Spoiled Climate:

Spoiled Climate Andreas Ruby, 2004 Architectural projects which expose the hidden contradictions of our everyday reality in a lively yet challenging way Franois Roche born in 1961 in Paris and his partner Stephanie Lavaux born in 1966 on the Reunion Island are radical advocates of an architecture which is to be perceived as a tool for increasing critical awareness as a discipline which provokes thought and inspires the imagination Their buildings and projects which include the new art museum in Bangkok and the Glacier Museum in Switzerland both of which would have been unthinkable without the latest IT methods of design strive towards designs which are unique and unmistakeable in both function and appearance Franois Roche is guest professor at the London Bartlett School and the Technical University of Vienna and has made a name for himself internationally as a pioneer of a new architecture through his lecture activities and his participation in many exhibitions This monograph is the first complete overview of his work and will be published to coincide with the exhibition No Standard Architecture which opens in November at the Centre Pompidou in Paris where R Sie architects are one of the 12 invited architectural firms Vadophil Baroda Philatelic Society, House documents, 1878

Environmental Change and the World's Futures Jonathan Paul Marshall, Linda H. Connor, 2015-08-27 Climate change and ecological instability have the potential to disrupt human societies and their futures Cultural social and ethical life in all societies is directed towards a future that can never be observed and never be directly acted upon and yet is always interacting with us Thinking and acting towards the future involves efforts of imagination that are linked to our sense of being in the world and the ecological pressures we experience The three key ideas of this book ecologies ontologies and mythologies help us understand the ways people in many different societies attempt to predict and shape their futures Each chapter places a different emphasis on the linked domains of environmental change embodied experience myth and fantasy politics technology and intellectual reflection in relation to imagined futures The diverse geographic scope of the chapters includes rural Nepal the islands of the Pacific Ocean Sweden coastal Scotland North America and remote rural and urban Australia This book will appeal to researchers and students in anthropology sociology environmental studies cultural studies psychology and politics

Climate and Health in Hot Countries and the Outlines of Tropical Climatology George Michael James Giles, 2019-12-16 In Climate and Health in Hot Countries and the Outlines of Tropical Climatology George Michael James Giles meticulously examines the intricate interplay between climatic conditions and health outcomes in tropical regions Through a blend of empirical research and anecdotal evidence Giles employs a clear and concise prose style that reflects both his scientific rigor and his deep engagement with the realities of life in hot climates The text is enriched with detailed illustrations and graphs offering insights into how climatic factors influence both physical and mental health while situating its arguments within the broader discourse of tropical climatology which was gaining traction during the late 19th and early 20th centuries Giles himself was a physician and researcher deeply invested in the understanding of tropical environments shaped by his extensive travels in regions markedly affected by climate variations His experiences navigating the health crises spurred by climatic shifts likely catalyzed his desire to illuminate these pressing issues Giles effectively uses the book as a platform to advocate for public health measures while addressing environmental realities and their implications for affected populations For scholars health professionals and informed readers alike Climate and Health in Hot Countries and the Outlines of Tropical Climatology provides vital insights that are not only historically significant but also resonant with today's climate challenges Giles work remains a critical resource in understanding how environmental factors starkly influence health and wellness in the tropics offering a compelling call for interdisciplinary approaches to climate and public health

Deep Skin Architecture Timo Carl, 2019-04-25 Timo Carl presents alternatives to curtain wall facades and other flat boundaries creating autonomous spaces He investigates facade typologies with multiple material layers to strategize the relationship between buildings and their environment By revisiting Le Corbusier's seminal brise soleil an alternative reading of the modern project emerges one that is not based on classical compositional rules but instead on the dynamic relationships with environmental forces Finally an exciting series of project based investigations sets out innovative ways in which novel deep skins combine energy conscious performance with the poetics of architecture
