Environmental Politics and Policy in the West, Revised Edition Zachary A. Smith, John Freemuth, 2007-08-30 Population growth and industrial development have put the wide open spaces and natural resources that define the West under immense stress Vested interests clash and come to terms over embattled resources such as water minerals and even open space The federal government controls 40 to 80 percent of the land base in many western states its sway over the futures of the West s communities and environment has prompted the development of unique policies and politics in the West Zachary A Smith and John Freemuth bring together a roster of top scholars to explicate the issues noted above as well as other key questions in this new edition of Environmental Politics and Policy in the West which was first published in 1993 This thoroughly revised and updated edition offers a comprehensive and current survey Contributors address the policy process as it affects western states how bureaucracy and politics shape environmental dialogues in the West how western states innovate environmental policies independently of Washington and how and when science is involved or ignored in management of the West s federal lands Experts in individual resource areas explore multifaceted issues such as the politics of dam removal and restoration wildlife resource concerns suburban sprawl and smart growth the management of hard rock mining and the allocation of the West s tightly limited water resources Contributors include Leslie R Alm Carolyn D Baber Walter F Baber Robert V Bartlett Hugh Bartling Matthew A Cahn R McGreggor Cawley Charles Davis Sandra Davis John C Freemuth Sheldon Kamieniecki Matt Lindstrom William R Mangun Denise McCain Tharnstrom Daniel McCool Jaina L Moan and Zachary A Smith The Routledge Handbook of Henri Lefebvre, The City and Urban Society Michael E. Leary-Owhin, John P. McCarthy, 2019-11-21 The Routledge Handbook of Henri Lefebvre The City and Urban Society is the first edited book to focus on Lefebvre s urban theories and ideas from a global perspective making use of recent theoretical and empirical developments with contributions from eminent as well as emergent global scholars The book provides international comparison of Lefebvrian research and theoretical conjecture and aims to engage with and critique Lefebvre s ideas in the context of contemporary urban social and environmental upheavals to use Lefebvre s spatial triad as a research tool as well as a point of departure for the adoption of ideas such as differential space to reassess Lefebvre s ideas in relation to nature and global environmental sustainability and to highlight how a Lefebvrian approach might assist in mobilising resistance to the excesses of globalised neoliberal urbanism The volume draws inspiration from Lefebvre s key texts The Production of Space Critique of Everyday Life and The Urban Revolution and includes a comprehensive introduction and concluding chapter by the editors The conclusions highlight implications in relation to increasing spatial inequalities increasing diversity of needs including those of migrants more authoritarian approaches and asymmetries of access to urban space Above all the book illustrates the continuing relevance of Levebvre s ideas for contemporary urban issues and shows via global case studies how resistance to spatial domination by powerful interests might be achieved The Handbook helps the reader navigate the complex terrain of spatial research inspired by Lefebvre In particular the Handbook focuses on the series of struggles globally for the right to the city and the collision of debates around the urban age cityism and planetary urbanisation It will be a guide for graduate and advanced undergraduate teaching and a key reference for academics in the fields of Human Geography Sociology Political Science Applied Philosophy Planning Urban Theory and Urban Studies Practitioners and activists in the field will also find the book of relevance

Ecological Entanglements in the Anthropocene Nicholas Holm,Sy Taffel,2016-12-21 This edited collection explores the relationships between humans and nature at a time when the traditional sense of separation between human cultures and a natural wilderness is being eroded The Anthropocene whose literal translation is the Age of Man is one way of marking these planetary changes to the Earth system Global climate change and rising sea levels are two prominent examples of how nature can no longer be simply thought of as something outside and removed from humans and vice versa This collection applies the concepts of ecology and entanglement to address pressing political social and cultural issues surrounding human relationships with the nonhuman world in terms of working with nature It asks are there more or less preferable ways of working with nature What forms and practices might this work take and how do we distinguish between them Is the idea of nature even sufficient to approach such questions or do we need to reconsider using the term nature in favour of terms such as environments ecologies or the broad notion of the non human world How might we forge perspectives and enact practices which build resilience and community across species and spaces constructing relationships with nonhumans which go beyond discourses of pollution degradation and destruction Bringing together a range of contributors from across multiple academic disciplines activists and artists this book examines how these questions might help us understand and assess the different ways in which humans transform engage and interact with the nonhuman world

A Comparative Political Ecology of Exurbia Laura E. Taylor,Patrick T. Hurley,2016-05-26 This book is about politics and planning outside of cities where urban political economy and planning theories do not account for the resilience of places that are no longer rural and where local communities work hard to keep from ever becoming urban By examining exurbia as a type of place that is no longer simply rural or only tied to the economies of global resources e g mining forestry and agriculture we explore how changing landscapes are planned and designed not to be urban that is to look function and feel different from cities and suburbs in spite of new home development and real estate speculation The book s authors contend that exurbia is defined by the persistence of rural economies the conservation of rural character and protection of natural ecological systems all of which are critical components of the contentious local politics that seek to limit growth Comparative political ecology is used as an organizing concept throughout the book to describe the nature of exurban areas in the U S and Australia although exurbs are common to many countries The essays each describe distinctive case studies with each chapter using the key concepts of competing rural capitalisms and uneven environmental management to describe the politics of exurban change This systematic analysis makes the processes of exurban change easier to see and understand Based on these case studies seven characteristics of exurban places are identified rural character access local economic change ideologies of nature changes in land management coalition building and land use planning This book will be of interest to those who study planning conservation and land development issues especially in areas of high natural amenity or environmental value There is no political ecology book quite like this neither one solely focused on cases from the developed world in this case the United States and Australia nor one that specifically harnesses different case studies from multiple areas to develop a central organizing perspective of landscape change

Gated Communities Rowland Atkinson, Sarah Blandy, 2013-09-13 This informative volume gathers contemporary accounts of the growth influences on and impacts of so called gated communities developments with walls gates guards and other forms of surveillance While gated communities have become a common feature of the urban landscape in South Africa Latin and North America it is also clear that there is now significant interest in gated living in the European and East Asian urban context The chapters in this book investigate issues and communities such as gated communities in the metropolitan area of Buenos Aires Argentina planning responses to gated communities in Canada who segregates whom The analysis of a gated community in Mendoza Argentina sprawl and social segregation in southern California These illustrative chapters enable the reader to understand more about the social and economic forces that have lead to gating the ways in which gated communities are managed and their wider effects on both residents and those living outside the gates This book was previously published as a special issue of the journal Housing Studies

The Planner's Guide to Natural Resource Conservation: Adrian X. Esparza, Guy McPherson, 2009-06-12 Much of the country s recent population growth is situated in exurban areas By many accounts exurbanization has become the dominant pattern of land development in the country and there is no indication it will slow in the foreseeable future Theobald 2005 Brown et al 2005 Glennon and Kretser 2005 By definition exurban development takes place beyond the metropolitan fringe often in rural and remote areas The development of new exurban communities is a growing trend especially in the West In this case developers and homebuilders seek large tracts of land up to thousands of acres in rural areas typically within 50 miles of a large city where they plan entire communities consisting of commercial retail and residential land uses Recreational amenities such as golf courses and hiking biking trails are often included in these master planned developments Our philosophy is reflected in the book s two objectives First we seek to document the extent and impacts of exurban development across the country At issue is demonstrating why planners and the public at large should be concerned about exurbanization We will demonstrate that even though exurbanization favors amenity rich regions it affects all areas of the country through the loss of agricultural and grazing lands impacts to watersheds and land modification A summary of environmental impacts is presented including the loss of wildlands and agricultural productivity land modification soil erosion impacts to terrestrial hydrologic systems the loss of biodiversity nonnative and endangered species and other topics Our second aim is to provide readers from diverse nonscientific backgrounds with a working knowledge of how and why exurbanization impacts environmental systems This is accomplished by working closely to ensure contributors follow a specific outline for each chapter First contributors will spell out fundamental concepts principles and processes that apply to their area of expertise e g riparian areas Contributors will move beyond a cursory understanding of ecological processes without overwhelming readers with the dense material found typically in specialized texts For this reason visuals and other support materials will be integral to each chapter We have chosen contributors carefully based on their record as research scientists and acumen as educators Second once the mechanics have been laid out authors will explain how and why land development in nearby areas influences ecosystems Issues of interdependency modification and adaptation spatial scale and varying time horizons will be featured Third contributors will weigh in on the pros and cons of various land development schemes Fourth authors will share their thinking on the merits of conservation devices such as wildlife corridors open space requirements and watershed management districts Finally each chapter will conclude by identifying pitfalls to avoid and highlighting best practices that will mitigate environmental problems or avoid them altogether In sum after completing each chapter readers should have a firm grasp of relevant concepts and processes an understanding of current research and know how to apply science to land use decisions

Between Dream Houses and "God's Own Junkyard": Architecture and the Built Environment in American Suburban Fiction Stefanie Strebel, 2021-06-28 The American suburb is a space dominated by architectural mass production sprawl as well as a monotonous aesthetic eclecticism and many critics argue that it has developed from a postwar utopia into a disorienting environment with which it is difficult to identify The typical suburb has come to display characteristics of an atopia that is a space without borders or even a non place a generic space of transience Dealing with the representation of architecture and the built environment in suburban literature and film from the 1920s until present this study demonstrates that in its fictional representations too suburbia has largely turned into a place of non architecture A lack of architectural ethos and an abundance of Junkspace define suburban narratives causing an increasing sense of disorientation and entropy in fictional characters

The Working Landscape Peter F. Cannavo, 2007-06-22 In America today we see rampant development unsustainable resource exploitation and commodification ruin both natural and built landscapes disconnecting us from our surroundings and threatening our fundamental sense of place Meanwhile preservationists often respond with a counterproductive stance that rejects virtually any change in the landscape In The Working Landscape Peter Cannav identifies this zero sum conflict between development and preservation as a major factor behind our contemporary crisis of place Cannav offers practical and theoretical alternatives to this deadlocked polarized politics of place by proposing an approach that embraces both change and stability and unifies democratic and ecological values creating a working landscape Place Cannav argues is not just an object but an essential human practice that involves the physical and conceptual organization of our surroundings into a coherent enduring landscape This practice must balance development which he calls founding and preservation Three case studies illustrate the polarizing development preservation conflict the debate over the logging of old growth forests in the Pacific Northwest the problem of urban sprawl and the redevelopment of the former site of the World Trade Center in New York City Cannav suggests that regional democratic governance is the best framework for integrating development and preservation and he presents specific policy recommendations that aim to create a working landscape in rural suburban and urban areas A postscript on the mass exile displacement and homelessness caused by Hurricane Katrina considers the implications of future climate change for the practice of place

Urban Politics Bernard H. Ross, Myron A. Levine, 2011-08-10 This popular text mixes the best classic theory and research on urban politics with the most recent developments in urban and metropolitan affairs Its very balanced and realistic approach helps students to understand the nature of urban politics and the difficulty of finding effective solutions in a suburban and global age The eighth edition provides a comprehensive review and analysis of urban policy under the Obama administration and brand new coverage of sustainable urban development A new chapter on globalization and its impact on cities brings the history of urban development up to date and a focus on the politics of local economic development underscores how questions of economic development have come to dominate the local arena The book traces the changing style of community participation including the emergence of CDCs BIDs and other new style service organizations It analyzes the impacts of the New Regionalism the New Urbanism and much more at an approachable level The eighth edition is significantly shorter and more affordable than previous editions and the entire text has been thoroughly rewritten to engage students Boxed case studies of prominent recent and current urban development efforts provide material for class discussion and concluding material demonstrates the tradeoff between more ideal and more pragmatic urban politics Source material provides Internet addresses for further research
