Whether all human languages are fundamentally the same or different has been a subject of debate for ages This problem has deep philosophical implications If languages are all the same it implies a fundamental commonality and thus the mutual intelligibility of human thought We are now on the verge of answering this question Using a twenty year old theory proposed by the world's greatest living linguist Noam Chomsky researchers have found that the similarities among languages are more profound than the differences Languages whose grammars seem completely incompatible may in fact be structurally almost identical except for a difference in one simple rule The discovery of these rules and how they may vary promises to yield a linguistic equivalent of the Periodic Table of the Elements a single framework by which we can understand the fundamental structure of all human language This is a landmark breakthrough both within linguistics which will thereby become a full fledged science for the first time and in our understanding of the human mind Racing Translingualism in

Composition Tom Do, Karen Rowan, 2022-09-15 Racing Translingualism provides both theoretical and pedagogical reconsiderations of the translingual approach to language diversity by addressing the intersections of race and translingualism This collection extends the disciplinary conversations about translingualism by foregrounding the role race and racism play in the construction and maintenance of language differences In doing so the contributors examine the co naturalization of race and language in order to theorize a race conscious translingual praxis The book begins by offering generative critiques of translingualism centering on the ways in which the approach's democratic orientation to language avoids issues of race language and power and appeals to colorblind racist tropes of equal opportunity Following these critiques contributors demonstrate the important intersections of race and translingualism by drawing upon voices typically marginalized by monolingual language ideologies and pedagogies Finally Racing Translingualism concludes by attending to the pedagogical implications of a race conscious translingual praxis in writing and literacy education Making the case for race conscious rather than colorblind theories and pedagogies Racing Translingualism offers a unique take on how translingualism is theorized and practiced and moves the field forward through its direct consideration of the links between language race and racism Contributors Lindsey Albracht Steven Alvarez Bethany Davila Tom Do Jaclyn Hilberg Bruce Horner Aja Martinez Esther Milu Stephanie Mosher Yasmine Romero Karen Rowan Rachael Shapiro Shawanda Stewart Brian Stone Victor Villanueva Missy Watson
