Leaving the House of Ghosts Sarah Streed, 2010-06-28 On April 17 1975 after five years of civil war the Khmer Rouge guerrillas invaded Cambodia s major cities and forced the residents on a mass exodus to the countryside Their leader Pol Pot established a government based on terror to bring about his dream of an agrarian society where work was done by hand without what he believed to be corruptive influences By the time the Vietnamese captured Phnom Penh and ended this brutal experiment in communism in 1979 an estimated two million Cambodians were dead and hundreds of thousands had begun to flee the country for refugee camps in Thailand Survivors of Pol Pot and his Khmer

Pol Pot Philip Short,2007-04-01 A gripping and definitive portrait of the man who headed one of the most enigmatic and terrifying regimes of modern times In the three and a half years of Pol Pot's rule more than a million Cambodians a fifth of the country's population were executed or died from hunger An idealistic and reclusive figure Pol Pot sought to instill in his people values of moral purity and self abnegation through a revolution of radical egalitarianism In the process his country descended into madness becoming a concentration camp of the mind a slave state in which obedience was enforced on the killing fields How did a utopian dream of shared prosperity mutate into one of the worst nightmares humanity has ever known To understand this almost inconceivable mystery Philip Short explores Pol Pot's life from his early years to his death Short spent four years traveling throughout Cambodia interviewing the surviving leaders of the Khmer Rouge movement many of whom have never spoken before including Pol Pot's brother in law and the former Khmer Rouge head of state He also sifted through the previously closed archives of China Russia Vietnam and Cambodia itself to trace the fate of one man and the nation that he led into ruin This powerful biography reveals that Pol Pot and the Khmer Rouge were not a one off aberration but instead grew out of a darkness of the soul common to all peoples Cambodian history and culture combined with intervention from the United States and other nations to set the stage for a disaster whose horrors echo loudly in the troubling events of our world today

Film Review Index Patricia King Hanson, Stephen L. Hanson, 1986 Evoking Genocide Adam Jones, 2009 Evoking Genocide compiles more than sixty short essays written by leading scholars and activists in the field of genocide studies. These authors pay eloquent tribute to the works of art and media that influenced their engagement with genocide and crimes against humanity. The subjects include books and stories, films, songs, drawings, documents, monuments, sculptures, personal testimonies, and even a Lego set. In an accessible and often deeply personal way, contributors explore their own relationships with the works in question. Edited by Adam Jones, recently selected as one of fifty key thinkers in Holocaust and genocide studies, Evoking Genocide makes an important contribution to the study of the art and culture of mass atrocity.

Documenting Socialism Seán Allan, Sebastian Heiduschke, 2024. More than 30 years after the collapse of the German Democratic Republic, its cinema continues to attract scholarly attention. Documenting Socialism moves beyond the traditionally analyzed feature film production and places East Germany's documentary cinema at the center of history behind the Iron Curtain. Covering questions of gender, race, and sexuality and the complexities of diversity under the political and cultural environments of socialism, the specialist contributions in this volume cohere into an introductory milestone on documentary film production in the GDR.

The Films of the Eighties William J. Palmer, 1995. In this remarkable sequel to his Films of the Seventies: A Social History, William J. Palmer examines more than three hundred films as texts that represent, revise, parody, comment upon, and generate discussion about major events, issues, and social trends of the eighties. Palmer defines the dialectic between film art and social history, taking as his theoretical model the holograph of history that originated from the New Historicist theories of Hayden White and Dominick LaCapra. Combining the interests and methodologies of social history and film criticism, Palmer contends that film is a socially conscious interpreter and commentator upon the issues of contemporary social history. In the eighties, such issues included the war in Vietnam, the preservation of the American farm, terrorism, nuclear holocaust, changes in Soviet-American relations, neoconservative feminism, and yuppies. Among the films Palmer examines are Platoon, The Killing Fields, The River Out of Africa, Little Drummer Girl, Kiss of the Spiderwoman, Silkwood, The Day After, Red Dawn, Moscow on the Hudson, Troop Beverly Hills, and Fatal Attraction. Utilizing the principles of New Historicism, Palmer demonstrates that film can analyze and critique history as well as present it.
