A History of the Mediterranean Air War, 1940-1945 Christopher Shores, Giovanni Massimello, Russell Guest, Frank Olynky, Winfried Bock, Andy Thomas, 2018-11-05 This fourth volume in the comprehensive series fills a gap in the existing narrative of WWII's Mediterranean air war Journal of Military History The fourth volume in this momentous series commences with the attacks on the Italian island fortress of Pantellaria which led to its surrender and occupation achieved almost by air attack alone The account continues with the ultimately successful but at times very hard fought invasions of Sicily and southern Italy as burgeoning Allied air power now with full US involvement increasingly dominated the skies overhead The successive occupations of Sardinia and Corsica are also covered in detail This is essentially the story of the tactical air forces up to the point when Rome was occupied just at the same time as the Normandy landings were occurring in northwest France With regards to the long range tactical role of the Allied heavy bombers only the period from May to October is examined while they remained based in North Africa with the narrative continuing in a future volume This volume also delves into the story of the soldiers air force Frequently overshadowed by more immediate newsworthy events elsewhere the soldiers struggle was often of an equally Homeric nature No future publication on the Mediterranean air war will be credible without use of this series Air Power History

A History of the Mediterranean Air War, 1940-1945, Volume 2 Christopher Shores, Giovanni Massimello, Russell Guest, Frank Olynyk, Winfried Bock, 2014-07-19. This second volume in the seminal series on aerial combat pilots and tactics in Libya and Egypt in the middle of World War II. In volume two of this series, historian Christopher Shores begins by exploring the 8th Army's movements after Operation Crusader when they were forced back to the Gazala area in northeastern Libya as well as their defeat in June 1942, the loss of Tobruk, and the efforts of Allied air forces to protect their retreating troops. Shores continues with the heavy fighting that followed in the El Alamein region. This features the Western Desert Air Force and the arrival of the first Spitfires. The buildup of both army and air forces and the addition of new commanders on the ground aided the defeat of Rommel's Deutsche Afrika Korps at Alam el Halfa, after which came the Second Battle of El Alamein. With the arrival of the United States Army Air Force, the Allied air forces gained dominance over the Axis. Shores recounts the lengthy pursuit of the Italo-German forces right across Libya, including the capture of Tripoli and the breakthrough into Southern Tunisia. This allowed a linkup with other Allied forces in Tunisia, whose story appears in Volume 3. Included with the action are stories of some of the great fighter aces of the Desert campaign, such as Jochen Marseille and Otto Schulz of the Luftwaffe, Franco Bordini, Bisleri of the Regia Aeronautica, and Neville Duke, Billy Drake, and Eddie Edwards of the Commonwealth air forces. Finally, Shores touches on the Allied and Axis night bombing offensives and the activities of the squadrons cooperating with the naval forces in the Mediterranean.

In the chaos of battle, it was vital that they could quickly identify friend from foe. But do you know your Hurricane from your Bf 109, or what the legendary P-51 Mustang looks like? Do you know the wingspan of the A6M Zero, or how fast it could fly? World War II Fighter Planes Spotter's Guide answers all of these questions and more, providing essential information on over 90 legendary aircraft, from the celebrated Spitfire to the jet-powered Me 262. A History of the Mediterranean Air War, 1940-1945, Volume 5 Christopher Shores, Giovanni Massimello, Russell Guest, Frank Olynyk, Winfried Bock, Andrew Thomas, 2021-12-03. This international collaboration between air war historians is simply fantastic, a deep dive on the operations in a vast and very important theater of war. Air Classics: During the final year of World War II, the defending Axis forces were steadily driven from southern skies by burgeoning Anglo-American power. This was despite the steady withdrawal of units to more demanding areas. This fifth volume of the series describes in detail the activities of the Allied tactical air forces in support of the armies on the ground as their opponents were steadily extracted from northern Italy and the Balkans for the final defense of the central European homeland The book commences with coverage of the final fierce air sea battles over the Aegean that preceded the advance northward to Rome and the ill conceived British attempt to secure the Dodecanese islands following the armistice with Italy The authors also deal fully and comprehensively with the advance northward following the occupation of Rome and the departure of forces to support the invasion of France from the Riviera coast coupled with the formation of a new Balkan Air Force in eastern Italy to pursue the German armies withdrawing from Yugoslavia and take possession of newly freed Greece The effect of the creation within the same area of the US and RAF strategic forces to join the Allied Combined Bombing Offensive is also discussed Includes photographs Reflects the scope of a remarkable research effort and provides valuable detail that the reader is not going to find between two covers elsewhere

The NYMAS Review Spitfire's Forgotten Designer Mike Roussel,2013-03-01 The Supermarine Spitfire was a classic design well known for its efforts in defending British shores during the Second World War However while Reginald Mitchell is rightly celebrated for his original design of the Spitfire the role of Joe Smith in the development of the Spitfire is often overlooked Smith was an integral member of the design team from the earliest days and on Mitchell's death in 1937 he was appointed design office manager before becoming chief designer Smith's dedicated leadership in the development of the Spitfire during the war as well as his efforts on post war jet aircraft deserve their place in history Charting the fascinating history of Supermarine from 1913 to 1958 when the company ceased its operations in Southampton shortly after Joe Smith's death in 1956 this book tells its story through the eyes of apprentices and many other members of Smith's team Marvellous photographs add to the sense of what it was like to work under Joe Smith at the drawing boards of one of Britain's most famous wartime aviation manufacturers
