traditional narratives about gender criminality and victimhood in the popular and criminological imagination Marshaling ten years of research and one of the only interviews that Juana Barraza Samperio has given while in prison Susana Vargas Cervantes deconstructs this uniquely provocative story She focuses in particular on the complex gendered aspects of the case asking Who is a killer Barraza with her manly features and strength her career as a masked wrestler in lucha libre and her violent crimes is presented here as a study in gender deviance a disruption of what scholars call mexicanidad or the masculine notion of what it means to be Mexican Cervantes also challenges our conception of victimhood specifically who counts as a victim The Little Old Lady Killer presents a fascinating analysis of what serial killing often considered killing for the pleasure of killing represents to us

The New True Crime Diana Rickard,2023-09-05 How serialized crime shows became an American obsession TV shows and podcasts like Making a Murderer Serial and Atlanta Monster have taken the cultural zeitgeist by storm and contributed to the release of wrongly imprisoned people such as Adnan Syed The popularity of these long form true crime docuseries has sparked greater attention to issues of inequality power social class and structural racism More and more the American public is asking Who is and is not deserving of punishment and who is and is not protected by the law In The New True Crime Diana Rickard argues that these new true crime series deserve our attention for what they reveal about our societal understanding of crime and punishment and for the new light they shine on the inequalities of the criminal justice system Questioning the finality of verdicts framing facts as in the eye of the beholder these new series unmoor our faith in what is knowable even as Rickard critically notes they often blur the lines between fact and fiction With a focus on some of the most popular true crime podcasts and streaming series of the last decade Rickard provides an in depth analysis of the ways in which this new media which allows for binge listening or watching makes crime into a public spectacle and conveys ideological messages about punishment to its audience Entertainment values have always been entwined with crime news reporting Newsworthy stories Rickard reminds us need to involve sex violence or a famous person and contain events that can be framed in terms of individualism and conservative ideologies about crime Even as these old tropes of innocent victims and deviant bad guys still dominate these docuseries Rickard also unpacks how the new true crime has been influenced by the innocence movement a diverse group of organizers and activists be they journalists lawyers formerly incarcerated people or family members who now have a place in mainstream consciousness as DNA evidence exonerates the wrongly convicted The New True Crime questions the knowability of truth and probes our anxieties about the real nature of true crime media For fans of true crime shows and anyone concerned about justice in America this book will prove to be essential reading
