification, migration and marginalization, offering a ground breaking study of how modern and contemporary writers have participated in the European debate. The sixteen essays view the chosen writers not as representatives of national literatures but as participants in transcontinental discussion that has occurred across borders, cultures and languages. In doing so the contributors raise questions about the forms of power operating across and radiating from Europe, challenging both the institutionalized divisions of the Cold War and the triumphalist narrative of continental unity currently being written in Brussels.

Postcolonial Literature and Challenges for the New Millennium Lucienne Loh, Malcolm Sen, 2017-10-02 This volume brings together an international range of postcolonial scholars to explore four distinct themes which are inherently interconnected within the globalised landscape of the early 21st century: China, Islamic fundamentalism, civil war and environmentalism. Through close reading a range of literary texts by writers drawn from across the globe these essays seek to emphasise the importance of literary aesthetics in situating the theoretical underpinnings and political motivations of postcolonial studies in the new millennium. Colonial legacies, especially in terms of structuring exploitative capitalist relations between countries and regions, are shown to persist in postcolonial nations in the form of global civil wars and systemic environmental waste. Chinese authoritarianism and the Indian picturesque represent less familiar forms of neo colonialism. These essays not only engage with established writers such as Salman Rushdie and Anita Desai, they also critically reflect on work by Nadeem Aslam, Mia Couto, Romesh Gunsekara, Bei Dao and Ma Jian. This book was originally published as a special issue of Textual Practice.

The Cartographer of Absences Mia Couto, 2025-09-30 A haunting novel about a father and son in the waning days of colonial Mozambique by the winner of the 2025 PEN Nabokov Award. Diogo Santiago is a celebrated Mozambican poet and intellectual, a well known professor at the university in his country's capital. In 2019, on the eve of a cyclone that will devastate the East African coast, he returns to his hometown of Beira to receive a tribute from his fellow citizens. As he travels across Mozambique, his mind returns to the past, to his own upbringing and to the history of his country when it was still a Portuguese colony Diogo's father himself a poet and a journalist observed a terrible massacre committed during the waning days of the Estado Novo and was persecuted by the PIDE the Portuguese secret police Diogo's reflections on his father's life are interspersed with found documents letters stories entries in the journal kept by the PIDE agent who oversaw the case As Cyclone Idai approaches Beira threatening to wipe away the physical traces of the world in which he grew up Diogo is forced to confront the impermanence of his own memories too A haunting novel of historical witness The Cartographer of Absences is one of Mia Couto's finest works Drawing on the author's own life in colonial Mozambique this book is a significant new entry in the world literature canon
