Submarine Telegraphy The Grand Victorian Technology:

Submarine Telegraphy Bernard S. Finn, 1973 A Victorian Scientist and Engineer Gillian Cookson, Colin Hempstead, 2017-10-19 This title was first published in 2000 In a life of only 52 years Fleeming Jenkin established his reputation as a pioneer in the new world of electrical engineering known for his work on undersea telegraphs and later on the electrical transportation system known as telpherage Equally at ease in the realms of theory and practice from 1850 until his death in 1885 Jenkin engaged in every field of Victorian engineering As a young adult he worked on intercontinental submarine telegraphy the cutting edge technology of its day which was inextricably bound to the new science of electricity Jenkin was both a scientist and an engineer a prototype of the modern experimental research engineer He was also a distinguished academic professor of engineering in the University of Edinburgh admired as an inspired and innovative teacher and for his interest in the philosophical tenets underpinning his subject Yet in spite of his influence as an early electrical engineer and his other intellectual achievements despite the celebrity of his associates Robert Louis Stevenson Mrs Gaskell and leading engineers of the day were among his close friends and the way that submarine telegraphs seized the Victorian popular imagination Jenkin himself has remained an obscure figure He deserves to be better known The story of Jenkin is of a life lived to the full It illuminates many aspects of Victorian intellectual society and of the organisation of science and engineering in his time The central purpose of this biography is to show Jenkin's achievements in engineering and in other fields and to judge his significance in these diverse activities The Golden Age Ian Inkster, 2017 The Tentacles of Progress Daniel R. Headrick, 1988-03-10 This penetrating examination of a paradox of colonial rule shows how the massive transfers of technology including equipment techniques and experts from the European imperial powers to their colonies in Asia and Africa resulted not in industrialization but in underdevelopment Examining the most important technologies shipping and railways telegraphs and wireless urban water supply and sewage disposal economic botany and plantation agriculture irrigation and mining and metallurgy Headrick provides a new perspective on colonial economic history and reopens the debate on the roots of Asian and African underdevelopment Neptune's Laboratory Antony Adler, 2019-11-19 We have long been fascinated with the oceans and sought to pierce the profundity of their depths But the history of marine science also tells us a lot about ourselves Antony Adler explores the ways in which scientists politicians and the public have invoked ocean environments in imagining the fate of humanity and of the planet Victorian Britain (Routledge Revivals) Sally Mitchell, 2012-08-06 First published in 1988 this encyclopedia serves as an overview and point of entry to the complex interdisciplinary field of Victorian studies The signed articles which cover persons events institutions topics groups and artefacts in Great Britain between 1837 and 1901 have been written by authorities in the field and contain bibliographies to provide guidelines for further research The work is intended for undergraduates and the general reader and also as a starting point for graduates who wish to explore new fields The Triumph of Human Empire Rosalind

Williams,2022-12-22 In the early 1600s in a haunting tale titled New Atlantis Sir Francis Bacon imagined the discovery of an uncharted island This island was home to the descendants of the lost realm of Atlantis who had organized themselves to seek the knowledge of Causes and secret motions of things and the enlarging of the bounds of Human Empire to the effecting of all things possible Bacon s make believe island was not an empire in the usual sense marked by territorial control instead it was the center of a vast general expansion of human knowledge and power Rosalind Williams uses Bacon s island as a jumping off point to explore the overarching historical event of our time the rise and triumph of human empire the apotheosis of the modern ambition to increase knowledge and power in order to achieve world domination Confronting an intensely humanized world was a singular event of consciousness which Williams explores through the lives and works of three writers of the late nineteenth century Jules Verne William Morris and Robert Louis Stevenson As the century drew to a close these writers were unhappy with the direction in which their world seemed to be headed and worried that organized humanity would use knowledge and power for unworthy ends In response Williams shows each engaged in a lifelong quest to make a home in the midst of human empire to transcend it and most of all to understand it They accomplished this first by taking to the water in life and in art the transition from land to water offered them release from the condition of human domination At the same time each writer transformed his world by exploring the literary boundary between realism and romance Williams shows how Verne Morris and Stevenson experimented with romance and fantasy and how these traditions allowed them to express their growing awareness of the need for a new relationship between humans and Earth The Triumph of Human Empire shows that for these writers and their readers romance was an exceptionally powerful way of grappling with the political technical and environmental situations of modernity As environmental consciousness rises in our time along with evidence that our seeming control over nature is pathological and unpredictable Williams s history is one that speaks very much to the present

The Mysterious Science of the Sea, 1775-1943 Natascha Adamowsky,2015-10-06 The depths of the oceans are the last example of terra incognita on earth Adamowsky presents a study of the sea arguing that contrary to popular belief post Enlightenment discourse on the sea was still subject to mystery and wonder and not wholly rationalized by science

Power Struggles Michael B. Schiffer,2008 Laying the foundation for Thomas Edison the first electric generators were built in the 1830s the earliest commercial lighting systems before 1860 and the first commercial application of generator powered light in the early 1860s This book examines some of these early applications of electricity

Victorian Britain Sally Mitchell,2011 First published in 1988 this encyclopedia serves as an overview and point of entry to the complex interdisciplinary field of Victorian studies The signed articles which cover persons events institutions topics groups and artefacts in Great Britain between 1837 and 1901 have been written by authorities in the field and contain bibliographies to provide guidelines for further research The work is intended for undergraduates and the general reader and also as a starting point for graduates who wish to explore new fields
