Handbook of Multicultural Perspectives on Stress and Coping Paul T. P. Wong, Lilian C. J. Wong, 2007-02-15 Has the developing world developed modern concepts of stress? Are coping methods the same around the globe? Such questions are not simple to answer and until recently few knew to ask them. In recent years Western psychologists have recognized that their prevailing views of psychology do not always translate worldwide and that no culture has a monopoly on either stress or coping. The Handbook of Multicultural Perspectives on Stress and Coping was created to address this realization. This unique volume moves beyond simple comparisons of behaviors in other countries by clarifying critical concepts in stress and coping, analyzing and synthesizing vast amounts of global data and identifying constructs and methodologies necessary for meaningful cross-cultural research. An international multiethnic panel of forty-five contributors presents elegant studies of stress, survival, and resilience as cultures evolve and countries interact, including personal transformation as a coping strategy, psychological skills that enhance intercultural adjustment, individual versus collectivist values in coping, Buddhist and Taoist traditions in coping, the cumulative effects of historical environmental and political stressors on nations in the Middle East, specific cross-cultural perspectives from Latino American families to Canadian aboriginal peoples to minority university students. The editors have assembled a vital store of knowledge raising crucial implications for clinicians working with immigrant international populations and evaluating the current state of theory, research, and assessment. The Handbook documents major steps toward scientific advancement and human understanding.

Multicultural Perspectives in Working with Families Elaine P. Congress, Manny J. González, 2005-04-15 In second edition, social work and mental health students and practitioners across the full spectrum of social service settings gain essential knowledge into cutting-edge issues in the assessment and treatment of families from diverse cultural backgrounds. Fully revised with a full third of the book completely rewritten and each chapter significantly updated, the editors bring together the latest in multicultural family research and new and improved macro and micro ways of understanding and respecting the needs of new immigrants and diverse populations. Included is an important revision of Dr. Congress's essential assessment technique, the culturagram. New and updated chapters provide evidence-based and specialized perspectives including handling post-9/11 complications for immigrants and refugees, culturally sensitive treatment ideas for Arab American families, working from an Afrocentric perspective, understanding the needs of the new Russian, Asian, and Hispanic immigrants, helping diverse HIV-affected families, impact of ethnicity on incest treatments, suicide attempts with adolescents, importance of spirituality.
